Sem: 24th., 28.

Don Bowary!

In looking over the list from Weshington of the members of the Laughters of the American Revolution, at large in Texas, I see your name.

I am wondering if you would not like to be in close touch of the work of our wonderful organization. And attend the monthly meetings, and know just what it means to you to be a member of this organization.

Wont you think this over and see if you do not think you would enjoy being in a Chapter; and help us with this grand work. I am sure you will if you just think what it gives to you being a member of the D.A.R.

If there is not a Chapter in your home town, join the nearest one to you, so you can attend the meetings and help with the work. This is the only way you will be able to realize just what a prvilige it is to be a member. as sure if you will go in a Chapter you will show wonder how you have stayed out of the work.

Wont you let me hear from you. And say you would like to be connected with a Chapter before the first of the year. Now is the time to go in a Chapter, as all are just now starting in their years work.

to some chapter, and be working with us.

I am most Sincerely.

Mrs. James T. Rountree, State Regent Texas D.A.R., Paris, Texas.

My dear Mrs. Rountree;

In answer to your letter of Sept.24 to me as a member at large of the N.S.D.A.R., may I thank you for the interest manifested and take advantage of your request for a reply to express to you not only my own sentiments, but those held in common with me by many other members at large in Fort Worth. There are in our city many members at large. A large number of these are included in the group who were forced by intolerable conditions to withdraw from the Ft.Worth Chapter. You are doubtless thoroughly familiar with all the circumstances.

At the time of our withdrawal, we were so disgusted by the knowledge, which was forced upon us, of the corruption existing in State affairs, and so incensed that we should have been made the innocent victims of these corrupt practices, that we felt we wanted to be through forever with all things connected with the organization. But further counsel, in the light of sober reflection, has convinced those of us who are loyal to the aims and ambitions of our Society that we should not stand asside and allow the basic and fundamental purposes and foundations of the organization to be lost sight of in the scramble for place and preferment by those who seek power, position, and personal aggrandizement, rather than the best interests and welfare of the Society.

We desire to keep in touch with the workings of the whole organization, both State and National, and we realize that the only way this can be done is through chapter membership. But a peculiar condition exists in Fort Worth. There are now two chapters, the Mary Isham Keith and the Fort Worth. Paragraph c, Sec. 2, Art. 9, of the National constitution, says that no chapter may be formed in a localitywhere there is already a chapter, unless each existing chapter has reached a membership of fifty. The Mary Isham Keith is far above that limit. Officers of the Fort Worth Chapter have openly boasted that they propose to keep their membership below fifty, in order that no other chapter may be formed. (Which serves also as a good excuse for failure to increase in membership, in case such happens.) Therefore, there seems no present hope of organizing a new chapter in the city of Fort Worth.

Can we not organize a county chapter? There are many women in our small towns and rural districts who are eligible for membership, who, doubtless, could be interested in a chapter, affilis chapter could be called, possibly, the Tarrant County Chapter, and could be organized outside the Ft. Worth city limits.

Copy.

We feel sure that you will give us your approval and support in this plan and hope you will take it up with the proper authorities for us, but, before you refer it to them, we would like to know what you think of it. Of course there will be many details which will have to be worked out and we would like to have all these settled before it is taken to National headquarters. We hope to meet together next week to discuss this matter and would like so much to have your opinion by that time, if possible. If not, may we hope for a reply at your earliest convenience.

Very sincerely yours,

(Mrs.W.P.Bowdry.)

My dear Mrs. Rountree,

Your letter of the 30th came this afternoon, after I had mailed you a copy of my letter of Oct.12th. Not having heard from you, I was afraid that my letter might not have reached you; that you might have been away from home, or that it might have been lost "in transit".

We have not had our meeting; were waiting to hear from you before we started anything. Now we can go ahead. We have planned a meeting for Nov.15th and will try to have our plans in order so we may be able to take definite action then.

willhave to follow? I know the rules and regulations governing such things are constantly being changed and improved, and procedure now may not be the same as when Mrs. Childress was organizing regent. Will you please inform us as to the necessary course of action?

I know you will be very busy next week, with Conference matters, but hope we may hear from you before the 15th. That is one reason we have put off meeting until then.

With best wishes for a happy Conference and a wonderful time, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Mrs. James T.Rountree, State Regent Texas D.A.R., 170 N.27th St., Paris, Texas.

Dear Mrs. Rountree,

Mrs. Beall brought us your message from Galveston and we had our meeting of members at large this afternoon. At this meeting, it was unanimously agreed that we would like to have for Organizing Regent for our prospective new chapter, Mrs. W.V.Galbreath. As we want the new chapter to be a county chapter, we have selected Mrs.Galbreath as one of the most outstanding women, not only of Tarrant County, but of the state of Texas, being always prominently identified with all progressive movements and activities.

Studying the rules governing the organization of chapters, we find, according to Art.9, of the National Constitution, that you will have to make her appointment and send it to the Organizing decretary General for presentation to the National Board of Management.

Of course, we are eager to get our chapter organized as soon as possible, and will appreciate it if you will help us to hasten it by getting this appointment recommended to the Organizing Secretary General as soon as possible, so that it may be passed upon. Please be sure to emphasize the fact that this is to be a Tarrant County chapter, to be organized somewhere in the county, place yet to be selected, and not in the city of Fort Worth.

Mrs.Galbreath's National number is 43375, and her address is Rivercrest, Ft.Worth.

We hear that the Conference was beautifully entertained by Galveston and that everybody had a lovely time. Hoping that you are all rested from the festivities and that we shall hear from you soon, ‡ am,

Cordially yours,

My Dear Mrs Bowdry:

Your letter reached me yesterday. I was glad to hear from you. I am very glad to take it up with Washington, and ask about you people having a county chapter. I ask Mrs. Brosseau to let me hear at once. There will be a meeting in Ded', when they will appoint organizing regents, and confirme hapters. And if it is possible for you to have a county chapter, it will certainly give me much pleasure to have Mrs Galbreath appointed, you could not have found a finer woman to organize a Chapter I very fond of her, I am sure you will have it ready to be confirmed at the first meeting after she is appointed. I will be glad to help you all in every way that I can. I understand you have quiet a long list for your membership.

I will let you hear from me just as soon as I can hear from Mrs. Brosseau.

Yes we certainly did have a wonderful conference, did so much. I do not recall a conference where we have ever given as much, or had as much given to the state. And it was the largest one we have ever had. We go to Beaumont next year. At which time I hope to present the regent of your new chapter to conference.

I hear Dora is not at all well, I am so sorry, I thought after her operation in the Fall she looked much better. I was in hopes she was going to get alright. I hope she will soon be much better.

With my best wishes to you.

I am most sincerely.

My Dear Mrs. Dowdry: I have written to Washington again asking why I have not hear from them in regard to the organizat ion of your county Chapter. I had a letter from Mrs. Brosseau some time ago saying she had turned it over to be answered by the Organizing Secretary eneral. I will write you just as soon as I hear. I wrote this morning asking them if you can have a county Chapter

Dear Mrs. Jones.

You have probably heard, via "grape-vine telegrach", that a group of members at large in Fort North and vicinity are making plans for a new chapter. As you are so familiar with the circumstances under which so many of us became members at large, left without a chapter home, we want to ask that you speak a good word for the new chapter when you go to Washington for the December Board meeting. The question of the organization and appointment of an organizing regent will doubtless come up at this meeting. We want to be sure the case is fully explained to the Board and feel that you will see that this is done. We are counting on your support and co-operation to help us launch the new chapter.

To save going into detail, I am sending you copies of our correspondence with Mrs.Rountree, so you will know what has been done up to date.

We have all been hoping to see you in Fort North, to congratulate you on your election to the Vice-presidency. We feel very proud of our Texas representative and of the fact that she scored such a victory in the national election. When we get our new chapter going, we hope to have many visits from you, both official and informal. Here's to our better acquaintance.

With best wishes for success in all the D. R. work, I am

My dear Mrs. Bowdry:

On my return a few days ago from San Antonio, where Mr. Jones and I had been for ten days-I found your letter with the enclosures. I was very much interested, and wrote Mrs. Hobart Org. Sec. General as soon as possible. I am enclosing a carbon copy of my letter to her.

The December Board meeting is to be at four O'clock the afternoon of the eighteenth, so you see is just for routine business, is never a largely attended one-just the members living near by are expected. The matter is entirely in the hands of the State Regent and the Organizing Sec. General, will not be mentioned in the Board meeting at all, except to say that the Org. Regent is appointed. However, Mrs. Hobart and I have worked in harmony for three years-and as I organized more chapters than any other regent in the Nat'l Society-fourteen in the three years-naturally I feel that I have some influence with her. Then too, we are warm personal friends as well-so heres hoping that the new chapter may soon be a reality, and when it is, I shall be delighted to accept your kind invitation to visit it.

Thank you for the kind words of congratulation. I have felt since that visit you and the othersmembers paid me on that hot Summer afternoon that we have indeed been closer friends.

Please give my best regards to each one, and if I can be of service to you at any time-it will be my pleasure to do so.

Wishing for you and yours a happy Christmas. I am,

Most Cordially amelle A. Junel,

P.S. Please let me know what you hear after the Board meeting.

December 8,1928.

My dear Mrs. Hobart:

I feel sure that you are familiar with the circumstances resigned from that Chapter trouble, and the nineteen members who those members to organize a new chapter in the county with Mrs. W.V. Galbreath as Organizing Regent. Of course this is entirely a matter asked if this can be done, and if so for Mrs. Calbreath to be appointed at the Dec. Board meeting. This would please me very much, and I feel of the Ft. North Chapter. I understand they will not let their membership reach fifty-just to keep the others from organizing.

I can very well believe that Mrs. Gardner who was the regent of the Ft. Werth Chapter at the time of the trouble, was at fault for she is the only chapter regent in the state who was ever discourteous to me while I was State Regent, and that for no other purpose than to carry favor with Mrs. Garlington, who was really the cause of the trouble, as she was Mrs. Gardners adviser through it all.

others are a fine group of women, really the most influential members in the chapter, and the real working members. If I had known they were going to resign, I would have advised strongly against it. They had not a state matter, I had refrained from interfering. However I would have felt it was my duty to advise against resigning as I at all times I would particularly like to see the chapter organized, and I sincerely splendid working chapter in Texas.

While there I was entertained by both chapters, gave a talk and told of the laying of the Corner Stone of Constitution Wall-and incidentally put in some effective work for you as our next President General. Essent ton, to attend State Conference. We had a splendid one too.

With love and all good wishes for a happy heliday season.

1804 Sixth Ave., Fort North, Texas, Dec. 10, 1928.

My dear Mrs. Jones, and I want to thank you for writing to Mrs. Hobart in our behalf. If the matter is entirely in the hands of the State Regent and the Organizing Secretary General, I am sure Mrs. Galbreath's appointment will go through without question. Mrs. Rountree has assured us that she will do all she can. The had another letter from her last week, saying she had written again to Washington, urging the appointment at the meeting this month.

der recommendation, with your letter to Mrs. Hobert, will surely do the work, we feel. In your letter you stated that nineteen had resigned from the Ft. Worth Chapter. There were really thirty-four, who came out, half of the membership at that time. This may not make any difference, but please bear it in mind if any question should come up about the organization of our new chapter. We are all ready to organize as soon as we hear from the National Society, which we hope will be soon.

a merry Christmas and happy New Year, Lam,

December 7, 1928.

Mrs. William P. Bowdry 1804 - 6th Avenue Fort Worth, Texas.

My dear Mrs. Bowdry:-

Your letter dated October 12th, reached my office November 22nd. It was my intention to reply to it right away, but my necessary absences from the office have prevented my replying earlier.

The conditions you state at Fort Worth are not new. They have been experienced in other places and it has been most difficult to combat the influence of members of the National Society who are not patriotic enough to allow their Chapter membership to come up to the required number for another Chapter to organize in that city. There is an unwritten law that a Chapter should not limit its membership to the detriment of other Chapters, but they do it just the same. Many times without the knowledge of the National Society.

The only suggestion I can make in this case is, if there is a place outside the corporate limits of Fort Worth which is not under the same government that you could select for the location of your Chapter, it might solve your problem, with the approval of your State Regent, because all permission to organize must come through her to this office to be approved by the National Board.

Mrs. William P. Bowdry-

It is not a wise thing to have a county location. Could you not locate some town or city in your county, as you suggested, for the location of a Chapter should be accessible to mostof the members and then the membership could be drawn from the entire county, as you doubtless know that non-resident members are permissible in every Chapter. You should have enough members living near enough who could attend the Chapter meetings regularly to keep up the business of the Chapter. I note in your letterthat you wish to name the Chapter after the county. We do not as a rule approve of county names for Chapters any more than we like county locations, but in instances similar to yours, they have had the approval of the National Board. As a general rule we urge Chapters to take names from the Revolutionary period, if possible to commemorate some heroic deed or patriot ot that time, however, the selection of a name can be thought about afterwards.

Please feel assured that if your State Regent approves, I will be glad to cooperate with you in every way I can, and will have printed literature sent previous to the confirmation of the Organizing Regent for this Chapter, after hearing from your State Regent.

With kind regards, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

My dear Mrs. Hobart,

When I received your letter of Dec.7th, it was very near the time set for the December Board Meeting. Just before your letter came, I had had a letter from our State Regent, Mrs.Rountree, saying that she had written again to Washington about the appointment of an Organizing Regent for our prospective new chapter.

I felt that this assurance of her approval would reach you in time for your consideration before the Board Meeting, and that our request would be duly presented to the Board. But we have heard nothing since the meeting. The women in our group are, naturally, eager to know what was done and we would appreciate it very much if you will let us know what, if anything, was decided.

of organization and name of chapter and feel sure that can be arranged satisfactorily. We felt that the way we suggested would be a solution of the problem of organizing a new chapter in an old territory, under conditions existing in Fort worth. You will recall that there were thirty-four members transferred from the Fort worth Chapter to membership at large. Most of these were residents of Fort worth and are ready and waiting to go into the new chapter as soon as we receive official sanction.

Hooing to hear rom you soon, I am

Very sincerely yours,

(Mrs.W.P.Bowdry.)

1804 Sixth Ave., Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 11, 1929.

Dear Mrs. Rountree.

Do you know that we have not heard a word from Washington as to what was done at the December Board Meeting about our new chapter. I am sure you have not heard, either, because you would have let us know immediately, so we are wondering what can be the matter. I hardly expected to hear until after the holidays, but there h s been time enough since then for us to have received some word.

A few days after I had received your card of Dec.4th, I had a letter from Mrs. Hobart in which she said, "Please feel assured that if your State Regent approves, I will be glad to co-operate with you in every way I can, and will have printed literature sent previous to the confirmation of the Organizing Regent for this chapter, after hearing from your State Regent."

As all that seemed to be necessary was your approval, and you had sent that, we felt that the presentation of our request to the Board was assured, and that our Organizing Regent would be duly notified of her appointment. Even if, for any reason, the re uest should not have been presented, surely we should have been notified. Perhaps something prevented the holding of the Board Meeting. Everyone is, of course, impatient for news, and I am writing Mrs. Hobart again today for further information. In case you hear anything, please let us know.

I should have written you before this, but have been in bed for more than a week with the "flu".

Cordially yours.

(Mrs. N. P. Bowdry.)

Copy of letter from Mrs.Lowell F.Hobart, Org.Sec.Gen., to Mrs. Rountree, dated Dec.13,1929:

My dear Mrs. Rountree,

Your letter of the 4th received on the 10th has been read very carefully.

Recently I received a letter from Mrs.William P.Bowdry of 1804 - 6th Ave, Ft.Worth, on the very subject you were writing about and as the reply to her letter covers the situation very explicitly, I am sending you a copy.

Mrs. Ella Hall Galbraith is eligible to be appointed Organizing Regent at the special Board meeting, if the location for the Chapter can be decided upon. It is impossible, as you know, to organize at Ft.Worth, since we have not a By-Law which will force a Chapter to bring its membership to fifty, and the Ft.Worth Chapter members number about 29 or 30 at this writing. It is a situation that is hard to cope with and I am averse always to side-stepping the issue as we seemingly have to do, when we allow a chapter to organize outside the corporate limits of a city or town in order to give members who live near that place a Chapter home.

I am hopefully looking forward to hearing from Mrs. Taylor and receiving the reports of organization of her chapter, but as yet they have not come.

Thank you very much for your willing co-operation in lending the Texas Room if we need it. It was necessary to send a form letter to all State Regents at that time, but only those rooms nearest the Administration Building will be brought into use, and I am quite certain your room will not be used as an office, but there may have to be a few committee meetings held in it. However, I do not think these meetings will interfere with your having your State meetings in your room during Congress, if you wish to.

co-operation, I am, With kind regards and thanking you for your Please read carefully and accept my grateful thanks; also please study the sheet from the Brochure supplied you by your Regent.

1804 Sixth Ave., Fort Worth, Tex., Jan.14,1929.

Dear Mrs. Rountree.

Thank you very much for your prompt reply to my letter, and the information about the date of the next Board Meeting. We will have to have a meeting of our own right away and get things adjusted in time to be settled at that meeting. Will you, by any chance, be going to Washington to attend it? If you should be going, please let us know, as there might be something you could do for us, although we hope to get this matter finished without troubling you any more about it.

I am returning the two letters, as you requested. I am very sorry you have not been well, and hope you are better now.

With best wishes, I am,

1804 Sixth Ave., Fort North, Texas, Jan. 18,1929.

Dear Mrs. Jones.

I am sure you will be interested in hearing what progress we have made along the path leading to a new chapter, so, in order that you may understand the "status quo" of our affairs, I am sending you a copy of a letter to Mrs. Rountree.

We have heard nothing from Washington since the December Board Weeting, so suppose our request was not presented then, which is, of course, explained by our failure to state definitely the place of organization.

Will you be going to Washington for the February meeting? If so, may we depend upon you to speak a good word for us in the high places? We all appreciate greatly the letter you wrote Mrs. Hobart in our behalf, and feel that a personal word from you at the Board Meeting will have great weight. Especially, please use your influence to get the Board to favor our having the "Tarrant County" name. Mrs. Hobart tells us that the Board usually disapproves of county names for chapters, but we hope they will see fit to make an exception this time.

I hope you have not been indulging in the present "great American pastime" of maving the "flu", as so many of us in Fort Worth have been doing. And wishing you a pleasant trip to Washington, I am,

Wost cordially yours,

(Mrs. W. P. Bowdry.)

1804 Sixth Ave., Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 18, 1929.

Dear Mrs. Rountree,

we did not understand, from Mrs. Hobert's letter to me, that it was necessary that the place of organization of our prospective chapter be named definitely in our request for an appointment of an organizing regent, although, naturally, we should have realized this. Of course this was the reason the matter was not taken up at the December Board Meeting.

lected Benbrook, Tarrant Co., Texas, as our place of organization, and ask that Mrs. N. V. Galbreath, 1407 Hillcrest Ave., Fort Worth, be appointed our organizing regent. We understand that the matter of a name for the chapter may be taken up at a later date. If it should not meet with the approval of the National Board to allow us to be called the "Tarrant County Chapter", we will, of course, consider some other name, although we are all strongly in favor of the Tarran County name. We feel that that name will help to bring in many members. The women's clubs in our county are especially stressing the desirability and importance of bringing the women in the country into closer relationship with the women in the towns and cities, and are making very decided progress along that line. The women all over the county are becoming interested in co-postation in all kinds of club sotivities, and we feel that they will be more interested in D. N. N. work if they feel that they have a chapter of their own, to which each community can send its representative women. Also, the not dating back to Revolutionary times, perhaps, the name of Tarrant is of historical significance in Texas.

We are all ready with with our members for the new chapter; more than twenty members at large ready to ask for transfer, with new members who wish to come in being heard from almost daily. We feel that we have every prospect for an enthusiastic, progressive, flourishing chapter, and hope that nothing further will delay our organization.

that your recommendation reaches Mrs. Hobert in time for the February meeting, as we understand that the matter is entirely in your hands, and hers. If you should be in Mashinston, blesse put in a plea for us. We thank you sincerely for all you have done for us, and home that all may soon be settled. Hoping that you have fully recovered from your recent illness, and with best regards, I am, 1804 Sixth Ave., Fort Worth, Tex., Feb.1, 1929.

Dear Mrs. Roungree.

I am returning to you the letter from Mrs. Hobart, as you requested. We are all thrilled over our prospects for the new chapter, and anxiously awaiting word from Washington as to the action of the Board meeting today.

Ne will surely have everything ready for confirmation at the next meeting. I am sending Mrs. Hobart the list of prospective members, so she may have them checked up as to payment of dues.

We have been asking our new applicants to hold their papers until the Chapter should be fully organized, but if we may send them to you before, we will see how many we have ready. Of course you know how long it takes to get the papers ready, especially for those who have to look up family records, but we will get them ready as fast as we can.

Surely Mrs. Childress is going in with a us. We could not get along without her. On account of her physical condition, we have promised that we will not call on her for too much, but we hope that she will soon regain her health and strenght. She seems to be feeling much better now, if only nothing else happens to her.

We are so glad you will be at the next Board meeting, as we may need a special pleader to get the Board to allow us to have our County name. When the time comes to select a name, we will put in our plea, but the support of Mrs. Jones and yourself will count for a lot. Will let you know developments as they occur.

With best wishes and many thanks.

Most sincerely yours,

(Mrs.W. P. Bowdry.)

of a Chapter in Tarrant county has been received.

Texas assuring me of her approval of the Chapter organizing in Tarrant County, but I. wrote her very explicitly, as you will no doubt remember, why I felt it was not advisable to have a county location or county name for the Chapter and asked her to help you in finding a place for the location of the Chapter nearby the city of Fort Worth, as that was the place selected by you. Only today has her card been received requesting the location of the Chapter to be Benbrook, which is in Tarrant county. As there is no other Chapter there, there will only have to be twelve members to organize it and this can be done immediately after the February 1st Board meeting, at which time Mrs. Salbreath, at your State Regent's request, will be confirmed organizing Regent. I will bear in mind to send her the blanks on which to report the organization, so that she may have them when it is convenient for her to call the members together to organize. As it is necessary for everyone of them to be in good standing, their 1929 dues must be received previous to the date on which the

Copy of letter from the Organizing Sec.Gen. to Mrs.Rountree, dated Jan. 22, 1929:

My dear Mrs.Rountree: -

Your card stating that the location of the Chapter to organtize in Tarrant County is Benbrook, has been received.

This is very good news to me because the Chapter can now XXX organize after the February Board Meeting, as soon as it is convenient to the members, for no doubt there are enough transfers from the Fort Worth Chapter to organize right away.

Mrs.Galbreath's appointment as organizing Regent at Benbrook will be presented to the Board Feb. 1st for confirmation and as soon as possible afterwards, I will send the blanks for reporting the Chapter's organization. If they will send me a list of prospective members, I will be glad to check them up for their 1929 dues, as each member must be in good standing with the National Society before she is eligible to be an organizing member of it. The next Board Meeting, at which time the Chapter may be confirmed, is just before Congress, which will allow the Regent to represent it at Congress. Thanking you for your co-operation, and with kind regards, I am,

Sincerely yours.

In discussing a name for our chapter, we decided that we would like to have a name indicative of the unique history of our state-- Texas is the only state of the Union that has been a part of six nations-- and we ask approval of the name "Six Flags Chapter". The actual development of Texas is so closely allied to the times of 1776 that we feel that this name would be of proper Revolutionary relation to justify it for a chapter of D.A.R. This little outline of the history of Texas will show you why we feel that way, I am sure:

La Salle, for France, in 1685, made the first European settlement in Texas, claiming all the territory as property of the French king. Our first flag, therefore, was that of France, though dating from 1542 the country had also been claimed by Spain, due to the explorations of De Soto. Both Spanish and French colonists, in very small number, came into Texas during these years.

In 1763, France, being hard pressed by England, ceded all her claims over Texas to Spain rather than risk losing her possessions to the English. Thus our second flag was that of Spain, who held Texas as a part of Mexico until 1809.

Mexico rebelled against the Spanish rule and set up her own monarchy, which in 1823 became a republic, degenerating very soon into a dictatorship. The life of the colonists under the flag of Mexico was as hard as under Spanish rule. (Three flags).

Drifting into Texas from the north and east, bold adventurers from the American colonies slowly filtered in among the Spanish and few French settlers. After our Revolution and especially in the peaceful times after 1812, these men were pushing in all directions towards the frontiers and many with their keen eyes and ambitious minds looked longingly towards the fertile lands of Texas, forbidden by the stern Mexican rule. But in 1820 a colony from the United States was given permit to establish a settlement in Texas, and from that time until 1836 more and more of them were coming in.

These settlers were the sons and grandsons of the men of 176, bringing with them to the new territory the high desires and love of freedom of their fathers. They could not become reconciled to the Mexican rule -- to the convict colonies placed among their own families, to the springent trading laws, to martial law placed upon them on the least pretext, to continual blockages, and narrow religious strictures. In 1833 a convention met at San Felipe, made up mostly of these sons of '76, with a few high minded Spanish and French settlers among their number. The resolutions drawn up at San Felipe, by the way, were signed by a larger proportion of college trained men than any similar document in the world's history. They asked Mexico for the right of jury trial, writ of habeas corpus, freedom of the press, right to petition -- the foundation stones of freedom.

The Mexican dictator decided he must crush such ambitious spirit and invaded Texas with two large armies, expecting immediate success at arms. But the scattered colonists flew together into small bands and by their skill at arms and unsuppressable determination, and with unflinching sacrifice of life itself, broke up and defeated the Mexican forces and on our San Jacinto Day, April 21, 1836, won the final victory that gave them their fourth flag, the Lone Star of the Republic of Texas.

The ties were too close to their kindred in the United States and in 1846, after ten years of great development as a republic, Texas by her own insistent desire came under the Stars and Stripes, a state of the United States of America, achieving her fifth and we hope last flag. In President Anson Jones's speech in giving way to the first state governor, he said:

"The Lone Star of the Republic of Texas has passed on and become fixed forever in that glorious constellation which all freemen and lovers of freedom in the world must reverence and adore—the AMERICAN UNION. Blending its rays with its sister states, long may it continue to shine...may the Union be perpetual..."

A four page letter is awfully long, but we do want the National Sochety to know why we ask for the name of "Six Flags Chapter". The women of this chapter are born of men who fought the Revolution, who fought in 1812, who said their prayers in private (as all prayers should be said, most people think) under stern Mexican rule, who fought and died and lived at Goliad and the Alamo and San Jacinto, and at Bull Run and Gettysburg. We want to keep our Six Flags.

we hope that the fact that we have not the proper blank for the signatures of our members will not delay our organization, as we are hoping that our new chapter may be confirmed in time for Mrs. Galbreath to represent us at National Congress this year. You will all like Mrs. Galbreath—she has been a D.A.R. for a long time, has been state treasurer for Texas, and now that affairs are looking better in our state, sah seems responsive to our earnest desire that she give up some of her many important interests and devote more of her time and ability to D.A.R.

Awaiting hour further instructions,

Yours very sincerely,

Organizing Secretary.

Miss Laura Rollins King Secretary elect at Benbrook Fort Worth, Texas.

My dear Miss King:-

Your letter of the 15th giving the list of organizing members of the chapter Mrs. Galbreath organized on the 14th of February at Benbrook, has been received.

I have had the names verified and find all eligible except one. Mrs. Celeste High Jones Edwards cannot be re-instated in the National Society until the 13th of April. She will be a member at large and must apply for a transfer to the Chapter, then when an officer notifies the Treasurer General of the acceptance of her transfer she will be enrolled a member, the date that letter is received.

The blanks on which to report organization are not sent out when the organizing Regent is officially notified of her appointment, because we do not know how many members she will have. I am today enclosing blanks. Please see that each member signs under her typewritten name. There must be no proxy signatures. If there are any who are out of the city or unable to sign through illness or other causes, please see that their names are sent me in a letter signed by themselves, which will be attached to the organization report, thus giving their signatures.

The name Six Flags selected for the chapter will be permissible and I am quite sure the Board will approve it, because as you say, it is most appropriate for a chapter organized in Texas. Thank you for the history of it enclosed.

We are planning, with the permission of the President General, to call a special Board meeting March 5th for the confirmation of chapters only. Will you not see if you can have the blanks here in time for the official recognition of your chapter? Then your Regent may represent it at Congress.

Sincerely yours, Cattle Iruni Hobart

P.S. Since writing the above permission has been received from the President General for a special Board meeting to be held on March 5th.

Minutes of Organization Meeting for Chapter at Benbrook, Texas.

Mrs. W. V. Galbreath having received notice of her appointment by the National Society D.A.R. as Organizing Regent for a chapter at Benbrook, Texas, the organization meeting was held on February 14, 1929, at the home of Mrs. Wm.S. Wells at Benbrook, the following members being present:

Mrs. W. V. Galbreath S. C. Ball W. R. Booth W. P. Bowdry Elmer Brown C. W. Childress Alden Coffey J. D. Jarrott Miss Laura R. King

Mrs. A. C. Sherwood " H. W. Speairs
" F. W. Wayman
" E. L. Lockwood
" Jas. Wilford Wright
" O. R. Brooks

Not present at this meeting but signing up as organizing members were Mrs. J. P. Burt, Jr., Mrs. L. B. Curd, Mrs. B. H. King, Mrs. R. H. Rowland, and Mrs. J. N. Sparks.

Mrs. C. H. Edwards was present at the meeting, but when her name was reported to the National Society they wrote that as she resigned from D.A.R. in December, 1927, and could not be reinstated until the National Board Meeting in April, 1929, she could not be counted a member until that time.

Mrs. Galbreath called the meeting to order and announced that according to instructions from the Organizing Secretary General she chose three organizing officers, naming the following:

Mrs. W. R. Booth Treasurer Mrs. F. W. Wayman Registrar Miss Laura R. King. Secretary

Mrs. Galbreath read to the meeting the instructions she had from the Organizing Secretary General.

The name of the chapter was discussed and it was decided to ask for the name "Six Flags", in commemoration of the six national flags of Texas.

The secretary was instructed to send the list of organizing members and the name "Six Flags" for approval by the WXXXX-National Board.

Mrs. Galbreath appointed a committee to outline the chapter constitution Mrs. Booth and Miss Laura King. a committee to make suggestions for refreshments to be served at chapter meetings she appointed Mrs. Childress and Mrs. Coffey; both committees being instructed to report at the next meeting. The meeting was then adjourned for a social hour.

Secretary.

1407 Hillcrest Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, February 28, 1929.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, Organizing Secretary General, N. S. D. A. R., Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D.C.

My dear Mrs. Hobart:

Enclosed is form containing 18 signatures of the 20 women we are asking you to recognize as organizing members of the chapter being formed at Benbrook, Texas.

You will receive by letter the other two signatures, that of Clara King (Mrs. W. P.) Bowdry, and of Frances King (Mrs. Jos. P.7 Jr.) Burt. Mrs. Bowdry was present at our organization meeting, but is now out of town and will give you her signature as soon as we can get in touch with her.

We asked for the name "Six Flags". So many of us have had the further thought that we would like better to have our chapter name "Six Flags of Texas", as being both more explicit and more euphonious, and we will very much appreciate it if you will have the latter name approved for us if possible.

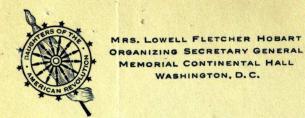

I am having our secretary type my name to this letter, to save time in getting it into the mail, as we want it to be sure to reach you well in advance of the Board Meeting to be held on March 5th.

Thanking you,

Yours very sincerely,

ELLA HALL (Mrs. W. V.) GALBREATH Organizing Regent.

Secretary Elect.

March 9, 1929

Mrs. Warren V. Galbreath Regent Six Flags Chapter Benbrook, Texas.

My dear Mrs. Galbreath:

An apology is no doubt due you for not notifying you before this of the confirmation of the Six Flags Chapter at the March 5th Board meeting, but it has been impossible to do so.

You will note that your suggestion to add "of Texas" to your Chapter name was not approved by the National Board, because they felt that it was superfluous, inasmuch as no state in the Union but yours had ever had six flags, therefore a ruling was given "to authorize the Chapter at Benbrook, Texas to use the name Six Flags". I presume this will really make no difference to your members or to you either and we at Headquarters are always delighted to have Chapter names as brief as possible.

I am enclosing a list of the organizing members as reported to the Treasurer General.

You will note that Mrs. Madora Childress could not be included as an organizing member of your Chapter because her dues have not yet been received by the Treasurer General. Fortunately her transfer to membership at large has been recorded so long ago that she may now apply to the Treasurer General for a transfer card and when it is accepted by the Chapter and you have an officer notify the Treasurer General, the transfer will become effective.

Trusting the not granting of the entire name submitted for your Chapter will not be a great disappointment to your members and with best wishes for a very successful and happy chapter, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Edich Irwin Hobard,

If youmsend this letter, pin this copy to Mrs. Hobart's letter.

1407 Hillcrest Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, March 16, 1929.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, Orggnizing Secretary, N.S.D.A.R., Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D.C.

My dear Mrs. Hobart:

Your letter telling us you had secured confirmation of the Six Flags Chapter of Benbrook gave our twenty organizing members great happiness, and we all send you our thanks and appreciation for the very cordial and prompt attention you gave to our application.

Being a regular chapter now, as we understand it, we feel that we want to do our part as promptly as you have done yours, if possible, and we would therefore like to have sent to us what further instructions the National Society has for us. We would like to have the address of the Chairman of the Chapter By-Laws Committee, and the instructions on the order of meetings, and for each chapter officer, please, and any other information that you know we will need.

A question has come up that I do not find answered in the National Constitution. Can a child be a member of the C.A.R. without going into any special C.A.R. chapter? One of our prospective members has a little granddaughter whose father wishes very much that she be connected with our chapter, which of course she cannot be until she is eighteen years old. He does not want her to go into another chapter and we would like to know if she can be a member at large of C.A.R.

We are sending to Committee on Credentials of the National Society, additional State Regent, the Credential forms showing that we are entitled to be represented by myself or our Vice Regent, Mrs. Jarrott, at the Congress in April. It looks now, however, as though neither of us can be in Washington at that time.

Again thanking you for the lovely way in which you had the confirmation given to our chapter, I am,

Cordially yours,

Regent, Six Flags Chater D.A.R.

My dear Mrs. Fender and Members of the Mary Isham Keith Chapter:

In behalf of our Chapter, allow me to thank you for the right hand of fellowship and greetings, so graciously extended in a communication from your Secretary, dated March 16th.

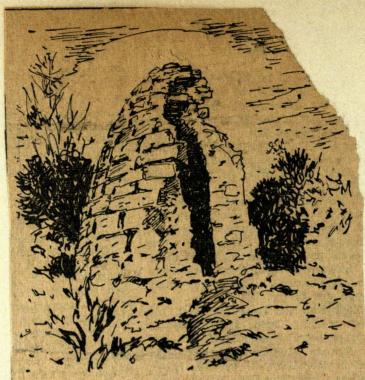

Because of it's many accomplishments and lofty ideals in the cause of the D. A. R., the Mary Isham Keith Chapter has always held the devotion and high admiration of the individual members of our Chapter.

To reach the full zenith of good wishes, we feel that it is only necessary for our young organization to emulate the career and achieve the success which has so splendidly crowned the progress of the Mary Isham Chapter.

In the name of the Six Flags Chapter, permit me to express the desire, in the years to come, that the Six Flags may always wave in harmony with the progress, aspirations and achievements of the Mary Isham Keith Chapter.

Very sincerely,

has been nearly forgotten by a growing city as a historic link with early days in Fort Worth. The old well is located in what is now an alley off Taylor Street near the Criminal Courts Building. It was dug during Indian days, although histories differ as to when and by whom. The W.P.A. history of this county credits a Frenchman by the name of Louis Whitmore with digging the well in 1860, but C. E. Mitchell, an early settler, claims in his autobiography that it was dug by Barbier, a Frenchman, in the 1850's. Stories are told of early-day soldiers hiding behind it to shoot. There are two entrances to the rock dome—one on the north side, the other on the south. The sloping wall on the north side is still in act. At one time, it was the town's only water supply. The old well is now filled but it is a real historic landmark in Fort Worth.

THE red, white and blue of waving flags, miniature hatchets, cherries of crimson touched with purple tints, and patriotic colors carried out in fragrant blossoms, added an effective note to decorations for parties the week past, celebrating the birthday of George Washington. At some of the affairs, gracious ladies in powdered wigs and long bouffant gowns of crisp taffeta greeted the guests, while at others, small girls and boys in quaint Colo-nial dress, swayed in the intricate steps of the cotillion and other dances.

The three chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution held annual parties, the Mary Isham Keith Chapter entertaining with a luncheon in Anna Shelton Hall, the Fort Worth chapter giving a luncheon in the Red Room of The Blackstone, and the Six Flags Chapter entertaining at the Junior Woman's Club.

The tables were marked with silken flags and centered with silver bowls of red roses, the place cards and candies adding the blue and white of the patriotic colors. Mrs. John G. Waples, regent of the chapter, made a short talk preceding the program.

D. A. R. GATHER IN WACO FOR TEXAS CONVENTION

WACO, Nov. 3.—Daughters of the American Revolution gathered here Monday in preparation for the opening program tonight for their annual Texas convention. The convention itself will open Tuesday.

Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, Washington, D. C., national president, arrived Sunday.

Dallas, Texas January 4, 1937

Dear Mrs. Wayman

I am enclosing a letter that I've just received from our National Historian. I hope your chapter will contribute to the Yorktown project. We do like for Texas to keep up with National requests.

You know by now how interested I am in all Marker projects. Please go into your old minutes and find all the Markers your chapter has erected and report them on a card - sending one to Washington and one to me. Two different Markers that have been erected by Texas chapters to Revolutionary Soldiers were not reported to me - and were naturally omitted from our permanent record - our Marker History. Doubtless there are others, so lets dig into our past and find any others. Be sure and make a card for the Markers reported and recorded in our History also - so the National Records will show all Texas has done.

As for our Marker Histories, we are exceedingly anxious to place as many as possible, not only with members and friends, but also in your libraries, so we hope you will order quite a number so we may report these at Conference.

I am enclosing the blank for your Chapter Report also. Please, please get this in to me by March 1st.

Don't forget the Marker Slides that are available for loan, through Mrs. C. J. Moore, Bureau of Extension, Visual Education, Department, Austin. The cost is for carriage charges only.

Wishing you a very Happy New Year.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Gus L. Ford,

State Historian.

Presiding over the session of the Continental Congress in which goldblond Mrs. Russel William Magna of Massachusetts was nominated her successor, Mrs. Hobart shimmered in her own past popularity.

Her dress was made entirely of florists' ribbon that had been tied on the bouquets sent to her on the platform. Its close-fitting bodice was of golden bands in basket weave on diagonal lines. Its billowy skirt was rainbow ruffles. Her old-fashioned bouquet was all of artificial flowers, made of gay bits of more shiny ribbons.

stadium Monday after. on. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Lindsay, 3221 University Drive.

Services will be held at South Side Church of Christ. Rev. J. A. Dickey and Rev. Horace W. Busby will officiate. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Companions of the boy saw him running along a ramp at the stadium, stumble and fall to the concrete floor. They found him "breathing funny." One ran for help. He was dead by the time he was taken to a hospital and physicians said he suffered a broken neck.

The boy's father discredited a theory that sudden illness caused from eating a portion of a bird the boys had killed and cooked had caused Edwin to fall. The boy had been in excellent health, he said.

The bird episode took place shortly before the fatal accident. The borshad killed, cooked and eaten the bird. Then Edwin complained of feeling ill and had declined to take part in a game. Edward Stivers, one of Edwin's companions, saw him fall, heard the prostrate youth call and ran for help. He stopped Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanks, 3435 Avenue M, who were passing in an automobile, and they took the injured boy to the home of Mrs. Estelle Winderspin, 3212 University Drive, across the street.

In the group were the latter's two children, Cliff and Alta Winderspin, and C. T. Schoremoyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad T. Schoremoyer, 3215 University Drive, across the street.

Besides his parents, the boy is survived by a brother, Jack, 5, and a sister, Miss Margaret Elizabeth Lindsay, student in T. C. U.; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lindsay, 1610 South Jennings Avenue; grandfather, S. Illingworth, Dallas; aunts, Mrs. R. G. Meggs, Dallas; Mrs. F. M. Gibbons, Tulsa; Mrs. R. H. Lanter, Knox City; Mrs. Clyde Young, Greeley, Colo., and Miss Annie Illiugworth, Dallas; uncles, J. E. House, Dallas; L. L. and H. L. Lindsay, Fort Worth.

Edwin was a student at E. M. Daggett Junior High School.

A woman who may carry on a successful business right within the four walls of her own home is lucky indeed. The Made-in-Fort Worth directory, issued some time ago by the Chamber of Commerce, lists several such businesses.

Mrs. J. J. Nunnally, a pioneer resipioneer resident here and a sister of the late Col. Louis J. Wortham, specializes in French bead work at her home, 1415 Grand Avenue.

Her art brings her work from every state in the union. One of her most distant orders, to repair a beaded bag more than 400 years old, came from South America. And Mrs. Nunnally successfully worked out the intricate patterns and blended the unusual colors.

All of Mrs. Nunnally's materials come from France. It was from a French bead artist that she learned her art, when she studied under her in Chicago between 1902 and 1909.

During the years after the World War, Mrs. Nunnally had so many orders to fill that she frequently worked until late into the night. For hers is a highly specialized work, and she is unable to hire helpers.

Mrs. Nunnally not only repairs fine old bags, but she makes beaded bags herself and specializes in other bead work, including beaded embroidery work.

A resident of Fort Worth 40 years, she has always been known as an artist with the needle.

TF YOU happen to be fond of I marmalade and you buy it from your local grocer, you most likely buy some from the kitchen of Mrs. J. D. Jarrott, 3001 South Jennings.

Mrs. Jarrott has been in the marmalade business now for nearly nine years. She made her first venture into it about 17 years ago when her daughter, Sue Joe, just a tiny tot then, took part in a money-raising Sunday school campaign.

Mrs. C. D. Reimers, then her teacher, gave every pupil in the class a small sum of money with which to make more money. The pupil making the most money was to receive a prize.

Sue Joe came to her mother with her money, and asked for a suggestion. For a long time Mrs. Jarrott had been making marmalade which her family and friends had enjoyed, so she proposed to make some for her daughter to sell.

It was not long before Mrs. Jarrott and her daughter were getting more re-orders on marmalade from the women in Broadway Presbyterian Church and neighbors than they had anticipated. And soon after that, Mrs. Jarrott decided to go into the marmalade business for herself. But it's only during the last nine years that she has devoted a great deal of her time to it.

She now supplies most of the Hilton and Baker Hotels in Texas with marmalade as well as dining car services. She even received one order from the Mallory Steamship lines, and many of the stores in Texas cities order and re-order her marmalade.

Mrs. Jarrott never has and never does anticipate taking the manufacturing part of her business out of her own kitchen. She believes in keeping it a strictly home-made product.

So her own kitchen is her only

So her own kitchen is her only shop. And there she prepares all of her marmalade, even when she receives a rush order for as many as 50 cases. That means filling and packing 1250 jars.

But cooking and selling marmalade is not Mrs. Jarrott's only interest and hobby. A member of old American stock on both sides of her family, she is an active worker in the Six Flags Chapter of the DAR. She also is an active member of the Sorosis Club, one of the city's oldest literary clubs.

And then she has another foremost interest, her home and her family which includes her husband, a son, J. D. Jarrott Jr., and her daughter, Sue Joe.

Couple Given Farewell Party

Mrs. D. P. Harris Jr. was presented with a traveling kit last night by her hostess when Mr. and Mrs. B. R. McLaughlin entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Harris, who will leave today for New Mexico to make their home.

The party was a farewell gathering of a group of musicians, friends of the honored couple. April Fool jokes and stunts were enjoyed, and impromptu musical numbers were played.

A salad course was served from a table laid with lace over Persian green satin, and lighted by yellow tapers in silver holders. Jonquils and calendulas in a silver how centered the table.

MRS. MAURICE CLARK TURNER
3820 GILLON AVENUE
DALLAS, TEXAS

August 22, 1935

My dear Mrs. Jarrott:

I have given myself the pleasure of naming you Chairman of the State Amditing Committee.

This will not interfere with your duties as Chapter Regent, as it will require your attention only at State Conference, when the State Treasurer brings the report of a certified public accountant and her state report for inspection.

I trust will accept this appointment, as I shall be most grateful for your assistance, and your interest. I was happy to learn of your new position as Regent, and congratulate the hapters upon securing your services in this important place. "t means, too, that you will be attending Conference, and for that I am happy.

With kindest regards, hoping you have had a restful summer, I am

Most cordially yours,

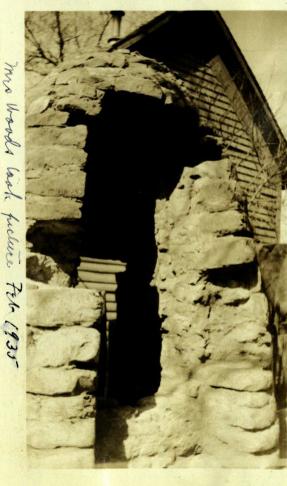

Cosie Holden Turner

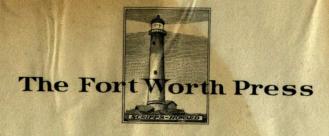

Mrs. Maurice C. Turner

PRESS BUILDING
FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Dear Mrs. Wood:

This letter is to thank you for your assistance in our Santa Pal campaign for the poor folks of Fort Worth at Christmas time, and to give you an accounting of the results of our efforts.

A total of 183 families with 458 children were "adopted" in total by generous persons who wanted to be certain that the poor families of the city, particularly the children, did not miss the joys of Christmas.

We received $433.35 in contributions from others who asked us to serve for them in purchasing gifts and distributing them. With this money we purchased toys, candy, fruit, and nuts for 1543 children in 551 families. In addition we received from a benefit dance at the Casino sufficient canned goods to supply food to 300 families,

In all, more than 2000 children of 734 families were reached through the contributions of yourself and others, either through adoption of families or through cash contributions.

The ravages of the depression have greatly increased the demands upon charitable people at Christmas time, and it has compelled us to spread the distribution of gifts rather thinly during the past two years. It is to be hoped that better times will restore a majority of the needy to a self-sustaining condition in which they can furnish their own families with Christmas gifts.

Again thanking you for your kindness and generosity, we wish you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Sincerely yours,

Seward R. Sheldon,

Federation's Activities Date Back 35 Years

Organization Was Founded Here In 1897

Editor's note—This is the first of a series of stories on Fort Worth clubs for women. Another will appear next Fri-

The Fort Worth City Federation of Women's Clubs, which today has approximately 3,500 members and 35 member-clubs, dates back to 1897 when one of its main committees was a Village Improvement committee.

In those days there was not one foot of pavement in Fort Worth, and the city streets as described by Mrs. A. H. McCarty, member at that time, were mostly chug-

Mrs. F. T. Crimmins has in her possession a year-book of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, published in 1897, and as far as members can recall that was the first year of organization. Mrs. W. A. Adams, now of San Antonio, was the first president.

There was an interim in the life of the organization that followed which seems hazy in the minds of which seems hazy in the minds of the few members who are still living and active in club work to-living and active in club work today.

But during the Galveston flood in 1900, Mrs. J. C. Berney of 3741 Modlin Place, served as president, and the big work of the federation at this time, as Mrs. Berney recalls, was the assistance Fort Worth club women gave to flood sufferers. They sewed for days and nights in the old Zane-Cetti Hall, near the old brewery, and sent to the flood sufferers clothing, quilts and bedding, all of their own making.

The City Federation has thru the years taken the initial steps for civic and legislative movements in which women as a whole have been interested. In addition to that, it has served as a clearing-house for the work of all the major clubs in the city.

It started in 1897 with seven member clubs, the Woman's Wednesday, '93, Monday Book, Euterpean, Woman's Progressive and Symposium (now Penelope) Clubs, and the Kindergarten Association. At this time these were the major clubs in a struggling town of some 25,000.

Between the period of Mrs
Bernev's administration and 1906.

Between the period of Mrs Berney's administration and 1906 the federation did not function. It was not until 1906, when a meeting was called by the Woman's Wednesday Club, that the federation was again organized, with Mrs. John F. Swayne as president. From this date on the City Federation of Women's Clubs has been Fort Worth's largest and most active women's organization.

most active women's organization.

All thru its history, it has undertaken many big projects, which are a credit to the women of Fort Worth. In the beginning of Mrs. Swayne's administration, the club's civic committee went before the city aldermen and asked them to turn quer to them the management of the city's public grounds, which they did. After that the federation brought the city cemeteries and the one city park at that time, Trinity, out of chaos into order. They not only had the grounds of each tleared of weeds and rubbish but they also had gates placed at the entrance of each.

In addition the federation in these early days looked after the sanitary conditions of the city and took the initial steps in having the city streets cleaned regularly. They also had the boys' ward at the county jail put in order and assisted the juvenile court with its incorrigible boys, and were active in work among delinquent girls.

Following Mrs. Swayne's administration, Mrs. J. J. Jarvis became president of the federation, but only served six months. Mrs. Warren V. Galbreath became the next president, and it was during fier administration that the federation raised $3,500 and put in the women's ward at the City-County Hospital.

The lecture courses which the federation has offered each year were inaugurated during Mrs. Thompson's three-year administration. And the federation during that time brought to Fort Worth such personages as Robert Frost, Richard Burton, Rabindranath Tagore, Clifford Devereaux and his company of players and the Tony Sarg marionettes.

The federation at this post-war period also organized the Housewives' League, to see that proper weights and measures were given to the public.

During Mrs. W. H. Moore's seven-year administration which followed, the federation spent more than $10,000 bringing to Fort Worth noted persons for lectures. The lecturers included among others, Edgar Lee Masters, John Erskine, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Coue, Carl Sandburg, John Cowper Powys, James Stephens, and Upton Close.

And it was during Mrs. Moore's administration that the federation, with Miss Anna Shelton is its chairman, took the initial steps in securing a club house for the women of Fort Worth. It was not long after they set themselves to the task that Mrs. William G. Newby gave to the women of Fort Worth the William G. Newby Memorial Building for a woman's club.

Mrs. Bob Barker served after Mrs. Moore as president until she was elected president of the First District of the State Federation. The big thing of her administration was the presentation of Will Rogers in a program which netted $18,000 for the unemployed. That was in 1931. Admiral Richard Byrd, Richard Halliburton and Edna St. Vincent Millay also were presented while Mrs. Barker served. served.

In recent years the federation has provided scholarship and loan funds for 43 boys and girls. Mrs. Edwin Davis, who was this week re-elected president of the federation, is carrying on with the cultural, philanthropic and civic work for which the federation has been known over a period of 35 years.

Wilfred C. Bain Conductor

1940 Spring Tours

History of Choir

The Denton A Cappella Choir of the North Texas State Teachers College was founded in the fall of 1938 by its present conductor, Wilfred C. Bain, A.B., B.MUS., A.M., ED.D. Forty-five superior singers chosen in open competition from the student body of 3,000 comprise this outstanding choir.

The secret of the Choir's success lies in the rigid discipline that the conductor imposes during the many hours of rehearsal and in the intense concentration during the performance itself. The concert programs of the Choir are an hour and ten minutes in length. The music is presented completely unaccompanied, and at no time during the performance is any instrument used, either for accompaniment or for securing the starting pitch.

A large majority of the compositions on the concert programs is church music. The programs, however, are richly varied, and an attempt is made to present something for everyone. Compositions range from some of the great works of Bach and Brahms to arrangements of Jerome Kern's "Ol' Man River."

The unusual merit of the choir and its conductor has been singularly recognized through invitations to present concerts before the state convention of the Texas State Teachers Association in San Antonio. Recently the Denton A Cappella Choir has received invitations to present concerts before the Oklahoma Educators Association and the Oklahoma Vocal Music Educators Association in Oklahoma City.

Few indeed have been the choral organizations to achieve — in so short a time — the truly amazing approbation from the critics and the public alike that the Denton Choir and its conductor have won in initial appearances throughout Texas.

WILFRED CONWELL BAIN

The conductor is head of the music department at the North Texas State Teachers College. He is a former member of the famous Westminster Choir and a graduate of the Choir School at Princeton, New Jersey. For seven years, Dr. Bain was conductor of the Houghton College Choir, the outstanding a cappella choir of the East.

The Pharisee and the Publican ..... Henrich Schuetz

Jesus said unto them: Two men went to the temple to pray: The one was a Pharisee, the other a Publican. The Pharisee stood there and prayed within himself, I thank thee, Lord God, that I am not as other men are, Extortioners! Nor even as this Publican. I fast always twice in the week, And give the tenth of all that I possess. And the Publican stood afar off, Would not lift so much as his eyes unto heaven But smote upon his breast and said: God be merciful to me! Lord, I am sinful, be Thou merciful to me. I say to you this man went from thence justified rather than He that exalteth himself shall be abased; And he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

Credo ..... Gretchaninoff

I believe in one God the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and earth,

And of all things visible and invisible:

And in one Lord Jesus Christ, the only begotten Son of God; Begotten of his Father before all worlds.

God of God, Light of Light, Very God of Very God;

Begotten, not made; Being of one substance with the Father; By whom all things were made:

Who for us men and for our salvation came down from Heaven, And was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary,

And was made man: And was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate;

He suffered and was buried:

And the third day he rose again according to the Scriptures: And ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of the Father:

And he shall come again, with glory, to judge both the quick and the dead;

Whose kingdom shall have no end.

And I believe in the Holy Ghost, The Lord, and Giver of Life, Who proceedeth from the Father and the Son;

Who with the Father and the Son together is worshipped and glorified:

Who spake by the Prophets: And I believe one Catholic and Apostolic Church:

I acknowledge one Baptism for the remission of sins; And I look for the resurrection of the dead:

And the Life of the world to come. Amen.

The Human Voice accompanies itself

A cappella — unaccompanied — is the term generally applied to choirs singing without instrumental support. Yet the real idea of the "A Cappella Choir" transcends the import of the name. The choir does not sing unaccompanied — it accompanies itself.

It is undoubtedly true that the properly trained human voice is, basically, the supreme musical instrument. In point of mere tonal quality, it is the warm and vibrantly living original which is to be imitated, but never fully equaled. Even in tonal variation, no mere instrument can approach it. The added personality of the singer, and his emotional interpretation, often transcend the music itself in effectiveness, while the use of words - the ability to convey those emotions in living speech - places the human voice at the pinnacle of all musical interpretation. Even the organ —"King of Instruments"— is but an aggregation of cold pipes and mechanical devices. In the hands of a skilled performer, these may simulate, approach, and support the voice, but they can never equal it as a perfect instrument for expression of human emotions.

It remained, then, for the A Cappella Organization to combine and harmonize individual voices of all grades and shades of tonal quality into one incomparable instrument. Each voice capable in itself of entire scales and varying shades of meaning, attained in the organ by whole stops of individual pipes — and with the entire Choir swayed not alone by the hand of the director, but by an emotional espirit de corps compellingly human — it is small wonder that a cappella renditions of familiar music are unprecedented in the freshness and richness of their moving qualities. The Choir no more needs accompaniment than does the organ itself — it is its own accompaniment.

In point of versatility, also, the A Cappella Choir far transcends the average glee club or chorus. Duets, trios, quartettes, sextettes, octettes — in fact, any combination of notes, however complicated — may be produced with ease. This is true both of men's and women's voices. With individual low altos and high tenors shading into each other, such harmonies may be carried throughout the entire tonal range without a break.

GROWINGOLD

There are many compensations To be found in growing old, Many things that doubly pay us For not being young and bold.

Age adds nothing to our beauty, Thats a sure and certain fact, And we must be very watchful And careful how we act.

But the greatest consolation Is because we do not care To be "keeping up with Lizzie" In the big race everywhere---

That we can sit down contented, Rest awhile, and just look on, Not a part of all this striving, This mad "keeping up with John".

We get stiff and all "string-halted" Ugly, wringled -- do not care, For we've found that all this effort Does not get us ANYWHERE.

Shakespeare Club Sold Liberty Bonds During War

But Refused Prize-An Airplane Ride

Editor's Note: This is another of a series of stories on Fort Worth women's organizations.

During the World War federated women's clubs competed in selling Liberty Bonds. An airplane ride was offered to the club committee selling the most bonds.

'The Shakespeare Club committee, headed by Mrs. E. J. Hosey, succeeded in selling the largest number of bonds. But the winning of the prize itself-an airplane ride-did not bring such a feeling of delight among the winners. On the day set for the ride, a storm came up. That settled it. The committee decided to pass up the prize entirely.

Airplane Ride Risky

The records of the Shakespeare Club take one back thru a changing world, when not only airplane rides were looked upon as "risky business" but when clubs for women were considered somewhat of a novelty.

The records take one on thru the World War days when club women gave up literary studies not only to sell Liberty Bonds but to knit for the soldiers. They take one on up to recent years when Fort Worth club women set as their goal the establishment of a club house, where all women's groups might meet.

No literary club in the city has played a more important part in the steady march of club women than the Shakespeare Club. Organized in 1905, when Fort Worth was only a small town, the Shakespeare Club has grown with Fort Worth.

Started in a period when the home woman had little to occupy her time except the duties within the four walls of her home, the Shakespeare Club came to fill a great need in the life of a group of neighborhood women who desired to widen their outlook and broaden their interests.

Founded by Mrs. R. M. Kelso. the club was patterned after the Shakespeare Club of Denton, of which Mrs. Kelso had been a member before taking up her residence here. Feeling the lonesomeness that the newcomer often feels, Mrs. Kelso longed for that little group of women in Denton with whom she had met to study the works of the immortal Shakes-

Began in Neighborhood

It was not long after taking up her residence here that she decided to organize a club like that one. So she invited in a group of her neighbors, and this was the beginning of the Women's Shakespeare Club of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Kelso was then living in the old Zane-Cetti home at 500
South Adams. Among those neighbors whom she invited in for the bors whom she invited in for the first meeting were Mrs. J. S. Andrews, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Harry Gutzman, Mrs. R. H. Harle, Mrs. Albert Leach, Miss Nona Leach, Mrs. J. J. Reimers, Mrs. M. Sheehan, Mrs. W. L. Triplett, Mrs. J. H. Warren, Mrs. D. C. Webb and Mrs. E. W. Wyeatt.

And this little charter group built upen an ideal. They recorded their ideal thus in their first yearbook:

"What is a woman's club?-a meeting groun.'
For those of purpose great and broad and strong,

Whose aim is toward the stars;

who ever long To make the patient, listening world resound

With sweet music, purer, nobler tones;

A place where kindly, helpful words are said, And kindlier deeds are done;

where hearts are fed,

finds touch with soul."

Tho there were only 14 women at the first meeting, within a short time the membership had grown to 20 and soon to 35, and later to 50, the present membership limit. The club was admitted to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in 1908 and to the General Federation in 1914.

For two consecutive years, 1931 and 1932, the club was awarded the City Federation prize of $10 for the best art program. The 1931 prize was used to purchase a picture for the club rooms.

When many of the city's major literary clubs affiliated themselves with the Woman's Club in 1932. with the Woman's Club in 1932, and moved their headquarters to the Pennsylvania Avenue clubhouse, the Shakespeare Club was among the first clubs to make the move. It paid one-third of the cost of furnishing one of the spacious club rooms upstairs, which it shares with the Monday Book and Sorosis Clubs.

Each of the mirrors is divided into 16 sections, making 64 sections in all. To raise the funds to purchase the mirrors, the Shakespeare Club held an auction sale at its meeting one day, and auctioned panels to the various members. Some of them bid $5 for a panel and others $10. Funds were taken from the club treas-

OLD TEXAS TRAILS When Texas Trails are mentioned What scenes are brought to mind, Of times when gallant men went forth determined on adventure, When England, France, and Spain sent out A golden land to find, And each were calculating on much profit from the venture. A Frenchman, named St. Dennis, Led a group of gay, young blades Along a dim, old, Indian path, up hill and down the dale Expecting to find gold on trees--And to profit by their trades----So in Seventeen and Thirteen they blazed the Old King's Trail.

With the ever present urge Of free worship, uppermost, And the spirit of adventure came the hardy pioneers; Down the paths that led to Nowhere Came the multiplying host, With the cry of the coyote and wild Indian in their ears. They knew that they faced danger, And hardships that leave scars, Indellible, through life, on the characters of men, But, undaunted, they pressed onward With their faces to the stars--The Sante fe Trail was traveled till it made a road--- and then

We see our fore fathers
Coming slowly o'er the plain,
"Prairie Schooners" drawn by oxen, all their worldly goods along;
Sturdy men clad all in home spun,
Women on whose faces pain
Had cut deep, but who, though toilworn, were God-fearing, brave, and strong.
Then the freckled, sun tanned laddies,
And the bright eyed lassies too
In the wagon with their Mother looking out across the vale
With the cattle and old Towser
Trudging onward through the dew, Making history for the ages
on the famed Old Spanish Trail.

Bermilla Hogg Telwo.

Then Texas Trails are mentioned What scenes are brought to mind, Of times when gallant men went forth determined on adventure, When England, France, and Spain sent out A golden land to find,

Then the cow boys with their cattle Found they needed a new way, So they started to the Northward with their happy shout and song Though they were aware the journey Would likely cost a fray With the Indians, who were waiting as the cattle herd moved on. Ever on the lookout, watching, Always very keen of sight, For they knew that with Comanches there was no such word as fail, And they could expect no quarter If it came to a real fight --So they made their way to Kansas up the new made Chisholm Trail.

Then as they went still farther To the land of the Unknown, There was not so much of danger, of tragedy and pain; Though the glamour of the country Which they wanted for their own Lured them on to risk that journey across the Texas plain. So many a Trail was started As the people found their way, Across the territories, to the far off, distant West. Although the trip was arduous, Ant it took many a day The distance lent enchantment, and adventure did the rest.

These Trails were rich in human lore Before the white man came, With his unfair trade, oppression, his desire for lands and gold. On Indian landmarks of long past He even changed the name; Forgetting (or not caring for) the storied things of old. Our Trails are fast becoming The Highways of the Nation. Broad, smooth, paved roads run everywhere from Eastern coast to West, On which folks from everywhere on earth And folks of every station Travel every day to view this Land we love the best.

Washington, D. C., June 14-15, 1923

The Second National Flag Conference Washington, May 15, 1924

The National Flag Conference convened at the call of the American Legion in Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C., on Flag Day, June 14, 1923, composed of delegates from the principal National Patriotic fraternal, educational and civic organizations, adopts the following Code and urges that every citizen be governed by this Code in the use and care of the Flag of the United States.

of the

Daughters of the American Revolution

History of the Flag

The Flag of the United States of America is the third oldest of the National Standards of the world; older than the Union Jack of Britain or the Tricolor of France.

The Flag was first authorized by Congress, June 14, 1777. This date is now observed as Flag Day throughout America.

It was first decreed that there should be a star and a stripe for each State, making thirteen of both; for the States at that time had just been formed from the original thirteen colonies

The colors of the Flag may be thus explained: The red is for valor, zeal and fervency; the white for hope, purity, cleanliness of life, and rectitude of conduct; the blue, the color of heaven, for reverence to God, loyalty, sincerity, justice and truth.

The star (an ancient symbol of India, Persia and Egypt) symbolizes dominion and sovereignty, as well as lofty aspiration. The constellation of the stars within the union, one star for each State, is emblematic of our Federal Constitution which reserves to the States their individual sovereignty except as to rights delegated by them to the Federal Government.

The symbolism of the Flag was thus interpreted by Washington: "We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing Liberty"

In 1791, Vermont and Kentucky were admitted to the Union and the number of stars and of stripes was raised to fifteen to correspond. As other States came into the Union it became evident there would be too many stripes. So in 1818 Congress enacted that the number of stripes be reduced and restricted henceforth to thirteen, representing the thirteen original States; while a star should be added for each succeeding State. That law is the law of today.

The Flag was first carried in battle at the Brandywine, September 11, 1777. It first flew over foreign territory January 28, 1778, at Nassau, Bahama Islands, Fort Nassau having been captured by the Americans in the course of the war for independence. The first foreign salute to the Flag was rendered by the French Admiral La Motte Piquet, off Ouiberon Bay, February 13, 1778.

The Flag first rose over thirteen States along the Atlantic seaboard, with a population of some three million people. Today it flies over forty-eight States extending across the continent, and over great islands of the two oceans; and one hundred thirty millions owe it allegiance. It has been brought to this proud position by love and sacrifice. Citizens have advanced it and heroes have died for it. It is the sign made visible of the strong spirit that has brought liberty and prosperity to the people of America. It is the Flag of all of us alike. Let us accord it honor and loyalty.

It embodies the essence of patriotism. Its spirit is the spirit of the American Nation. Its history is the history of the American people. Emblazoned upon its folds in letters of living light are the names and fame of our heroic dead, the Fathers of the Republic who devoted upon its altars their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. Twice-told tales of National honor and glory cluster thickly about it. Ever victorious, it has emerged triumphant from eight great National conflicts. It flew at Saratoga, at Yorktown, at Palo Alto, at Gettysburg, at Manila Bay, at Chateau-Thierry. It bears witness to the immense expansion of our national boundaries, the development of our natural resources, and the splendid structure of our civilization. It prophesies the triumph of popular government, of civic and religious liberty and of national righteousness throughout the world.

FEDERAL FLAG LAWS

There is but one Federal statute which protects the Flag throughout the country from desecration. The law provides that a trade-mark cannot be registered which consists of or comprises, among other things, "The Flag, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States or any simulation thereof." (33 Stat. L., p. 725, Feb. 20, 1906.)

SUGGESTED STATE LEGISLATION

Based upon the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States of America rendered by Justice John Marshall Harlan, every State should enact adequate laws for the protection of the Flag. (205 U. S. 34, March 4, 1907.) State Flag Laws should provide as follows:

1. That June 14th, Flag Day, be set apart by proclamation of the Governor recommending that Flag Day be observed by people generally by the display of the Flag of the United States of America and in such other ways as will be in harmony with the general character of the day.

- 2. That the Flag of the United States of America be displayed on the main administration building of every public institution.
- 3. That the Flag of the United States of America, with staff or flagpole, be provided for every schoolhouse, and that the Flag be displayed during school days either from a flagstaff or, in inclement weather, within the school building.
  - 4. That the Flag be displayed in every polling place.
  - 5. That printing or lettering of any kind on the Flag be prohibited.
  - 6. That the use of the Flag for advertising purposes in any manner be prohibited.
- 7. That the use of the Flag as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying or delivering anything be prohibited.
- 8. That fitting penalty (fine and imprisonment) be provided for public mutilation, abuse or desecration of the Flag.

Star-Spangled Banner

(The National Anthem)

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming;
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming;
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.

FIRST CHORUS

Oh, say, does the star-spangled banner yet wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

On the shore, dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep, Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes, What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep, As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses? Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam, In full glory reflected now shines on the stream.

SECOND CHORUS

'Tis the star-spangled banner, oh! long may it wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore, That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion A home and a Country should leave us no more? Their blood has wash'd out their foul footsteps' pollution; No refuge could save the hireling or slave From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave.

THIRD CHORUS

And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever when free men shall stand Between their loved home and the war's desolation. Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n-rescued land Praise the Pow'r that hath made and preserved us a Nation. Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just, And this be our motto, "In God is our trust."

FOURTH CHORUS

And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FLAG

*

The Flag of the United States of America has 13 horizontal stripes—7 red and 6 white—the red and white stripes alternating, and a union which consists of white stars of five points on a blue field placed in the upper quarter next the staff and extending to the lower edge of the fourth red stripe from the top. The number of stars is the same as the number of States in the Union. The canton or union now contains 48 stars arranged in six horizontal and eight vertical rows, each star with one point upward. On the admission of a State into the Union a star will be added to the union of the Flag, and such addition will take effect on the 4th day of July next succeeding such admission. The proportions of the Flag as prescribed by Executive Order of President Taft, October 29, 1912, are as follows:

Hoist (width) of flag Fly (length) of flag Hoist (width) of union Fly (length) of union Width of each stripe Diameter of star

THE SHIELD OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The shield of the United States of America has 13 vertical stripes, 7 white and 6 red, with a blue chief without stars.

PROPER MANNER OF DISPLAYING THE FLAG

There are certain fundamental rules of heraldry which, if understood generally, would indicate the proper method of displaying the Flag. The matter becomes a very simple one if it is kept in mind that the National Flag represents the living country and is itself considered as a living thing. The union of the Flag is the honor point; the right arm is the sword arm, and therefore the point of danger and hence the place of honor.

1. The Flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be displayed on National and State holidays, and historic and special occasions. The Flag should always be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

2. When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the Flag of the United States of America should be either on the marching right, i. e., the Flag's own right, or when there is a line of other flags, the Flag of the United States of America may be in front of the center of that line.

3. When displayed with another flag against a wall from cross staffs, the Flag of the United States of America should be on the right, the Flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other

4. When a number of flags of States or cities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs with the Flag of the United States of America, the latter should be at the center or at the highest point of the group.

5. When flags of States or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the Flag of the United States of America, the latter should always be at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs the Flag of the United States of America should be hoisted first and lowered last. No such flag or pennant flown in the former position should be placed above, or in the latter position to the right of the Flag of the United States of America, i. e., to the observer's left.

6. When flags of two or more nations are displayed they should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags should be of approximately equal size. (Interna-tional usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace.)

7. When the Flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of building, the union of the Flag should go clear to the peak of the staff unless the Flag is at half-staff. (When the Flag is suspended over a sidewalk from a rope, extending from a house to a pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the Flag should be hoisted out from the building towards the pole, union first.)

S. When the Flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the Flag's own right,

i. e., to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way, that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings of blue, white and red are desired, bunting should be used, but never the Flag.

9. When the Flag is displayed over the middle of the street, as between buildings, the Flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

10. When used on a speaker's platform, the Flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. If flown from a staff it should be in the position of honor, at the speaker's right. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk, or to drape over the front of the platform.

11. When used in connection with the unveiling of a statue or monument, the Flag should form a distinctive feature during the ceremony, but the Flag itself should never be used as the covering for the statue.

12. When flown at half-staff, the Flag should be hoisted to the peak for an instant then lowered to the half-staff position; but before lowering the Flag for the day it is raised again to the peak. By half-staff is meant hauling down the Flag to one-half the distance between the top and the bottom of the staff. If local conditions require, divergence from this position is permissible. On Memorial Day, May 30th, the Flag is displayed at half-staff from sunrise until noon and at full staff from noon until sunset; for the Nation lives and the Flag is the symbol of the living Nation.

13. Flags flown from fixed staffs are placed at half-staff to indicate mourning. When the Flag is displayed on a small staff, as when carried in parade, mourning is indicated by attaching two streamers of black crepe to the spear head, allowing the streamers to fall naturally. Crepe is used on the flag-staff only by order of the President.

15. When the Flag is displayed in the body of the church, it should be from a staff placed in the position of honor at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. The service flag, the State flag or other flag should be at the left of the congregation. If in the chancel or on the platform, the Flag of the United States of America should be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation and the other flags at his left.

16. When the Flng is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the National colors, but should be destroyed as a whole, privately, preferably by burning or by some other method in harmony with the reverence and respect we owe to the emblem representing our country. representing our country.

CAUTIONS

1. Do not permit disrespect to be shown to the Flag of the United States of America.

2. Do not dip the Flag of the United States of America to any person or any thing. The regimental color, State flag, organization or institutional flag will render this honor.

3. Do not display the Flag with the union down except as a signal of distress.

4. Do not place any other flag or pennant above or, if on the same level, to the right of the Flag of the United States of America.

5. Do not let the Flag touch the ground or the floor, or trail in the water.

6. Do not place any object or emblem of any kind on or above the Flag of the United States of America.
7. Do not use the Flag as drapery in any form whatever. Use bunting of blue, white

7. Do not use the Flag as drapery in any form whatever. Use bunting of blue, white and red.

8. Do not fasten the Flag in such manner as will permit it to be easily torn.

9. Do not drape the Flag over the hood, top, sides or back of a vehicle, or of a railroad train or boat. When the Flag is displayed on a motor car, the staff should be affixed firmly to the chassis, or clamped to the radiator cap.

10. Do not display the Flag on a float in a parade except from a staff.

11. Do not use the Flag as a covering for a ceiling.

12. Do not carry the Flag flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.

13. Do not use the Flag as a portion of a costume or of an athletic uniform. Do not embroider it upon cushions or handkerchiefs nor print it on paper napkins or boxes.

14. Do not put lettering of any kind upon the Flag.

15. Do not use the Flag in any form of advertising nor fasten an advertising sign to a pole from which the Flag is flying.

16. Do not display, use or store the Flag in such a manner as will permit it to be easily soiled or damaged.

PROPER USE OF BUNTING

PROPER USE OF BUNTING

Bunting of blue, white and red should be used for covering a speaker's desk, draping over the front of a platform and for decoration in general. Bunting should be arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle and the red below.

SALUTE TO THE FLAG

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the Flag or when the Flag is passing in parade or in a review, all persons present should face the Flag, stand at attention and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right-hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headdress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the Flag in the moving column is rendered at the moment the Flag passes.

SALUTE WHEN GIVING THE PLEDGE TO THE FLAG

In pledging allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, the approved practice in schools, which is suitable also for civilian adults, is as follows:

Standing with the right hand over the heart, all repeat together the following pledge:

"I nledge allegies

neart, all repeat together the following pledge:

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

At the words "to the Flag," the right hand is extended, palm upward, toward the Flag and this position is held until the end, when the hand, after the words "justice for all," drops to the side.

However, civilian adults will always show full respect to the Flag, when the pledge is being given, by merely standing at attention, men removing their headdress. Persons in uniform should render the right-hand salute.

SALUTE TO THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

When the National Anthem is played and no Flag is displayed, all present should stand and face towards the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the Anthem, retaining this position until the last note of the Anthem. All others should stand at attention, men removing their headdress. When the Flag is displayed, the regular "Salute to the Flag" should be given.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

Congress enacted a law March 3, 1931 making "The Star-Spangled Banner" the National Anthem of the United States of America.

BY MARY SEARS.

"Of Thee I Sing, Baby" may not be just the right tone or song to adopt as the "theme" of this week in which the birth anniversary of the father of this great country falls, but at least it tells the story. For all week parties, figuratively, at least, will be singing of Washington, whose aristocratic, high-bridged nose might disdain the flippancy of the hilarious musical comedy which pokes such fun at the government he founded. Daughters of the American Revolution the Nation over will celebrate Washington's birthday this week; school children will hear again the story of the famous cherry tree, the tossing of a silver dollar across the Potomac, the breaking of a blood vessel in one of the family colts, and other Washingtonia.

Woman Who Takes Up Art After She's Past Sixty Is Firm Believer in Hobbies

Older Women, She Feels, Shouldn't Assume "There's Nothing for Me To Do" Outlook on Life

By EDITH ALDERMAN GUEDRY
Press Woman's Page Editor
The Creative Works Department of the Woman's Club recently had on exhibit the paintings of a Fort Worth woman who had not had a paint brush in her hands until she was past 60.

The painting were lovely. The artist had painted with a feeling and a warmth and a naturaleness. Her colors, too, were well harmonized, and the scenes she had chosen charming.

Retiring and reserved as are many of the older women, who have not the cocksureness of some of the younger matrons, this woman had at first shrunk from the idea of having her pictures placed on extension.

Mrs. Guedry for her own amusement. Her paintings had been admired by her grandchildren, but grandchildren would love anything that grandmothers created, crude tho it might seem.

A woman who could take up painting after sho was past 60—that was a novelty; a grandmother, too, and able to create beautiful impressions on canvas.

STILL diffident about discussing her work, even after her exhibit has brought her acclaim, this grandmother will talk on at length, tho about one phase of her work. And that phase has to do with why she turned artist after 60

Why should the older women, with no home duties, no real responsibilities, she asks, be satisfied to sit and do nothing? Once a woman assumes "there's nothing for me to do" outlook on life, it's not long before she's miserable, and every one else around her is miserable.

And so you see why she took up the brush and began to create beautiful scenes on canvas. It enables her to build around herself world more colorful, more glamorous, more interesting, than the drab world in which many older women allow themselves to live.

In other words, she gives you the impression that we can make our own worlds just as we can, with the brush, paint our own

DAR Head Urges U.S. Preparedness

WASHINGTON, April 16.—"Adequate national preparedness on land, sea and air" was advocated Monday by Mrs. Russell William Magna, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in opening the fortythird continental congress of the organization.

She also urged "national security against crime, subversive forces, intrigue and exploitation."

Asserting that the D. A. R. must remain aloof from patriotic "superorganizations," she contended it must accomplish its patriotic ends by education, not criticism.

Women Should Specialize By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

FROM an indignant member of the D.A.R. I have received a booklet entitled, "What the Daughters Do," and a most formidable record it turns out to be.

THE very bigness of such orders hinders deflective work. They cover so much territory that their influence is usually very thin. In this respect the D.A.R. is no worse than any other, for it seems to be a general failing of American women's clubs.

Perhaps it is the result of feminine tradition. Housework has always included innumerable kinds of work, and so the ladies, whenever they started organizations, have tried to tackle all the ills of a world just as their grandmothers used to tackle all domestic jobs.

As a consequence, however, their work overlaps and none of it is very well done. I should admire the Daughters more overlaps and none of it is very well done. I should admire the Daughters more if they concentrated on what is obviously their main purpose—and their original one—dissemination of what seems to me to be a very peculiar kind of propaganda which they call patriotism. At least this is the one point that distinguishes them from other orders, and when they obscure their real cause with so many lesser ac-tivities they lose identity and dignity. The country would be vastly better off

The country would be vastly better on if we might some day hold a general convention of all national organizations for women when each could select a particular job and get to work at it. If too many cooks can spoil a broth, too many causes can certainly ruin an organization.

Woman's Club Opens Festival

Hundreds of Visitors File Into Anna Shelton Hall on Opening Day

Between 400 and 500 guests attended the four-day Fall Festival of the Woman's Club, which opened yesterday. About 50 couples attended the dance last night.

Anna Shelton Hall, the setting for the festival, is decorated with Southern smilax. Over each window is hung an enormous red bow beneath which are red stars. On each side of the stage stand tall white candelabrum in which white candles are burning.

The decorations have been arranged by Mrs. H. C. Meacham, Mrs. George D. Bond, Mrs. Edna Taylor and Mrs. D. O. Belew.

The stage itself is decorated to represent a gypsy camp. In the center of a stage strewn with autumn leaves is a tepee in which a fortune teller presides.

At the various booths sponsored by clubs affiliated with the Woman's Club are to be found various articles, which range from more practical items, like foods, to gift novelties.

The Junior Woman's Club has an interesting baby booth in which are displayed hand-made baby clothes. The Euterpean Club is sponsoring a "mystery" pack-

The Penelope Club has one of the most unusual booths. Here are to be found fruits, blooming flowers and singurg birts. The Monday Book Club has a White Elephant booth. Here, one finds Italian wine sets, handkerchiefs, toys and various other items. The Womans Wednesday Club has followed its usual custom of displaying curios collected by members during their summer travels.

Aprons of all kinds and sizes are displayed by the Cadmean Club. The Fort Worth Branch, American Association of University Women, has a display of books, magazines, maps and prints.

The History Club's contribution to the festival are two quilts, one in dogwood blossom design and the other in poppy design. The quilts were made by the members.

Other well-stocked booths offer for sale, candies, cakes, salads, meat loaves and other foods.

The bazar will close with a bridge dinner Thursday night. All articles not sold by then will be auctioned off. That afternoon the club will have a baby show.

The festival is open to the public. Mrs. W. H. Moore is

BACK YARD GARDEN for 1933.

Bought $2.00 worth of seeds

Raised almost all varieties of vegetables, herbs, etc.

Canned 21 quarts of green beans
22 pints of tomatoes
18 pints of beets

13 quarts of peaches 7 pints of pickles

2 pints fig preserves

Also put up good supplies of sage garlic red pepper

I gave many neighbors vegetables every few days over a period ofer a period of eight months, such as lettuce, radishes onions, spinach, mustard, lima beans, green beans, carrots, beets, cucumbers, green peppers. I estimate that I raised at least three bushels of green peppers

Even as late as the 1st of November I sent a friend in the next block a basket of home grown products, containing:

1 bottle of home made grape juice

1 can of beets

1 can of tomatoes
1 jar of dried garlic
1 jar of dried sage
1 bunch green onions

1 bunch parsley

1 bunch mint

1 dozen eggs. fresh home produced

2 dozen green peppers

l jar plum preserves

1 dozen fresh figs

2 bunches carrots

RUGS

Last winter I finished 2 large braided rugs that my Mother had started to make. They were made entirely of woden rags from old garments that were so worn or moth eaten they were unfit to send to the Old Clothes Depot, but by cutting out the better parts of the goods I made two very thick pretty rugs about 4½ X 6 feet in size, sewing them together with heavy carpet warp so they will last a lifetime. They have many bright colors in them and as I carefully turned in all raw edges, they can be turned and used either side up. These cost absolutely nothing as the carpet warp was some we had on hand for twenty years.

Village Creek Was Site For an Indian Village; And Later Ranger Camp

Six Flags Chapter, D.A.R., Will Place Marker There Wednesday; Many Stories Told Upr. 28# Of Happenings at Village

By EDITH ALDERMAN GUEDRY Press Woman's Page Editor

may 2 red A T 6 p. m. Wednesday, the local Six Flags Chapter, D.A.R., will place a marker near the Village Creek bridge about 10 miles out on the Dallas Pike, to show the location of an historic Indian Village once there.

The D.A.R.'s are co-operating with the Roosevelt administration in trying to rectify some of the Americans' mistakes of the past in the seizing of Indian lands. This will be just a small way of paying tribute to their memory. The late hour has been chosen for the Camp Fire Girls' firelighting ceremony at the close.

Village Creek is rich in historic romance. The exact site of the village was a little to the south of the present Village Creek highway bridge. It was this village that gave the creek its name.

Authorities differ as to what Indian tribes lived there before the village was established in 1840. The Comanches were there at times, also the Caddos. Other tribes, too, knew of the fertile soil around Village Creek and would come in the spring to raise their grain crops, then follow the wild game and be off again.

THE story goes that Texas Indians along about this time were not the savages of later years. But some of them were incited by the Mexicans to attack the few white settlers and on this it later became a Ranger camp. In account the Texas Republic felt justified in driving the Indians gradually from their old Village

About 1840 the Texas Rangers drove all of them away and the Indians in reprisal came back and burned the white men's camp.

Among the first white settlers Among the lirst white settlers to come in after that was a little band of settlers, led by Major Jonathan Bird. They immediately erected a pioneer stockade fort, known variously as Bird Fort, Camp Bird and Bird States.

They encountered great diffi-culty in finding sufficient food for subsistence. They had counted for subsistence. They had counted on securing food from the country roundabout but the Indians' fire had driven all game and birds away. So the first Winter at Bird Fort was arduous indeed for the settlers.

It was at this time that the two first white men known to be buried in Tarrant County lost their lives. John B. Denton, a member of Bird's party, was the first of these. He was killed by the Indians while watering his horse in the Trinity River. The settlers rescued his body and buried it near a creek, now called Denton Creek. Denton Creek.

Denton Creek.

The second man to lose his life was a Mr. Rattan, who went with a Mr. Silkwood and Captain Webb 15 miles up Elm Creek in search of food. Mr. Rattan was shot by the Indians. His companions had to leave his body, but returned nine days later to find it later became a Ranger camp. In 1845, Edward Terrell made his way there from a Comanche camp at Cold Spring to seek the Rang-ers' aid in releasing his compan-ion, William Lusk, who was be-ing held at Cold Springs by the Indians.

Terrell and Lusk had arrived at Cold Spring from Fort Smith with a large supply of flour to sustain them on a long trading trip. They came unexpectedly upon Eagle Eye's Comanche camp at Cold Spring.

They quickly made friends with the women and children by pre-senting them with a few trinkets from their trading packs. And Terrell used his talent as a cook to make friends with Eagle Eye. He made hot biscuits for him from his wheat flour and Eagle Eye, tasting them for the first Eye, tasting them for the first time, considered them a great delicacy with antelope. Terrell had to make biscuits every day after that but soon the flour was gone. Under the guise of going after more, Terrell made his way from camp, presumably for Fort Smith, but in reality for Fort Bird and Village Creek, to bring back Rangers to rescue Lusk.

These and other stories are told of exciting happenings around Village Creek. The Six Flags Chapter, in placing a marker upon the spot where they happened, is bringing to light colorful episodes in the history of our county.

D A R Regent Will Speak at Marker Dedication Today

A brief address will be given by Mrs. W. H. Booth, regent of Six Flags Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at dedication of a marker on the banks of Village Creek about sundown today.

The marker will be placed near the site of an Indian village from which the stream took its name in the days of the Republic of Texas. As in all frontier countries, creeks were of primary importance as a source of water for pioneers and their stock as well as because of their use as a thoroughfare to supplement scattered trails.

The site once was popular as a camping ground for both the Comanche and Caddo tribes. All evidences of habitation were destroyed in 1840, however, when Indians set fire to the village from which the Texas Rangers had driven them. Maj. Jonathan Bird later established a fort on the banks of the creek.

The program will begin at 6 p. m. Mrs. H. F. Leach, incoming regent, will give a historical sketch and the marker will be unveiled by Helen Jeanne Carpenter and Frances Gary, Children of the American Revolution. Miss Laura King is program chairman.

U. S. Constitution Is 'Living Thing'

"The Constitution is not an archaic pronouncement, it is a living thing," Raymond E. Buck, attorney and chairman of the state executive committee of the Young Democrats, told members of the Fort Worth Kiwanis Club yesterday at the Hotel Texas.

Interpretation of the document in the light of present day conditions is the thought today, Buck said, citing recent decisions of the Su-preme Court.

"The more we study it and understand it, the more we are able to obey its commands," the speaker declared. "To obey its commands we must know it, and to know it is to respect it.

Fort Worth D. A. R.'s Rally to Cause Of U. S. Constitution

In Its Commemoration Sept. 17, They Appeal To Americans to Appreciate The Heritage Which Is Theirs

By EDITH ALDERMAN GUEDRY Press Woman's Page Editor

THE three Fort Worth Daughters of the American Revo-L lution chapters are responding to a call from their President General, Mrs. Russell William Magna, Washington, ral, Mrs. Russell William Magna, Washington, D. C., to observe Constitution Day, Sept. 17.

She has issued the call: "Know your Constitution. Know your history. Believe in your government. Celebrate Sept. 17 as Constitution Day, with all the loyal fervor of true Americans and as members of your National Society. God is in, His Heaven, and all will be well with the world."

So the three local regents. Mrs. Hubert

So the three local regents, Mrs. Hubert F. Leach of the Six Flags Chapter, Mrs. E. H. Beall of the Mary Isham Keith Chapter, and Miss Cora Posey of the Fort Worth Chapter, are planning a series of radio programs and talks on and before Constitution Day. The Fort Worth Chapter will present Judge E. W. Bounds in a talk "The Constitution and Its Application" on that day at the Texas.

RECOGNIZING that the "Con-R stitution binds the states of the American Union in a govern-ment unity in everything that af-fects the welfare of all," the D. A. R.'s as a patriotic group feel it is their duty to call its observance to the attention of the pub. THE institution of "Constitution Day"

Down thru nearly half a cen-tury of its existence, the society has developed a well-defined program for the commemoration of Constitution Day.

So important is its study considered by women leaders of today that other groups, including the Women's National Republic Club, have followed in line with the D. A. R.'s and issued calls to its

The Republican Women's national leader, Mrs. George A. Wyeth, New York, points out that "Under our Constitution, each human being has a richer life than is possible anywhere else in the world." than is possible anywhere else in the world. One reason for our pre-eminence in everything is the political freedom and education of the masses which are guaranteed by that important paper, drawn up and signed so long ago by those far-sighted men who were influenced by no political motives, but only by humanitarian ones."

I wonder if we appreciate the heritage which is ours. It is well that groups like the D. A. R. and others are calling the Constitution to our attention, so that we may pause and think on its meaning now as we draw near the 147th anniversary of its adoption.

Constitution Week.

almost as old as the great document itself. Each year the American people are invited to turn, on one day, or during the week, to contemplation of the document which is the foundation and groundwork of the Nation. This annual observance has been going on year after year with perhaps a minimum of actual and effective study of the Constitution. And all the time things of vast import have been happening-to us, and to the Constitution.

In the last two years we have witnessed two demonstrations of the fact that the Constitution is a living body. The failed experiment of prohibition was brought to an end and the dead tissue of that experiment sloughed off from the living tissue of the Constitution. In connection with various measures of the New Deal, it is revealed that the Constitution can not be held down to rigidity and impotence by its own forms.

These are happenings of the past two years. They show that the Constitution not only is alive, but is growing and altering in that aliveness, and is therefore to be watched and studied the more by those who would understand our privileges and our duties under the government we are even yet building.

Constitution Week in 1934 takes on a livelier significance. Study of the Constitution today not only is the citizen's duty, but it can be, and often is, positively exciting.

1—THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

What You Should Know About the Constitution

This is the first of a series of six articles reviewing the history and contents of the U.S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

THE Constitution of the United States, which is 147 years old on Sept. 17, is an outgrowth of the failure of the Articles of Confederation, by which the original 13 colonies held together during the Revolution.

Under the Confederation, there was no president to enforce the laws. Congress could not raise money directly and the states were lax in furnishing funds.

Furthermore, Congress could not regulate commerce among the states and with foreign countries, and could not even prevent the states from issuing paper money.

So Congress called a meeting in Philadelphia, "to revise the Articles of Confederation." The greatest men of the time took part in that convention. George Washington lent dignity and solemnity to it. Benjamin Franklin, then 82, gave of his experience and wisdom.

James Madison made a thoro study of previous conventions in history and drew up the famous "Virginia Plan," which became the basis of the Constitution.

But not before several compromises had been effected. Three compromises are most important. The first resulted in a two-house legislature, the Senate having equal state representation to appease the smaller states; the House of Representatives having proportional representation to appease the larger of the states.

A second compromise permitted counting slaves as three

This is the first of a series of six articles reviewing the history and contents of the U.S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

THE Constitution of the United States, which is 147 years old on Sept. 17, is an outgrowth of the failure of the Articles of Confederation, by which the original 13 colonies held together during the Revolution.

Under the Confederation, there was no president to enforce the laws. Congress could not raise money directly and the states were lax in furnishing funds.

Furthermore, Congress could not regulate commerce among the states and with foreign countries, and could not even prevent the states from issuing paper money.

So Congress called a meeting in Philadelphia, "to revise the Articles of Confederation." The greatest men of the time took part in that convention. George Washington lent dignity and solemnity to it. Benjamin Franklin, then 82, gave of his experience and wisdom.

James Madison made a thoro study of previous conventions in history and drew up the famous "Virginia Plan," which became the basis of the Constitution.

But not before several compromises had been effected. Three compromises are most important. The first resulted in a two-house legislature, the Senate having equal state representation to appease the smaller states; the House of Representatives having proportional representation to appease the larger states.

A second compromise permitted counting slaves as threefifths, for both taxation and representation. And the third agreement satisfied the North with the passage of navigation acts by a majority of Congress, and the South with importation of slaves for the next 20 years, at a tax of no more than $10 a head.

And so the Constitution was signed Sept. 17, 1789, ar submitted to the states for ratification by at least nine of to 13. New Hampshire became the ninth state on June 21, 1788, and the Constitution then became the fundamental law A the United States.

NEXT: Legislative provisions of the Constitution.

THE Constitution of the United States divides the government into three important branches, each devised to be what has been termed a "check" and a "balance" to the other two.

As against the legislative, therefore, stand the executive and the judiciary. Article Two defines powers of the president and how he is to be chosen. The manner of choice has been changed by amendment, but the original method was by means of electors chosen by the various states.

The electors were to vote for two candidates, the one receiving the greatest number of votes, if a majority, becoming president, the second highest, vice president.

Otherwise, the House of Representatives was to choose the president from the five highest.

Article Two also makes the president commander-in-chief of the army, navy and militia of the states, and gives him power, with Senatorial consent, to make treaties and appoint major officials under him.

Article Three vests judicial powers in a supreme court and such inferior courts as Congress may establish. It determines the scope of federal jurisprudence, provides for trial by jury and defines treason.

Under Article Four, equal rights are assured as among the citizens of all states, provision is made for return of escaped slaves, and for return of escaped prisoners.

Another section anticipates admission of new states into the Union, and another guarantees to all states a republican form of government and protection from invasion.

Article Five provides for amendments to the Constitution. Article Six establishes supremacy of the Constitution over all other laws of the land and forbids any religious test for holding office. It also accepts responsibility for all public debts of the Confederation.

The Sixth and last article provides for ratification of the Constitution by nine of the 13 states, to make it effective.

NEXT: The "Bill of Rights."

This is the fourth a series of six articles reviewing the history and contents of the U.S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

No sooner was the Constitution ratified than several basic objections were made. In fact, some of the states ratified the document on condition that certain amendments be added that would protect the states from invasion of their rights by the national government.

These amendments, numbering 10, were soon designated popularly as the "Bill of Rights." They were proposed at the first session of Congress, September 25, 1789, and declared in force, December 15, 1791.

Amendment No. 1—Guarantees freedom of religion, of speech, and of the press; and gives right of peaceable assemblage and petition.

Amendment No. 2—Provides the right to bear arms.

Amendment No. 3—Forbids quartering of soldiers in private home in time of peace.

Amendment No. 4-Forbids "searches and seizures" without warrant.

Amendment No. 5—Guarantees jury trial and other rights of accused persons; forbids taking of private property without "just compensation."

Amendment No. 6-Gives further guarantees of speedy, public, and impartial trials in criminal cases.

Amendment No. 7—Guarantees the right to jury trial in suits at common law.

Amendment No. 8-Prohibits excessive bail, excessive fines, and "cruel and unusual punishment."

Amendment No. 9-Reserves to the people the rights not enumerated in the Constitution.

Amendment No. 10-Reserves to the states, or to the people, the rights not delegated to the United States.

The last two amendments above—No. 9 and No. 10—were designed to prevent encroachment of the federal government upon the rights of the states as well as upon those of the citizens.

NEXT: The next 11 amendments.

This is the fifth of a series of six articles reviewing the history and contents of the U.S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

Besides the Bill of Rights, the Constitution has had only 11 other amendments added to it in its 147 years of existence. These amendments, with dates of their adoption and their ratification, are:

Amendment No. 11—Provides that the judicial power of the United States shall not extend to suits by a citizen of one state against another state, or by a foreigner against a state. (Adopted by Congress March 15, 1794; ratified Jan. 8, 1798.)

Amendment No. 12—Provides for separate election of president and vice president by the electoral college. (Adopted Dec. 12, 1803; ratified Sept. 25, 1804.)

Amendment No. 13-Abolishes slavery. (Adopted Feb. 1, 1865; ratified Dec. 18, 1865.)

Amendment No. 14—Extends citizenship to all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and forbids any state to "deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law." (Adopted June 16, 1866; ratified July 23, 1868.)

Amendment No. 15—Forbids discrimination "on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude." (Adopted Feb. 27, 1869; ratified March 30, 1870.)

Amendment No. 16—Gives Congress power to tax incomes. (Adopted July 12, 1909; ratified Feb. 25, 1913.)

Amendment No. 17-Provides for popular election of senators. (Adopted May 16, 1912; ratified May 31, 1913.)

Amendment No. 18—Forbids the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors. (Adopted Dec. 18, 1917; ratified Jan. 29, 1919; repealed by Amendment No. 21.)

Amendment No. 19—Gives equal suffrage to men and women. (Adopted June 4, 1919; ratified Aug. 26, 1920.)

Amendment No. 20—Abolishes "lame duck" sessions of Congress; provides for presidential succession; changes Inauguration Day to Jan. 20. (Adopted March 2, 1932; ratified Jan. 24, 1933.)

Amendment No. 21-Repeals the 18th Amendment. (Adopted Feb. 20, 1933; ratified Dec. 5, 1933.)

history and contents of the b. S. Constitution, in observance of "Constitution Week" and the 147th anniversary of the Constitution's birth, Sept. 17, 1787.

A BOUT 3000 amendments to the Constitution of the United States have been proposed since 1789, but only 21 have become part of that document, and one has already been repealed.

Four other proposals were adopted by Congress, but failed of ratification, while a fifth, the Child Labor Amendment of 1934, passed Congress, has been ratified by 20 states, rejected by 12, and faces final rejection on the negative vote of only one more state.

Of the four amendments passed by Congress, but not ratified, two of 1789 related to compensation of senators and representatives and apportionment of the House of Representatives.

In 1810 Congress offered an amendment to the states prohibiting citizens from accepting rewards, offices, or money from any foreign government. It was ratified by 12 states, but couldn't get the 13th necessary for adoption.

Only three states ratified the Corwin amendment of 1861. which prohibited any amendment to the Constitution abolishing slavery.

The remaining mass of proposals covered subjects all the way from changing the wording of the Preamble to include reference to God to changing the name of the United States.

One proposed amendment would abolish the army and navy, another would require both Houses to vote by electricity, and a third would make a law ineffective as soon as a majority of those it affected voted against it.

I seemed that any member of Congress with a peculiar theory proposed an amendment to the Constitution to make that theory effective. These ideas were not only political, but sociological and religious.

During the first 100 years of this government, 1300 amendments were proposed, and from 1889 on there have been at least another 1500. There have been a score of proposals for the eight-hour day, as many for the initiative and referendum, almost a score limiting the veto power of the president, and more than three-score enlarging these powers.

But the wheels of the amendment machinery move very slowly and appear to break down long before ratification has been reached. And that is why our Constitution has endured, with only 21 changes, since it was created 147 years ago this week.

Pointing out that the executive functions were outstanding during the administrations of colorful Presidents, he enumerated two factors which tend to make the present Administration of that sort: (1) the unusual strength of the President, and (2) the existing extraordinary emergency.

Dr. White explained that this is justifiable on the basis of an emergency, but that a tendency to make it permanent would submerge the foundations of the Government and the genius of the Constitution.

Section 2. Amendments shall take effect at the close of the meeting at which they are adopted.

The Golden Anniversary of the Pledge to the Flag

(An observance suggested by Miss Elizabeth Malott Barnes, Chairman, Correct Use of the Flag Committee, National Society, D. A. R.)

One of the outstanding features of United States of America. For many World's Columbian Exposition in Chi-cago, October 21, 1892, was the Na"At a signal from the Principal the cago, October 21, 1892, was the National Public School Celebration of Columbus Day, when the Pledge to the Flag was given by about 12,000,-000 patriotic public school pupils in practically every profusely decorated school house in the nation.

The fiftieth or Golden anniversary of that momentous ceremony will occur Oct. 21, 1942, the date first designated as Columbus Day but later changed to October 12 and made a legal holiday

tion by Congress, President Benjamin Harrison, whose wife was the first President General, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolu-tion, issued a proclamation on July 21, 1892, designating October 21, 1892, as a general holiday in observance of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus and the dedica-tion of the World's Columbian Exposition, in which the following para-

"The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment, and it is peculiarly the day's demonstra-tion. Let the National Flag float over every school house in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon the youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship."

To formulate a program in line with the President's suggestion, at the annual meeting of the State Superintendants of Education held in Brooklyn, a committee was appointed to prepare a program for universal use on the day designated by the President, and the Chairman of the commitee, Mr. Francis Bellamy, a member of the editorial staff of The Youth's Companion, published in Boston, wrote the original Pledge to the Flag and aided in preparing the fol-lowing uniform program for the use of all schools throughout the country to give a patriotic and impressive unity to the popular celebration.

Inasmuch as the public schools of Chicago were closed Columbus Day, the National Public School Celebration took place the previous Wednesday, and on Friday, the 21st, a Flag ceremony was given by 1800 pupils dressed in red, white and blue, and arranged to form a human Star Span-pupils, in ordered ranks, hands to the sides, face the Flag. Another signal is given; every pupil gives the Flag the military salute—right hand lifted, palm downward, to the line of the forehead and close to it. Standing thus, all repeated together, slowly:

"I pledge allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all."

At the words, 'to my Flag,' the In accordance with a Joint Resolu-right hand is extended gracefully, on by Congress, President Benjamin palm upward, toward the Flag, and remains in this gesture till the end of the affirmation; whereupon all hands immediately drop to the side. Then standing, as the instruments strike a cord, all will sing America."

Now that our brave fighting forces of the nation are following the Flag to all parts of the world in an effort to make it a fit, safe and sane place in which to live, the many millions of students attending school might well re-enact the 1892 Columbus Day program with these slight changes:

(1) Reading of Section 7 of the Joint Resolution by Congress recently signed by the President relative to the manner of giving the Pledge to

(2) Raising of the Flag by American Legionnaires.

(3) Unchanged. (4) Unchanged.

(5) Song-Star Spangled Banner, our National anthem.

(6) Unchanged.

(7) Song-America.

General John Palmer, Commander in Chief, Grand Army of the Republic. issued instructions to all G.A.R. posts throughout the nation to par-ticipate in the Columbus Day exercises a half century ago to more thoroughly imbue the youth of the land with the true spirit of patriotism and love of country by assisting in the raising of the Flag and the salute thereto and in their other exercises and parades.

The original wording of the Pledge to the Flag was made use of until June 14-15, 1923, when the First National Flag Conference called by the American Legion, composed of delegates from the principal national patriotic, fraternal, educational and civic organizations, changed the words "to my Flag" to read "to the Flag of the United States," as it had been found that many foreigners who had become naturalized citizens did not fully understand just what flag was meant by "my Flag"; whether the flag of the country of their birth or of their adopted country, nor were many of their American-born children sure; and at the Second National Flag Conference held in Washington May 15, 1924, the words "of America" were added to more clearly designate that the Flag of the United States of America is the Flag to which the Pledge is given.

On June 22, 1942, President Roosevelt signed a Joint Resolution of Congress to codify and emphasize existing page 446, shows the manner in which rules and customs pertaining to the years patriotic organizations endeavored to have this done and they are now much pleased with the law, which is practically the same as the Flag Codes of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, of which Mrs. William H. Pouch is President General, American Legion, U. S. Army and the U. S. Navy, so that new codes will not need to be printed until additional supplies are required, when the necessary slight changes may be made.

The manner of giving the Pledge to the Flag has been a controversal question among certain groups but no longer need be as Section 7 of the Joint Resolution has settled the matter in a clear and concise manner,

"That the pledge of allegiance to the flag, "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all," be rendered by standing with the right hand over the heart; extending the right hand, palm upward, toward the flag at the words, 'to the flag' and holding this position until the end, when the hand drops to the side.

However, civilians will always show full respect to the flag when the pledge is given by merely standing at attention, men removing the headdress. Persons in uniform shall render the military salute."

It might be well to especially note that the bill provides that citizens of the United States not desiring to participate in the group giving of the Pledge to the Flag may merely stand at attention during the ceremony, the men removing the headdress, while persons in uniform are to continue giving the military salute as usual.

During the past fifty years millions and millions of citizens have pledged allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, which symbolizes our representative form of government, and never since the birth of our nation has our country been so ruth-lessly assailed, so let us re-affirm our pledge to Old Glory and unitedly work and fight to the end, if need be, for the preservation of the many priceless blessings our forefathers gained for us through unprecedented and heroic sacrifices of blood and treasure that we may long remain a free and independent nation, and with that end in view each and every D.A.R. Chapter in the United States should celebrate as suggested and in addi-tion thereto arrange similar ceremonies in the schools in their respective districts and by so doing make the celebration a golden glorification of THE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OF THE PLEDGE TO THE FLAG.

Mrs. Alonzo Newton Benn, National Chairman D.A.R. Committee on Arrangements for Celebrating the Golden Anniversary of the Pledge to the Flag.

SIX FLAGS CHAPTER

October 13, 1934.

Constitution Week Observance program of Six Flags Chapter was as follows:

We telephoned all our local members and sent cards to those out of town, requesting them to read the Constitution 85% reported having read it. within the week.

A letter was sent to the Superintendent of Public Schools, asking observance in the city schools. The school office then sent a letter to each school in the city with suggested plans for deservance of the week, and the response was general. The vice-principal of Central High School was contacted by our chairman, and he gave enthusiastic endorsement and co-operation. We learned that it is now a requirement for graduation from the Fort Worth high schools that a course of study of the Constitution must be completed.

The General Session of the P.T.A. Council in session September 17 was addressed by the chapter chairman and regent.

A letter, with like request, from our chapter chairman of National Defense was sent to:

The president of Texas Christian University Texas Woman's College Baptist Seminary Our Lady of Victory College Laneri College Jewish Institute Brantley Draughon Business College Fort Worth Business College.

Each member of the chapter contacted the minister of her church, asking recognition of Constitution Week either by announcement at service or by sermon on September 16. A total of 125 of the 145 ministers of the city received these requests, by additional help of a chapter committee. Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, one colored Baptist and one colored Methodist, were included; and response was unanimous and enthusiastic.

Our regent wrote Bothwell Kane Post, American Legion, commending their plan to make Fort Worth "Constitution conscious", and stating Six Flags Chapter's The Legion chairman expressed plans already under way. responsibility for contacting men's dinner and lunch clubs and displaying the flag. The Fort Worth Record-Telegram ran editorials on the Constitution. A series of "What You Should Know About Your Constitution" appeared daily through the week in the Press. Reading notices of the speakers and radio programs appeared in each of our three papers.

Radio Station KFJZ donated our chapter a quarter hour period daily, 10:30 to 10:45, in which the following program was given: (each number preceded by a strain of Star Spangled Banner)-

Monday- "A Message From the President General of N.S.D.A.R." By Mrs. Hubert F. Leach, regent.

Tuesday- "Events Leading Up to the Adoption of the Constitution." By Mrs. John D. Jarrott, Radio chaorman. Wednesday- "The Constitution". By Mrs. J. M. Purvis, Vice State Chairman Division 2, Girl Home Makers.

Thursday- "Personnel of Members of Constitutional Convention". By Miss Laura King, ex-regent; Vice State Chairman Div. 2, Constitution Week Observance Program.

Friday- "The Constitution" by Hon. Willis McGregor, assistant district attorney, district judge elect.

Saturday- Patriotic Poems, by Miss Elizabeth Leach, chairman C.A.R.

In inviting Mr. McGregor to speak on our program we told him it was to express our appreciation of the clean campaign he had made in a primary that was mostly the reverse of clean and orderly.

The members of Six Flags Chapter thoroughly enjoyed their efforts to carry out the spirit of the week.

Feminine Despite Her Ability; Changes Hats for Occasions

Pins Own Bouquet on Woman Because She Likes Her Looks; Possesses Beautiful Arms and Hands

BY MARY CARTER TOOMEY.

Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, with all the technical endowments which the office demands, is essentially feminine—so much so that she changes a feathered hat worn at luncheon for a soft velvet tam at tea. although the severe black frock is the same, and chooses for a serious evening lecture on the economic future of our country a flowing gown of black lace which enhances the expressive beauty of her arms and hands.

She pinned her own bouquet of roses upon Mrs. E. P. Turner at a tea given in her honor with no more explanation than this feminine intuition: "I want you to have this. I don't even know your name, but I surely like your looks." The bouquet was divided later by Mrs. Turner among

Although she was in Dallas Sunday night and Monday morning, her whereabouts were a deep secret until she arrived for the luncheon tendered by the lecture committe of the Woman's Club, which sponsored her appearance Monday night at Mc-Farlin Auditorium.

Wouldn't Speak; Talked 15 Minutes.

Again proving herself feminine, Miss Perkins announced at luncheon that she would answer any questions the members would ask-although it had been made quite plain that she would not speak. Upon a question from Mrs. Henry Exall Sr. concerning child labor, she launched into a fifteen-minute history of the child labor movement, concluding with approval for the proposed Federal amendment on child labor.

Upon questions from Mrs. Maurice Turner about immigration, Miss Perkins gave a resume of immigration and deportation in the last few years, discussing especially the immigration laws affecting Texas and Mexico.

Miss Perkins was introduced to the Woman's Club membership by Mrs. John Sparger, first vice president, in a short receiving line, and was presented at a luncheon by Mrs. Wirt Davis, chairman of the lecture corn-

Church women later demanded the marmalade and Mrs. Jarrott conceived the idea of putting it on the market and ordered some jars and labels.

One of the first men she saw was Harry Platter, of the Waples-Platter company. Instead of a rebuff, he gave her kindly advice and promised to boost her product among local store men altho he told her she should sell it to them direct, so that she could keep them interested.

She is still as interested in it as when she started and has built her business in time she took off from rearing the daughter, a son, John D. Jr., and the demands of a half-dozen church, women's and civic organizations.

Quite a contrast is the display of Mrs. Adams. She manufactures all kinds of chisels, punches, digging tools, hay, box and cotton hooks, drills, wrecking bars, stone masons' tools and water pump leathers, leather washers, oil well cup leathers, U-crim leathers and asbestos gaskets.

A New Constitution.

THE United States of America does not need a new Constitution - as many persons believe. It needs a very few amendments to the present one.

The difficulty with the Constitution is the lack of general understanding of its reason for existence and a general misunderstanding of its intent. The first is represented by the average run of American citizens. The second is the class which makes its living from interests closely allied with affairs of government and the laws of the land. Between the two the Constitution has been knowing a rather unhappy time of the last one-third of its experimental age.

The need of the present moment is to discover how extremely difficult it should be to apply "unconstitutionality" to the subjects which people have been predicating on a "liberty" that is a constitutional concession of "license." The largest single criticism fairly to lodge against the Constitution is that an act of Congress is too far away and by a too devious route from the Department of Government which alone, has the right to say if it fits the vehicle of government. At this time there are a score or more of test cases pointed toward the United States Supreme Cour and the decrees of the district courts are as vagarious as are the interests they rep resent. When they reach that highes tribunal there will be a decision. The vot more than likely will be 5 to 4 and the decree will explain more or less in detail that the peculiar conditions of the particular test case were given more meticulour consideration than was th broader principle of constitutionality.

SIX FLAGS CHAPTER N. S. D. A. R. Fort Worth. September 15. 1932.

To each Chapter Member:

With our first meeting so close, I realize more than ever how little opportunity I have to talk to our members and consult them about our plans for the year. I am therefore giving you this letter in advance of our first meeting on October 13, to outline some of the events of the summer and several matters that will have to be voted upon at the first meeting, so you can be dediding what should be done.

As for the events since our May meeting, you will hear the report of our Flag Day picnic from Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Leach. Some one will report on our beautiful garden party on June 10 at Mrs. Purvis's. Then on May 15 our chapter, by invitation from the Daughters of 1812, particupated in the dedication of the monument placed at the grave of General Edward H. Tarrant; our bouquet of gadiolus was a beautiful addition to the flowers placed on the grave by the other patriotic societies. Also, on June 7 Mrs. Peters, of the Daughters of the Texas Republic, asked that your regent serve on the state executive board for the 1936 Texas Centennial, to work in an educational way only, with no outlay of money, as the plan is to solicit the legislature to appropriate funds for the centennial.

During the summer we sent in applications for two new members, Mrs. H. P. Ross and Miss Margery Babb. Miss Babb met some difficulty in similarity of names in the ancestral line she at first offered, and Washington wrote her that she had an acceptable line in the services of her ancestress. Blanche Mercer Babb, in furnishing 100 pounds of mutton to the Continental Army and later having the thriftiness to prove it in court. It is considered a special honor and distinction to come in to D.A.R. on a woman's services. Mrs. O.P. Bombarger's papers are completed and she has paid her fees, but has not yet gotten around to the notary.

Here is a compliment from our State Regent, Mrs. McFaddin:

"Let me compliment your chapter upon the emergency measure as to reduction of chapter dues, though I know such reduction must of necessity cut down your state pledges. However, the preeminent thing for us to do us to retain membership, and high chapter dues have been the cause of many resignations. When times have changed, the dues may again be raised, and I think such action will meet with full approval."

Mrs. McFaddin also thanked me for sending her the Fundamentalist extra, the Norris paper, showing the picture of the negro secretary of the radical lecturer who appeared at Baylor commencement last spring. The paper was turned over to the National Defense chairman. Mrs. McFaddin asks that we all send in such items.

Mrs. Ball will have the October 13 meeting at her home at 2503 Carter. For lack of telephoning time, I cannot say now who will be the joint hostesses. The meeting opens at 2:30 P.M. If anything comes up needing the action of the Executive Board, the members will be notified later.

Please bring to this meeting your offering for our Ellis Island box, yarn, cotton embroidery thread, or shirting material being especially requested. Please do not forget this, so we can report a box sent before State Conference. Mrs. Wellborn is the chairman.

I had hoped to be able to announce all our committees in this letter, but I just was not able to talk to everybody. I hoped to be able to relieve chapter officers of committee duty, but this will not be possible in every case.

Mrs. Parks, our corresponding secretary, has loyally consented to be chairman of the very important Conservation and Thrift Committee, and with her I shall ask Mrs. Edelbrock to serve, as her record alone with the farm she has reclaimed this year will give us an excellent report. But we have many other things to report in this line, so please be prepared to give to Mrs. Parks your list of trees and shrubs planted, flower and vegetable gardens grown, dresses and hats made over, draperies and cushion covers made of this and that of a thrifty nature, stone fences built or old fences repaired—we all do these things every day and if we can just list them, we will have an impressive report.

An appeal is made to all of us to take the D.A.R. Magazine, asit will have to be discontinued if not better patronized. It is invaluable to any D.A.R. memmer and we all know that we should read it. It is now offered for two years for $3.00 instead of $2.00 a year. Some one will be ready to serve at the October meeting to see if we cannot make up some club subscriptions. Four of us living in the same part of town could pay 75% each and each one keep the Magazine a week out of the month. At the end of the year, we would either divide the Magazines.— and each numner is a treasure— or decide to place the whole file in some of the school libraries. If you will join in this, and we all should, please come prepared to authorize the chapter treasures to pay your part of the $3.00, as subscriptions are handled through her.

The National Society has combined several of the committees. National Defense and Patriotic Education were merged. Mrs. King has been released from National Defense, for other duty of which more later, and we must have some one else to serve with Mrs. Leach on this big combined committee. Old Trails and Preservation of Historic Spots were also combined, and Mrs. Kelso and Miss Martha Darnall are already working together to complete the marking of the "Old Frenchman's Well" for which we have voted $5.00.

For the Publicity Committee I asked Mrs. Wayman to serve because she never forgets it. I really felt that after her arduous term as regent she was entitled to an easy year this time, but we do not have enough good workers that we can afford to lay one off. She and Mrs. Purvis have consented to take the Entertainment Committee, which may or may not be heavy duty.

For the Year Book I was pleased to learn that practically all the old established chapters make it a rule to turn the Year Book over to the Vice-Regent, so Mrs. Booth, with a committee, will certainly be expected to place our chapter up in the high class.

FIRST and most urgent right now-- Constitution Week, beginning with Constitution Day, September 17, should be observed by every D.A.R. chapter. As our celebration, let's every one of read the Constitution; When we studied it in school, it was more or less just another less n; reading it now, we realize its bast meaning and see in its amendments the significant steps of our national history, recognizing that with all our faults and failures we do belong to the best planned nation of the world. At roll call at the first meeting, answer Yes or No that you have read the Constitution. Let'shave a full roster of "Yes" on this, as it is all we will have to report on this important feature.

Second, we must elect our delegate and alternates to State Conference to be held in Austin November 14-17. Our State Regent urges, "The most important duty becomes election of delegates and alternates who will represent their chapters creditably and bringback intelligent and votal information. Scrupulous care must be given to selection of both delegates and alternates, for in the absence of the delegate or regent, the alternate becomes a powerful factor, and this secondary choice should be made-- as thr primary one-- for ability alone, not from personal friendship or preference."

In looking forward, we must also look back.

My own pride and ambition in being regent of Six Flags Chapter is fired by thinking of those who have laid the way for this year. I asked our organizing regent, Mrs.
Galbreath, to put this feeling into words for me, and she says to you:

Though it seems but yesterday that we wwere organized, Six Flags Chapter is now entering the portals of its fourth year. Many expectations which became the motive and inspiration for organization have been fulfilled. From our short history we can take courage, and while there may linger in our memories the shifting shadows and struggles of early events, we deftly close the pearly gates of yesterday and look forward at the aurora of a new day.

I hope the ensuing year may be one of unusual accomplishment. In the development of our work, we should bring in such features of entertainment and enthusiasm that each meeting may challenge the attention of our full membership and be a distinctive event in the up building, progress, patriotism and history of our chapter. As organizing regent, I wish for the chapter a splendid year, which can be achieveed by each one of us giving our hearty cooperation.

ELIA HALL GALBREATH.

Our next regent, Mrs. Bowdry, cannot give me a message for this letter, as she has raed to Dallas this week to escape the nerve rack of the repairing of the house next door. But I know how she has smiled through many a trying moment this past year when we would tell her something about the chapter doings.

The other regent that I know I can't live up to

"I am glad to have this occasion to thank the chapter members for the wonferful cooperation that made the past year such a pleasant and profitable one. I know you will bend every effort to a ssist our new regent in making the year still more out standing.

SUSAN GADSDEN WAYMAN.

My own plea to you is that you keep in mind that these are hard times, we are to be two-thirds poorer in income next year, most of us are very, very busy with many other things. It is just a question of whether we think enough of our chapter to do, each one of us, our share of what is to be done. We all know that we, personally, get the most out of what we put the most into. Let's all see how much Six Flags Chapter can "buy" this year with intelligence and work and cooperation and friendship.

Laura King, Regent.

Remarks of R. B. Hood at Veal's Station May 5, 1935, Homecoming and Memorial Day.

MY FRIENDS LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Today, as ever, I am greatly pleased to be here and to join with you in the services of your homecoming and annual memorial day, set apart to perpetuate the memory of those who gave them being and those you loved in childhood's happy days.

My own opinion is that every human being should have a marker at their grave, and if I had it in my power I would make it a legal requirement that every citizen of thes state and nation should have their resting place on earth marked for identification.

To most of those present on the occasion this is a hallowed and consecrated spot. The very stone in this old hill on which you stand are made sacred by the teass of strong men and noble women.

This home coming and memorial service has a new and added attraction.

This home coming and memorial service has a new and added attraction on this ocassion. We have with us the representative of a noble organization whose exalted purposes are the perpetuation of those principas that founded, built, and have preserved this republic and made it the Mecca of the oppressed of every land, "The Daughters of the American Revolution". And stilled be the voice that would cry out against the elevating purposes of this great and noble organization and palsied be the hand that would strike it from the records of our country.

Although it seems that this great order was founded in the same spirit that Saint Luke wrote his gospel, and yet in the 45 years of its existence its success has been most marvelous. Founded in 1890, in less than half a century it has grown from a first meeting of with only four in attendance until it now has more than two hundred thousand members, and two of the finest and most beautiful buildings in our national capitol, at Washington D. C., the most beautiful city in the world.
On ocassions like this we are continuously and necessarily looking backward, and certainly no other place in this section of the state is more interesting and historic than the spot on which we stand. place, once a flourishing village but only a memory now, was pioneered by as fine a citizenship as ever settled any country, and in the main their children and their grand children and their great grand children, many of whom are present, have preserved that citienship and are among the substantial men and women of this section of the country.

Time forbids any attempt at naming of the outstanding men and women the first country and this section of the country but the pest who first settled this section of the country, but the probably the best known man that ever lived here was the man for whom the place was named, capt. William Veal. A minister of the Gospel, a teacher of the doctrine of the Lowly Nazarine. My friends: I have in fact heard most of the great orators during the time in which I have lived and I doubt most seriously I have ever heard anywhere or at any time a more eloquent man than William Veal -- often times in his flights of oratory it seemed that he could make the leaves fall off the tree. But like most great characters he had a besetting sin which finally was his undoing, and sent him to an untimely grave. But let the mantle of charity fall upon untimely and grave. But him on account of his great abilities.

Personally, I do not know the name of the first settler of this place, nor the date of his coming, but I am reliably informed that he was a wendering, old-time peddler, traveling in an ox wagon, loaded with grindstones, brass lamps, calico, barlow knives, celarated lars, bandana handkerchiefs, and other trinkets as well as useful articles, that pioneers used; that he stopped at the spring just south of he re unyoked his owen, turned them loose to graze, walked out on the prairie, and was so charmed with the beautiful flowers that hexaut perfect May day that he called the place "Creamlevel" and it stuck and so remained until the coming of William Veal.

Personally, I never lived in this willage nor did I ever attend

Personally, I never lived in this village nor did I ever attend school here, but I assume that there has hardly been a year in the last half century that I have not attended some kind of a public gathering at this place, and when I was a lad, living five miles and more away I often listened to the pealing strains of the old steamboat bell that once crowned the HALL nearby and thought they must be akin to the chimes of heaven itself.

Speaking of old thing and old places, it may not be amiss to say a few words about our county and county town. Parker County was established by legistative enactment in 1855, and the County was laid out 30 miles by legistative enactment in 1855, and the county was laid out 30 miles square in 1856. Three places were selected to be voted on for the County seat, which was to be located near the center of the county, and at the election in 1856, Weatherford received more votes than the other two places combined, but it is not in the center of the county, being about three miles southeast of the geographical center. The first court was held in Parker County in 1856, under a post oak tree some six miles northwest of Weatherford, ona prong of Willow Creek, by the side of the old Fort Worth and Ft. Belknap road, presided over by Judge Nat Burford. Parker County for the then representative from Tarrant County, He was born in Georgia, and went to Tennessee as a Isaac Parker. boy and fought in the Indian war of 1814, with Sam Houston, and under General Andrew Jackson. Later he came to Texas and helped to build Fort Parker, near where the town of Grosbeck now stands, and it was at this place that the Indians attacked the Fort, killed most of the men and captured and carried off some of the women and children, among them Cynthia Ann Parker, a nierce of Isaac Parker, who was nine years of age.

She was kept in captivity for 24 years, and was captured by Capt. Sulf Ross, afterward governor of Texas, and taken back to her old home, in Grimes County, where she died some three years later. One of her sons by an Indian father, lived to become the famous Comanche, Quanta Parker.

Weatherford was named for the then State Senator, Jefferson Weatherford, who lived at Lancaster, Dallas County. He was from the State of Illinois. He was a man of education and influence, a successful business man and accumulated quite a fortune. It was my pleasure to have visited his grave remembly some two years ago.

Speaking of Isaac Parker, for whom our County was named, as being a Georgian, Georgia has contributed much to the citizenship and well being of Texas, and Texans. Georgia gave to Texas Mirabeau B Lamar, being of Texas, and Texans. the second president of the republic of Texas. He was an actor, a poet, a lawyer, a soldier, having commanded the cavalry at the battle of San Jacinto. He was an orator and a statesman of marked ability. He was the author of our Homestead Law, being the first law of its kind to have been enacted in any country, and is the real father of public education in our state, and being the first man in the Republic of Texas, to advocate higher education by the use of public funds. This really great man is buried at Richmond, Texas, on the west bank of the Brazos River, and by his side rests the remains of his wife, and near them are buried Deaf Smith, famous as the destroyer of Wince's Bridge, the night before the battle that made Texas free, and near them also is buried Jane Long, k the mother of James Long, who raised the first flag for Taxxx Independence on Texas soil, and lovingly known as the mother of Texas.

The best known citizen that our county has yet produced was an uneducated, but well read farmer, who served our county in the Legislature, Peter Radford by name. Truly he has been aptly called "The Farmer Proxi "Philosopher of America", and so he was. He was not only an honest man but he was big of brain and big of heart. His Philosophical writings for the preservation of those principals on which we this republic was founded, have made his name familiar around the hearthstone of all the humble of the land.

Also it may not be amiss on this ocassion to say a few words about this Empire State of ours. It is kark more than half as large as all of Europe combined, stretching 800 miles east and west and 1300 miles north and south. It has had eight capitals, and lived under six flags first under the French, second Old Spain, third under Mexico, fourth the Lone Star Republic, fifth under the Stars and Stripes, sixth under the flag of the Confederacy, then back under the Stars and Stripes to remain forever. Under six flags and has been an honor to them all. It has had eight capitals, and lived under six flags,

Then the mode of transportation was by ox team, buckboard or on the hurricane deck of a broom-tailed pony, now the country is spanned by great railway systems and cement slabs making neighbors and friends of those who otherwise would have remained strangers forever, and almost every moment, no matter where you are located, can be heard the purring, whir of the marvelous airplane as it speeds through space, at the rate of 200 miles an hour. In fact modern transportation has almost destroyed time and distance. Truly we are made to exclaim: "What hath God wrought"!

But my friends, there are some things that sience, energy, necessity, incommitty personness and processes are not do and there are some things that sience, energy, necessity, ingenuity, perservance and progress can not do. All these combined and all things else that one can imagine, never have and never can change human nature. The same principals that governmen for good and evil when Abraham Isaac and Isaac that Indian William Isaac that Indian Indian Isaac that Indian Isaac that Indian Isaac that Indian Isaac that Isaac that Indian Isaac that Is when Abraham, Isaac and Jacob walked the Judgan Hills are still extant and will continue to govern men and women to the end of time.

But my friends, we cannot live altogether in the past, we are aced withxx new conditions and a new day, and those who do not keep step with the progress of the time, will be left at the post. Let us who yet live do our whole duty individually and collectively xxx preserve xkkisxrex not only to preserve this republic, but let us join with "The Daughters of the American Revolution", to perpetuate the Memory of this Depublic, we want would will the interesting As a mature man, I have visited practically all the interesting places of earth, and have studied the different people and their governments somewhat in detail, and speak from first hand information when I say that in fact as well as theory ours kk is the greatest country beneath the stars. Commercially, politically, religiously, are patriotically, our nation has no counterpart among the nations of the globe.

A republican form of government is no longer an experiment; it is now a living actuality. One hundred and fifty years have proven that there is protection and safety in the wisdom of the masses. It is a great thing for our race when any man or woman, no matter how lowly born, may aspire to be Governor of their State, or even President of the Republicx.

But, my friends, it is a much greater boon when anyone cannot only think as they please, but stand up and say what they think without being thrown into a dungeon by political domination or religious intolerance.

Let us prove ourselves worthy of a noble ancestry-let us this day rededicate our lives to the support of those principles embodied in the Declaration of Independence, in order that our country may continue to be the hope, the inspiration, and the beacon light for the oppressed of every land.

To that end let us join with The Daughters of the American Revolution, not only to preserve the Republic, but to perpetuate the Memory and mark the final resting places of those who made it great.

I am glad to have been here today -- to me it has been a delightful hour, I am glad to have seen your faces again and through you recalled the memory of your ancestors.

I thank you very kindly and bid you all a kind goodbye,

Local D. A. R.'s to Mark Veal Station Community House That Dates to 1857

Historic Bell Used to Ring When Indians Raided Community; House Is Put Together With Wooden Draw Pins

By EDITH ALDERMAN GUEDRY

THE pioneer past in the little community of Veal Station, I in Parker County, near Springtown, will be recalled Sunday when the local Six Flags Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, places a marker at the old community house. The marker, of native stones, bears a bronze plate reading "Pioneer Community House—1857."

If that community house could talk, many might be the strange tales that it would tell, but its past has not been lost entirely. Many old residents in the community know its story and that of the early settlers who lived around it.

The foundation of the structure, still firm and sound, was made of oak timber cut from the Trinity River bottoms. The weather-boarding and flooring were hauled by ox teams from the pine mills in Upshur County. It took six weeks to make a round trip to the lumber mills. Other boards are made of oak timber, split with a frow driven with a wooden mallet. The house is put together with wooden draw pins.

WHEN the house was dedicated with a supper and ball, people came from all of the surrounding country and stayed all night. They were afraid to go home because Indians still rode the North Texas plains and settlers' lives were constantly in danger.

Some may think of a commun-

Some may think of a community house as something entirely modern, but this one at Veal Station was built for that purpose and has been so used ever since. Activities of the past, though, are a little different from today.

When it was first built, community women used to meet there to spin and weave. Names heard among the women in the hall then are still heard there today—Woody, Thompson, Reynolds, McLaughlin, Campbell, Dunagan.

Soldiers stationed around the little community in 1861 began calling the community house Veal Station for Captain Veal who owned a half section of land in and around the little village. Captain Veal always was interested in the community house. and around the little village. Captain Veal always was interested in the community house. He bought a large steamboat bell up from Galveston once and it was mounted in a tower on the hall. The bell was not used to call the people to church but only to warn them that the Indians were raiding in the neighborhood. It was understood that it was never to be rung at night except for this emergency. It could be heard for miles around. miles around.

Not since 1917 have residents heard the clanging tones of the old bell. That year with the World War in full swing, metals were bringing high junk prices and the historic bell was stolen.

One family, the Woody family, has been in the little community longer than the community house. They came in 1852 and in the 83 years since three genera-tions of them have lived on the same farm. They, like a few oth-er families still in the community, obtained their land by patent direct from the state.
On the Woody farm is what is Samuel Woody, born in 1797, who died at 83, Nebuchadnezzar Miller, born in South Carolina in 1789, who lived until 1875, and others.

More than 270 names in the cemetery have been listed by the Six Flags Chapter and will be filed in Parker County and with the Texas Centennial records being prepared for 1936. This local D. A. R. Chapter is performing a real service when it undertakes such a task, and that of marking historic spots like the Veal Station Community House. tion Community House.

Mrs. Galbreath has had an interesting career of community service. During the World War, she was in charge of entertainment for the thousands of soldiers stationed here. Usually her calendar listed five dances a week, and oftentimes she would not be able to turn homeward until after midnight; for likely as not, after the dances were over, it fell her task to see that some of the unescorted girls were safely home.

Mrs. Galbreath had on her list more than 300 girls whom she could call upon to assist in entertaining the soldiers. After the war was over, she organized these girls into the Aftern ath Club, and for years this group gave entertainments, until most of the girls were married. Then the group was your best. Leave me here and save yourselves; and hurry, before it is too late."

Mrs. Henry M. Robert Jr. president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said Tuesday "there was no question of prejudice, personality or discrimination" involved in the DAR's refusal to let Marian Auderson, negro contralto, sing in Constitution Hall.

A young lady came out of the house, and drew near with a bucket of water for the thirsty men. Seeing the bloody stretcher and the blood stained uniform of its occupant, she paused, and with solicitude in her voice said:

"How terrible! Is he very badly wounded?"

"Yes, ma'am, he's purty badly shot up. He's our colonel. He wants us to leave him here at your house. He's got the flag hid under htm, so the Yanks can't get it," said one of the men.

"Bring the colonel inside, at once. .....Lay him on the bed in this room," said the lady, taking charge of the situation.

"Isn't this the Westbrook house?"

inquired the officer.

"Yes, Colonel, it belongs to Dr.
Westbrook. He is surgeon in the Confederate army and is away on duty. Miss Jenny, his wife is gone also. My family had to flee from New Madrid when Pope's army came in. We are occupying the house temporarily. Let me make you comfortable, Colonel, if I can. Tell me where you are hurt."

"You are very kind, my dear young lady, but it makes no great difference about me. The Yankees will be here in a few minutes and I will be captured anyway. But I want to save my regimental flag; I can't bear to have it fall into the hands of the enemy. I will be everlastingly grateful to you if you can manage to put it where the Yankees can't find it."

And so, the flag was hidden in a can, of rusty exterior. Cob webs were smeared over it to simulate a state of disuse, and it was set upon a high shelf.

Soon the Federals came, seeking the Colonel and the flag. The Colonel became a prisoner of war and was taken away, but not the flag. Fearing a renewed and more thorough search by the invaders, the young lady carried the flag to Silvertop, on the bank of the Mississippi, and left it with her friend and neighbor, Mrs. Meriwether.

With the Colonel's sword buckled on him, it was the delight of this diminutive rebel to brandish his weapon and go through the motions of cutting off the heads of all bad Yankees, while the Colonel lay back and held his sides, laughing immoderately.

One day the Colonel sat on the stool, with only a thickness of cloth between him and the flag, and in conversation with the boy's mother said:

"Bob Isler, I know very well that the Rebel flag is hid around here somewhere, and you know where it

"Well, maybe I do, Colonel, but you are just as close to that flag right now, as you will ever be." she replied.

A proper dramatic ending for this tale would be like this: The Federals were baffled in their effort to find the flag, and in due time it was res-tored to the rightful owners.

Unfortunately, historical accuracy requires that the true sequel be told. requires that the true sequel be told. One of the plantation negroes, seeking to curry favor with his white liberators, revealed the flag's hiding place. Doubtless, at this moment, it is reposing, as a war trophy, in some museum in the North.

The spirit of the Frenchman who dug Fort Worth's first water well can rest in peace.

Members of the D.A.R., and other patriots who have sought preservation of the historic marker will be glad to learn that the 82-year-old well will not be molested by the local Housing Authority.

Not in Project

Situated in the 200 block of N. Taylor, the well first was included in the property to be cleared for the federal housing units, but recent changes in plans have stopped the eastern boundary of the housing project at Taylor St.

Since the well is on the east side of the street, it will not be touched, according to Homer A. Hunter, Housing Board secretary. A considerable area east of Taylor first was set up as part of the site for white families, but the board decided to acquire additional property west of Taylor instead.

Sunk in 1857

The "Frenchman's Well" was named for the man who sunk it in 1857. He was one of the soldiers who established the original fort in 1849. Previously, the only drinking water available was at a distant spring. He dug the well about 15 feet from the central fort structure.

Only recognition given the old land-mark was a sign, now faded, erected by the D.A.R.

HISTORY OF SIX FLAGS CHAPTER-N. S. D. A. R.

Sim Flags Chapter D.A.R. was organized February 14, 1929, with Mrs. Ella Hall (Mrs. Warren V.) Galbreth as organizing regent. In order to organize this chapter it was necessary to make it a county chapter, as there were already two other chapters in the city of Fert Worth.

Mrs. Galbreth salled a meeting on February 14, 1929, which met at the home of Mrs. Wm. S. Welles, at Benbrook, Tarrant County, Texas. Mrs. Edelbreth appointed as her officers for the organization period the following, D.A.R. members-at-large:

Mrs. John D. Jarrott, vice regent, Mrs. Frank W. Wayman, registrar, Mrs. W.R. Booth, treasurer, Miss Laura Rollins King, secretary. There were fifteen women present at this first meeting, five others not present, were accepted, making a total of twenty (20) charter members.

The name choice for this chapter is implicate Texas is the only state of the Union that has been a part of six nations, and that has had six flags. Thus Six Flags Chapter in commemoration of the six national Flags of Texas.

One of the first notable achievements of the Six Flags Chapter, was placing a Marker on the grave of Thomas Hogg, a soldier of Revolution and the grand-father of the first governor of Texas, born in the state, James Stephen Hogg. So few Revolutionary soldiers penetrated to Texas that the grave of Thomas Hogg is the first in the state to be so marked. This marker was placed on the grave Sunday, June first 1930, at Rusk, Tex. Miss Ima Hogg, Mr. & Mrs. Mike Hogg, from Houston, and Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Hogg from San Antonio attended the ceremonies. Mrs. R. M. Kelso, a member of the Six Flags chapter at this time, who also attended the ceremonies, is a descendant of Thomas Hogg. Miss Bettie Lowdon, a great-great granddaughter of Thomas Hogg, placed the marker.

Six Flags Chapter dedicated an Elm tree to the memory of Washington, during the bisentennial celebrations. The Elm tree was planted april 21st 1932, San Jacinto day, at Camp Bowie Flaza in Arlington Heights, Ft. Worth, Texas. Susan Belle, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. R.M. Rowland, unveiled the bronze marker at the dedication ceremonies.

Another marker was placed, at an old well in 1932, by Six Flags Chapter. On west Belnap Street, at the head of Taylor street, a sign points north to an old pioneer well. This marker reads, "Frenchmans Well, 1857". The well was erected by a Mr. Barbee, who migrated to Texas with the French Colony that settled at the old French Town, about five miles west of Dallas, according to Howard W. Peak.

An Indian Village was here until 1840. Both Comanche & Caddo tribes lived there at different times. Hehen Jeanne Carpenter and Francis Gray, unveiled the marker.

A marker was placed at Veal Station Community house, by the chapter in 1935. This community dated back to 1857.

-nother notable work preformed by Six Flags members, was the listing of 270 names in what is said to be the oldest Cemetery in Parker County. These names were filed in Parker County, with the Texas Centennial records for 1936.

On February 8, 1940, a committee of women, from the Six Flags Chapter, Mrs. W. R. Booth, Mrs. F. C. Crusemann, Mrs. L. D. Parks and Mrs. L. Gowin, listed over 400 names in the Birdville cemetary. The oldest cemetary in Tarrant County. These names will be recorded for the use of posterity.

The Six Flags Chapter not only places Markers and protects historical spots, and preserves historical documents and relics, but sponsors patriotic anniversaries, Patriotic education, better films, approved shools, observes conservation and thrift, correct use of the Flag, keeps the National Historical Magazine in our library. Gives Radio talks, has student loans, and presents citizenship medals in the various schools .

The social side of the organization is never overlooked either, The Chapter has numerous Luncheons. Teas, banquets, parties and various kinds of patritoc functions. An annual picnic is given for children of World War veterans.

This History of Six Flags Chapter, was written by the chapter Historian February 12, 1940.

Pointing out that the national organization has reached the half-century mark in its existence, Mrs. Rob-ert stated "our philosophy as a so-ciety has been that we as Americans can do more for our own and other nations by maintaining those institutions which created in the United States of America the world's highest standard of living, not by suffering these to fall, but by lifting others to them."

Answering critics, who challenged the DAR's attitude in perpetuating the memory of one revolution while at the same time opposing others, Mrs. Robert stated, "the American Revolution was a war to maintain and to perpetuate those liberties and and to perpetuate those interties and in privileges gradually in building through many generations. It was not a war to break down or destroy. There is a difference. Those who fought for American independence did so in the same spirit with a which a brave little pation today. which a brave little nation today makes a superhuman stand in the a defense of its liberties and indepen-

In summarizing the accomplishments of the DAR during its 50-year nistory, Mrs. Robert mentioned as outstanding the marking of historic spots and the preservation of historic buildings, the pensioning of Spanish-American war nurses, the assistance of more than 1,000 young people annually through school loans, the aiding of thousands of mountain school children in getting an education, expenditure of more an education, expenditure of more than $650,000 since 1930 for approved schools, and the annual distribution to college, civic, educational and governmental groups of liter-ature to promote the American way

John Nance Garner, wife of the vice president of the United States.

It has been no small task to dig up facts, for instance, on what Mrs. David G. Burnet wore during the administration of her household. That might have been of interest to the women of 1836 but it was not often important to historians. And it has been more than a hundred years since Mrs. Burnet was the first lady of Texas. It was impossible to obtain an original gown so DAR's set about to reproduce one of the period described by F. R. Lubbock in his account of the first San Jacinto Ball at Houston in 1837.

Costumes of Future Will Be Entirely Authentic
ALL of the governors' wives, of course, of the later periods, are represented by authentic costumes, and others will be added as

A represented by authentic costumes, and others will be added as the years pass.

The collection will interest Texans of the future as well as the present because it so clearly depicts the history of women's styles during the last century. The collection, from a dress standpoint, is equally as interesting at the Presidents' Wives Collection at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. And that is usually the first wing the average woman visitor heads for when she visits the Smithsonian Institute.

The grace of the wax figures and the fluorescent lights that play back of them make the Texas collection even more beautiful than the Washington collection. All of the figures' faces are alike, but one does not notice this sameness as the styles of hairdress are all so different. All are in keeping with the period of the dress and as near alike the hair of the women themselves as possible.

The figures vary from blondes on through to brunettes, red heads and gray heads and represent every kind of coiffures from the chignon of the '40's on through to the pompadours at the turn of the century.

Mrs. O'Daniel Has One of Most Graceful Dresses

O'NE of the most graceful dresses of the entire collection is that belonging to Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel, a Chanel model of elaborate pink lace with fissure brought together with lilacs, and billowing skirt with insets of accordion pleated mousseline de soie. Mrs. D'Daniel can thank her stars that she is living in a period when women's evening frocks are graceful and glamorous.

Poor Mrs. Pat M. Neff and Mrs. James E. Ferguson. They lived through the ugliest period in women's styles, the drab 1920's, when all waists were long and loosely belted, and grace and beauty were entirely lost. Even the fine ermine tails and exquisite beading on Mrs. Neff's costume do not redeem it. Still it belongs definitely to the ugly '20's when women had no opportunity to appear either glamorous or romantic.

PLEDGE TO THE FLAG

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whoseb road stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming,
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Oh, thus be it ever when free men shall stand Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto, "In God is our trust!"
And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN TO TEXAS IN THE SPRING?

There's a land I know where the blue bonnets grow,
And the sun shines all the while;
Where the cowboys play, the night turns to day,
And nature seems to smile.
Where the mockingbird is forever heard,
And the red wing sends her call;
Where the soft winds croon, to the silver moon,
As the shades of ev'ning fall.

Chorus

Have you ever been to Texas in the Spring,
When the breezes blow and the birds are on the wing;
Where the blue bonnets wave in the air,
And there's friendship everywhere,
While the busy bees are humming, and the banjos are a-strumming—
Have you walked on velvet carpets in the Spring,
Made of flowers whose subtle odor memories bring;
Have you seen those sunsets gay, as they glorify the day,
Have you ever been to Texas in the Spring?

—Mary Daggett Lake. Adopted as State D. A. R. Song, November, 1928.

BLEST BE THE TIE THAT BINDS

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

Before our Father's throne,
We pour our ardent prayers;
Our fears, our hopes, our aims, are one,
Our comforts and our cares.

We share our mutual woes, Our mutual burdens bear; And often for each other flows The sympathizing tear.

When we asunder part,
It gives us inward pain;
But we shall still be joined in heart,
And hope to meet again.

Amen.

AMERICA

My country! 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the Pilgrim's pride,
From ev'ry mountain side,
Let freedom ring!

Our father's God, to Thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light,
Protect us with Thy might,

TEXAS, OUR TEXAS

Texas, our Texas!
All hail the mighty State!
Texas, our Texas!
So wonderful—so great!
Largest and grandest, withstanding every test;
O Empire wide and glorious,
You stand supremely blest.

Chorus

God bless you, Texas!
And keep you brave and strong,
That you may grow in power and worth
Throughout the ages long.
Texas, our Texas!
From tyrant grip now free,
Shines forth in splendor
Your star of destiny!
Mothers of Heroes!
We come, your children true,
Proclaiming our allegiance—
Our Faith—our love for you.

-Gladys Yoakum Wright and William J. Marsh.

THE EYES OF TEXAS

The eyes of Texas are upon you,
All the live-long day,
The eyes of Texas are upon you,
You cannot get away.
Do not think you can escape them,
From night till early in the morn
The eyes of Texas are upon you,
'Til Gabriel blows his horn.

BY PAULINE NAYLOR.

Whatever the war may bring the Nation's capital-and it's no military secret that since Pearl Harbor Washington has been preparing for any eventuality—records of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will remain in Memorial Continental Hall.

A box, about two feet square, joined the society since it was or-ored in an undisclosed place, con-ganized in 1891. A box, about two feet square, contains the complete catalog of more than 500,000 membership and patriot file cards, on 16 millimeter film. The originals require a room 40 feet square, and nine feet high.

This microfilm file makes it possible for the society to keep its records open for reference.

Miss Marion Mullins, now at her home, 1424 Cooper Street, between trips as organizing secretary general for the National Society, began a commission for safeguarding gan a campaign for safeguarding the society's records a year ago. At the 1942 national congress she was able to report the task of making the microflim record completed.

Miss Mullins did all the work herself. That meant photographing more than 500,000 cards. And she did the job in exactly one month, because defense work priorities made it impossible to rent the Recordak machine for any longer time. Realizing that the machine might be called in at any time, Miss Mullins worked most days from 8 a. to midnight. She had to take off Saurday afternoons because the cleaning staff had charge, but she made up the time by turning out an average of around 25,000 cards a day. Some days she photographed as many as 32,000 cards.

When she assumed the duties of Spring of 1941, Miss Mullins asked where the duplicate catalogs were kept. There weren't any.

In the catalog room, its ceiling a glass skylight, were the society's only records of every soldier in the Continental Army whose service can be proved—about 120,000 of them. There, too, were the members' cards, around 400,000, containing the proof of descent for every woman who has

The board granted funds for the filming, Miss Mullins giving her time. The microfilm record, say authorities, is good for a century at least, can be copied, or positive prints made, at any time.

Miss Mullins has made other contributions to the cause of historical and patriotic conservation. From 1937 to 1940, while she was regent of the Texas Society of the D. A. R. she personally directed the collection and installation of the collection and the collection and the collection of the collection and the she personally directed the collection and installation of a museum of Texas historic costumes and furnishings at the Texas State College for Women, at Denton.

The National Society has named Miss Mullins chairman of a committee to obtain a collection of the inaugural gowns, or duplicates, of the presidents-general of the D. A. R. Several of them already have been given the organization, and were for a time in the Smithsonian Institution. The committee hopes to make considerable progress on this collection by 1944, when the current administration ends.

These organization projects are not interfering in any way, Miss Mullins said, with the D. A. R.'s spewar effort program, nor the pa-and citizenship activities.

THIS LETTER FOR CHAPTER CHAIRMAN

My DEAR CHAPTER CHAIRMAN:

All activities of the Committee of The National Historical Magazine for the next two years will center around the effort to secure Fifty Thousand Magazine subscriptions for the Fiftieth Anniversary. Begin now to plan your work with this goal in mind. Check your Chapter membership and find out for yourself who are subscribers. Check the dates of the expirations of subscriptions and remind the members a month ahead of the date, so no issue of the Magazine is lost. A card index even in a small Chapter is recommended for this record.

Send all subscriptions to the National Historical Magazine, Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C., and make checks payable to the Treasurer General, N. S. D. A. R. Blanks for new subscriptions may be obtained by writing the Office of the Editor.

Your best preparation for this work is an intensive study of the Magazine itself. This Committee is the sales force of The National Historical Magazine, published by The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. If you thoroughly know and understand the product you are selling, it is easy to sell it to others. Note the changes in the present Magazine over the Magazine of some years ago. The improvements and usefulness are noticeable. It is the official publication of the Society and to it you must look for official information. It will furnish you material for Chapter programs and monthly information as to the plans for the work of the Society. Write the Editor, Mrs. Frances Parkinson

Washington, D. C., as to what you like, or do not like, about the Magazine. Your comments will be welcome.

Become "Magazine minded." Think the Magazinel Talk the Magazine! Take your responsibility seriously, for the Magazine is an important part of the work of the Society and is worthy of your best efforts.

Plan with your Regent and Program Committee for two minutes at each meeting to speak about the most important article in the current issue of the Magazine. You will be surprised how much you can say in two minutes, if you give careful preparation. Keep the Magazine constantly before your members and give it the important place in your Chapter work that it merits. Urge all new members to become subscribers on admission to the Chapter. Please keep this in mind especially during the summer months when subscriptions may be at a low point. We are publishing an historical magazine that should interest the reading public as well as the members of the Society.

Please report in detail the work in your Chapter to your State Chairman. The period to be covered this year is March 1, 1939, to March 1, 1940.

My best wishes to you for the success of our work together.

Cordially yours,

Dear Chapter Historian:

When planning your Historical work for the coming year may I urge you to stress two projects on which the Historian General, Mrs. Wallis, is placing special emphasis. These projects are the compiling of data relative to "Place Names" and the collecting of "Unpublished Pioneer Naratives".

Place Names: Compile facts by counties giving accounts of why places are named thus and so. You should include the name of the county, the county seat, other towns or cities, old bridges, mills, lakes, creeks, schools, churches, etc.

The material must be authentic, limited to 50 words to relate the naming of any one place. Material is to be typed on one side of paper, size 8½ X 11 inches, double spaced, 1½ inch left margin for binding, and 1½ inch margin, top & bottom.

As Texas has 254 counties & only 74 D. A. R.
Chapters I am asking each chapter to send in data on several counties. Will you please accept the responsibility for the following counties: Johnson, Bosque, Erath Reeves.

Unpublished Pioneer Narratives: Texas still has living pioneers who helped make history for our state and their stories should be preserved. If any such live in your town or county get him (or her) to write or tell his experiences so that you may write the story for him. Have it typed and signed by the pioneer. Follow the same instructions for preparing manuscripts as given in Place Names but there is no limit on length of pioneer stories.

Flease send 2 copies of all material to me by February 1, 1943. One copy is for the National Society and one for the Texas State Files.

I am sure you will find this work most interesting.

Sincerely yours,

Hallie May E. Wick (Mus. W.g.)

W. R. Swaim, Sweetwater, who was offered the position by McGee in August, turned it down and Groce was offered an opportunity to remain. This he refused.

Miss Durham, an active member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, in which she has held various offices, is the president of the Zonta Club. She owns her home, in which she has many interesting heirloom pieces of furniture and china.

Prior to the war, one of her hobbies was traveling. She also is an enthusiastic student at the TCU Evening College, where she has taken courses, not only in line with her own work but others which are hobbies with her. She recently took a course in geology just because it interested her. A native of New York State, Miss Durham is a happy adopted daugh-ter of Tayes

NEW YORK, April 20 (P).—Mrs Julius Young Talmadge of Athens, Ga., was elected president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution Thursday.

Schermerhorn of Reading, Mich. with 42 votes, was scored in a second election. The first one Wednesday failed to give any contestant a majority.

A number of the qualified voters failed to cast their ballots in the

MRS. WILLIAM H. POUCH, President General, N.S.D.A.R., is telling State Conferences of the part American women will play in securing a just and lasting peace. She reminds the Daughters that many say it is too early to talk about peace. The President General says, "Let us be fully prepared when the time comes to discuss the terms of peace."

Mrs. Pouch calls on all Daughters to register and vote at the coming elections. "It is a privilege, yes, it is also a duty," she says. "I am asking every D.A.R. member to cast her ballot on Election Day. It is one of our most sacred obligations which never should be neglected."

Advance the Line!

Your National Chairman's Column Mrs. E. Thomas Boyd

CHRISTMAS is coming and every soldier away from home should be remembered. Packages for men overseas should be no larger than an ordinary shoe box, nor weigh more than eleven pounds; they should be carefully packed and wrapped and unsealed in order to facilitate censorship. Such package should be mailed before November 1 and labeled, "Christmas Parcel." Do not forget our disabled men in hospitals at home.

Sometimes even now letters are received asking about projects that are distinctly D.A.R. These projects are four in number: The Blood Plasma or D.A.R. War Fund; the purchasing of $5,000,000 worth of War Bonds (think what that will mean in providing planes, ammunition, tanks, and other war material); the making and filling of Buddy Bags; and the filing of Records of the War Services of our members. These are our own projects.

We must not lessen our cooperation with the Red Cross, Civilian Defense and other certified war relief agencies. If you register your hours of war service for D.A.R. records, all your work will be credited in our authorized war work files for future generations to consult, as we consult the records of our Revolutionary ancestors.

Letters.—I quote from a research article on soldiers' letters by Charles A. Roth of Denver, Colorado:

"A private from Texas summed it up in these sentences: 'A fellow feels he's buried in one of these camps if he doesn't have some touch with the world he left behind; mail's the only touch he can possibly have.' 'You can't imagine the feeling a fellow has after he waits in line for his mail to have the clerk tell him that there isn't any for him. If a soldier's ever alone in the world, it's at this moment.' 'The soldier that receives letters, cheerful, chatty letters, is never a problem to the morale officer.'"

War Rumors.—From a report of the State Chairman of National Defense of Missouri:

"Warnings, as given to us by the Publicity Bureau of the War Department:

"'Never encourage friends or relatives in the armed forces to talk about what they are doing.

"'Deny yourself the momentary popularity of knowing something that nobody else does.

"'Never quote figures. Innocent scraps of information can be put together like a jigsaw puzzle and convey to the enemy news that he may want.

"'Never repeat number of cases of any disease in a camp. By the law of average the number of cases of a respective disease are so many per thousand. If the enemy knows the number of cases he can compute the number of men and the size of the camp. "'Search out needy families of servicemen and refer to the Red Cross for assistance.'"

The Chinese write the word crisis with two characters; one means danger, the other, opportunity. Crisis—dangerous opportunity. To take advantage of a dangerous opportunity such as is constantly occurring in this war, we must accustom ourselves to danger and suffering. Let us not pray to be relieved of the sacrifices and suffering, but that the cause of these be removed. Then we must go to work to help in removing the cause, because we should never pray for that to happen which we are not willing to help bring about.

A crisis can make us or break us. Like a wave we must ride it to victory or be overwhelmed beneath its flood. This present crisis in our country's history calls for a reorganization of purpose, a transformation of habits. Powers and possibilities are brought to light that we have been unaware of possessing, and that might have remained hidden forever. Meeting this crisis in our lives ought to stimulate us to rise to our greatest capabilities, and to put forth all our powers to overcome the dangers. We must have clear vision, alertness, fearlessness and that spiritual courage which a sense of rightness always brings.

True Americans cannot withhold anything from America's need in this war, even to the giving of our loved ones. Whatever it is we must give it. We owe it to our country in return for all we have received.

Suggestions from a Service Man

Small monthly boxes are very acceptable to our men in service. Here are some of the things one of them says they would like to receive:

Zippo wind shield cigarette lighters
Shaving brush
Shaving soap in bowl
Toilet soap
Razor blades
Tooth powder
Chewing gum
Small hair brush
Hershey chocolate bars
Flashlight bulbs and Flashlight batteries for Boy Scout Flashlights

"Stories of our National Songs," written by the Reverend William J. Hart and dedicated to his wife and the Rhadamant Chapter, D.A.R., of which she is a member, is an attractive little book. It contains a biography of each author, the story of the writing of the song, and incidents of interest associated with each.

Mr. Hart is a member of the Hymn Society of America and an outstanding authority on hymnology. It may be had for $1.00 from the National Defense office.

The History of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag

By WILLIAM TYLER PAGE

Address upon the last public appearance of Hon. William Tyler Page, President General of The United States Flag Association, given upon the commemoration of the Golden Anniversary of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag under the auspices of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C., October 18, 1942. Program sponsored by the National Committee on the Correct Use of the Flag, with the National Defense Committee cooperating

OUR country is now engaged in a war to preserve the ary 17, 1892. The idea received their approval and a liberties of which the Flor of the United States. liberties of which the Flag of the United States is the glorious symbol. It is particularly appropriate, therefore, that we observe the 50th—the golden—anniversary of the Pledge of Allegiance to our National Emblem; and the Daughters of the American Revolution are to be highly commended for bringing this momentous anniversary to the attention of the American people, at the same time calling upon us all to reaffirm our pledge

Looking back 50 years to 1892, when the Pledge was given to our Nation, we find the United States at peacewe find Americans engrossed in a period of prosperity and big business and on the threshold of a depression. Even in peace as well as in war there is need for stirring patriotic fervour, so in those peaceful days educators, patriotic leaders and a few men in the public eye sensed a definite need for a revival of the spirit of American patriotism. The opinion existed that if the adults of the time were calloused and difficult to arouse, the hope for the future lay in the youthful oncoming generation.

In line with this thinking, Mr. James B. Upham, junior partner of The Youth's Companion, a well-known magazine of the day, saw a great opportunity to inculcate love of country on the occasion of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America-October 12, 1892, when the Chicago Columbian Exposition would be dedicated. He knew this would attract the attention of the entire Nation. Why not make the outstanding feature the National Public School Celebration of Columbus Day—a day which would mark a re-consecration to patriotism . . . a day when school children in every community throughout the Nation would pledge allegiance to the Flag?

Mr. Upham gained the confidence of the officials of the Exposition in this extensive plan, enlisted the cooperation of the United States Commissioner of Education, and obtained the consent of The Youth's Companion to place its machinery and resources behind it.

To aid him in securing the hearty cooperation of the entire educational personnel of the country, the newspapers and other organized influences, Mr. Francis Bellamy, a recently appointed member on the staff of the magazine, was selected; and as an initial step he presented the plan to the State Superintendents of Education, in annual meeting in Brooklyn, New York, Febru-committee of five was appointed to start the project and provide an official program of exercises for use in all localities. Mr. Bellamy was chosen chairman of the committee, and in this capacity enlisted the support of educators, Congressmen, Senators and Grover Cleveland, who at that time was planning to run again for the Presidency. He gained an interview with President Harrison, who promised to endorse the movement. Mr. Bellamy went even further. Through his efforts, a joint resolution was passed by Congress, enabling the President to issue a proclamation making October 21 of that year (which corresponds to October 12 of Columbus' Old Style calendar) a holiday with suitable exercises in the schools. A part of the proclamation read, "Let the National Flag float over every schoolhouse in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon our youth the patriotic duties of citizenship."

When it came time to prepare the official program, it was recognized that its most important feature was to be the raising of the Flag, with a salute to the Flag recited by the pupils in unison. But the current salute, written by Colonel T. Balch of New York, was not considered forceful enough. It ran, "I give my head and my heart to God and my Country-one Country, one Language, one Flag." Therefore, Mr. Bellamy wrote a new salute. (Parenthetically, it may be mentioned that much evidence has been offered to prove that Mr. Upham wrote the pledge with the aid of a little rounding out by members of The Youth's Companion staff, but in 1939 a committee of historians, appointed by The United States Flag Association, gave the credit to Mr. Bellamy after thorough and exhaustive research.)

The Pledge was just twenty-three words—"I pledge allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one Nation Indivisible, with liberty and justice

Of the 13,000,000 pupils then in schools, it was estimated that three-fourths of them stood at salute before their schoolhouse Flags and repeated this Pledge of Allegiance on October 21, 1892-The National Public School Celebration of Columbus Day.

The original wording of the Pledge was used until June 14-15, 1923, when representatives of the principal patriotic, fraternal, civic and educational organizations assembled at the National Flag Code Conference in this City, substituted the words "the Flag of the United States" for the words "my Flag," on the ground that some foreign-born children might have in mind the flag of their native land when they said "my Flag."

At the Second National Flag Code Conference, held in Washington, D. C., June 14, 1924, still further change was made in the wording of the Pledge. For the sake of greater definition, the words "of America" were added after "the Flag of the United States," so that the Pledge then read, as it stands today. At this Conference gestures were prescribed, and the instructions issued were reproduced from that time on in Flag Code publications issued by the Army, the Navy, patriotic societies and others. These instructions were, in full-

"In pledging allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, the approved practice in schools, which is suitable also for civilian adults, is as fol-

"Standing with the right hand over the heart, all repeat together the following pledge:

"'I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.'

"At the words 'to the Flag,' the right hand is extended, palm upward, toward the Flag and this position is held until the end, when the hand, after the words, 'justice for all,' drops to the side.

"However, civilian adults will always show full respect to the Flag, when the pledge is being given. by merely standing at attention, men removing the headdress. Persons in uniform render the right hand salute."

This year the Pledge of Allegiance and its accompanying gestures, as prescribed at the Second National Flag Code Conference, received Government sanction, for on June 16, the Flag Code was adopted in its entirety by the Congress of the United States. The Joint Resolution introduced by the Honorable Sam Hobbs of Alabama, at the instance of the American Legion, together with amendments suggested by The United States Flag Association, indorsed by the Daughters of the American Revolution, was approved June 22. The Pledge of Allegiance appears in Section 7.

The evolution of the Pledge takes us back to 1892 when it was first read and received popular acceptance. It brings us to 1942—exactly 50 years later—the year of its Golden Anniversary-when it received official recognition by the Government of the United States.

Looking toward the future, may the Pledge of Allegiance always be in the hearts of Americans an expression of devotion to the Flag and faith in the ideals and institutions it represents. May it stir in the souls of all Americans the sentiment expressed in these memorable words of our great patriot, Daniel Webster:

"When my eyes shall be turned to behold for the last time the sun in heaven, may I not see him shining on the broken and dishonored fragments of a once Glorious Union; on States dissevered, discordant, belligerent; on a land rent with civil feuds. or drenched, it may be, in fraternal blood. Let their last feeble and lingering glance rather behold the gorgeous ensign of the Republic, now known and honored throughout the earth, still full high advanced, its arms and trophies streaming in their original luster, not a stripe erased or polluted, nor a single star obscured, bearing for its motto, no such miserable interrogatory as 'What is all this worth?' Nor those other words of delusion and folly, 'Liberty first and Union afterwards;' but everywhere spread all over in characters of living light, blazing on all its ample folds, as they float over the sea and over the land, and in every wind under the whole heavens, that other sentiment, dear to every true American heart, 'Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA D.A.R. SERVICE FLAG

The D.A.R. Family Service Flag, probably the first to be officially dedicated by a State, was presented to the District of Columbia D.A.R. at an impressive ceremony held on October 6, at their Chapter House. The Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, and a member of the Advisory Council of the National Society, dedicated the flag, and then followed with a stirring address on "A Spiritual Approach to the Problems of a War Torn World." Following the dedication, Mrs. Arthur C. Houghton, State Chairman of National Defense, who made and presented the flag, presented it to Mrs. Geoffrey Creyke, State Regent, who in turn presented it to Miss Lillian Chenoweth, President of the Chapter House Corporation. Mrs. Charles Carroll Haig sang two verses of "Eternal Father, Strong to Save."

The flag, which hangs on the wall of the great library, is of heavy taffeta, and measures six feet by four feet. A wide, red border surrounds a white field on which is a large, single blue star, emblematic of the unity of the Daughters, and embracing those Daughters, their fathers. husbands, sons and daughters who are in the armed forces of the United States, including the Chaplains' Service and the Merchant Marine. Three gold stars above the blue star have been recently placed for a husband and two sons of members of the Army and Navy Chapter who have made the supreme sacrifice.

Below the flag is a frame in which are the numerals 1,203, signifying the members of our D.A.R. families who are in active service. These numerals will be changed as additional members are called into active service. A card index is being kept, with the complete service record, and will eventually be put into book form, and presented to the State as a permanent record.

D.A.R. War Projects

The D.A.R. War Fund

MONEY continues to come in for the D.A.R. War Fund, and requests for information as to how to purchase new mobile units for blood procurement. More interest has thus far been expressed in this one service than in all others.

In the meantime the fund grows. The following contributions have been received since the first report in the September-October National Defense News:

A number of new procurement centers are to be opened and an additional mobile unit added to some centers already established. All arrangements must be made between the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution and the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross. The American Red Cross has been designated by the War and Navy Departments as the only agency through which blood is to be procured for the armed forces. Blood must reach a processing laboratry within twenty-four hours after it is drawn. Blood Donor Centers must therefore be limited to areas within twenty-four hours of the laboratories.

The laboratories are the large chemical laboratories already in existence and all well known. The contract to convert the blood into plasma is between the government and these laboratories, and the citizens' contribution ends when the blood reaches the laboratory.

Unfortunately for the many who wish to contribute their blood, and who want a Procurement Center in their own town, the laboratories are where they are. These large commercial establishments cannot be moved nor new ones set up over night. The program must be adjusted to their location, therefore the D.A.R. project is a national one and not state or local.

Mobile units radiate from centers to assist in bringing the output of each center up to the 200 pints required each day.

Ten mobile units and two new centers have been set aside for the D.A.R. All will be marked as gifts from the National Society D.A.R. War Fund. A check from the fund has already been sent to pay for two new centers and for the two mobile units connected with them. As the fund grows more mobile units will be taken.

Contribute to your National War Fund! The President General asks for at least one dollar from each member.

One War Fund Project

The five D.A.R. Chapters in Memphis, Tennessee, have joined in a drive to raise $5,000 for the D.A.R. War Fund to save life by promoting the Blood Plasma Program and to buy life saving instruments. A letter being sent by the Executive Chairman of the Memphis Committee reads:

Life saving is dear to the hearts of women; for this reason the Daughters of the American Revolution have chosen as one of their National War Projects the raising of money for the expansion of the blood plasma program, and for the purchase of medical and surgical equipment.

The need is vital and most urgent. The life of a wounded man can often be saved, if blood is available at the right time. A professional donor of blood often charges $25.00 for one pint of blood; many transfusions require one quart, so it takes many dollars to save the life of one man.

This plasma will be used for our armed forces— Army, Navy, Air and Marine, regardless of where they are located—at home or abroad.

These boys are our sons—our brothers—our husbands—who are giving their all for us—is he not worth the price of one pint of blood to you?

Please make your contribution as generous as you can.

D.A.R. Investment in War Bonds

The National Defense Office through letters has received the following information concerning the sale and purchase of bonds and stamps:

The members of the Eunice Day Chapter, Massachusetts, have purchased $37,750.00 worth as of October 19, 1942.

To date the purchases of the members of the Johnstown Chapter, New York, amount to $4,188.95. To date the purchases of the members of the Sub773.00.

Jonathan Dayton Chapter, Ohio, sold more than one-third of a million dollars worth from December 10 to October 1.

Lagonda Chapter, Ohio, in one hundred days sold $50,000 from a booth in downtown Springfield.

Records of War Service

In reporting hours of service for war records only volunteer service through accredited war agencies may be counted. See resolution of the Congress. Such agencies are the U.S.O., O.C.D., A.W.V.S., and the American Red Cross. If Recreation Centers and D.A.R. Work Rooms are so organized as to record or allow time for specific services, these also may be counted. Tie up the work American Red Cross Production.

mit Clark Chapter, Massachusetts amount to $17,- you do-dinners for soldiers, cookies for soldiers, etc., with some one of the War Agencies.

Regents are responsible for ascertaining these credits. Other services should be reported as chapter activities through the National Defense Committee. They too will stand in the record of the future.

Mrs. McLin S. Choate, Regent of the Dorothea Henry Chapter, Virginia, reported on September 15 two names: Mrs. Harry Smith-644 hours as Chapter Instructor and Chairman of Surgical Dressings of Danville Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. Winston Edwards-310 hours in instructing and inspecting the making of surgical dressings, hot water and ice bag covers, and beanies, assisting in the Red Cross Information Booth, and in the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

Mrs. William C. Mulford, Regent of Greenwich Tea Burning Chapter, New Jersey, certifies that Miss Jean Masland has contributed 481 hours in varied services, consisting of nine trips to Fort Dix and Cape May to take recreational material to the boys (about 900 magazines in each load), 318 hours of knitting, and 27 hours of baking cookies for the service clubs.

Mrs. Willis R. Cone, Regent of Ruth Hart Chapter, Connecticut, reports the following as having contributed more than 300 hours in knitting for the American Red Cross: Mrs. Percy Collins, Mrs. William M. Quested, Mrs. Charles T. Jordon, Mrs. F. S. Hubbard. Mrs. Cone has 1,145 hours as Chairman of Volunteer Special Services of Meriden Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mrs. L. B. Yale, Regent of Triangle Chapter, Pennsylvania, reports the following two members as serving in the chapter rooms as Red Cross Executives: Mrs. W. L. Stow, 660 hours; Mrs. I. R. Long, 500 hours.

Mrs. E. B. Yates, Regent of Alexander Doniphan Chapter, Missouri, reported on October 20 that Mrs. D. A. PerLee has the accredited 300 hours service for sewing, and as Secretary of the Clay County Chapter, American Red Cross, and assistant to the Treasurer.

Mrs. L. A. Parker, Regent of Rancho San Jose de Buenos Aires Chapter, California, certified that Mrs. Asa F. Harshbarger has 334 hours for knitting, serving on the American Red Cross Disaster Set-up, and for active service and conducting lectures as Air Raid Warden.

Mrs. J. D. Langdon, Regent of Old Boston Chapter, Massachusetts, on September 8 reported the following

Captain Beulah Rhoton—1,824 hours as Director of Brookline Civilian Defense School for Men and Women.

Mrs. Herman F. Robinson-316 hours for sewing, and as Inspector of Production of Wollaston Congregational Church Red Cross Unit, Soldiers and Sailors Committee. and Gray Lady Probationer.

One of your sons or friends or some unknown lonely soldier may be running a bulldozer in Alaska; he may be on guard on a barren island off the New Jersey shores; he may be a lumberjack in the woods of Michigan; or a soldier on some lonely desert; in a hospital; or at an embarkation camp, an infantry field, a signal station, or above the clouds, but no matter where he may be a buddy bag will not fail to fill his heart with jov.

The boys are clamoring for the "Buddy Bags" and are thrilled, even more than we were by "the laundry box" from home during college days. Christmas is coming and thousands of bags are needed for Yuletide cheer.

One chapter has already arranged with a chaplain in a local camp to distribute the bags to lonely and neglected men—commissioned or non-commissioned.

From a very small chapter in Michigan comes a request to send their bags to Alaska; another chapter in Kentucky, whose bags will arrive before November 1, asks that their bags be sent to men going overseas. This is excellent—my gratitude to them.

Donations of articles or money are needed to fill partially filled or unfilled bags.

In camps where the bags have been heard of, boys are asking for them. "Where did you get that bag? I want one."

So the work goes on—the opportunity is great! Keep making bags as fast as you can!

Gratefully,

Florence H. Becker Director of Buddy Bags

War Savings Bonds

A Message from Mabelle B. Blake, Chief, National Women's Organizations Unit, War Savings Staff

Department to pledge $5,000,000 as an immediate War Bond goal. Under the wise leadership of Mrs. Russell William Magna, with whose unstinted giving of time and energy to good works I have been familiar in the past, you are off to a good start, and, I prophesy, will finish gloriously! A letter from Mrs. Magna, sent in August through the National Defense Committee to its State Chairmen and to State Regents, followed up the campaign she launched in Chicago last May.

The women of America control so much of the national income, both as wage earners and as housekeepers, that they are a tremendous factor in the War Savings Program. In order to achieve its objectives, every woman must redouble her efforts to save, and must be increasingly convinced that her savings belong in War Bonds.

We are not martyrs when we make sacrifices toward this end. Any thinking person knows that actual selfinterest prompts any sacrifice that helps the prosecution of the war and leads to ultimate victory. As someone has said, "Less luxury today for more liberty tomorrow."

The fact that the Government needs our money in a great emergency is in itself reason enough for us to cut down on our personal spending and turn every excess penny over to the U.S. Treasury. The thrill of knowing that we are buying the equipment to make our fighting forces strong and to help them win is reward enough for any patriotic woman.

But stop—think what bond buying does for us besides satisfying our urge to be of service to our country. It insures us a stable economy, helps to prevent an inflation of prices that would take from us much more spending power than the percentage of income we put into our bonds—and it is an investment of unparalleled excel-

THE Daughters of the American Revolution have lence. We are giving nothing, unless you count the fore-L accepted the challenge of the United States Treasury going of a momentary buying whim, or the time required to budget wisely and to prolong the life of existing equipment, as "giving." We are lending money to the safest going concern in the world, the U.S. Government, and at a rate of interest that spells affluence for the future.

> It would be hard to cut down a standard of living in normal times when others around us are buying freely, but when, as now, economy is the order of the day and "It's Smart to be Thrifty" was never truer, there is a tang to doing without things, to looking nice in last year's clothes, to cutting corners a bit more closely than

> In line with the $5,000,000 mark you have set yourselves, the Treasury issues a Certificate of Merit Award to all clubs, 90 per cent of whose members are buying bonds regularly. It should not be long before this certificate hangs on the wall of every chapter house.

> The week of November 22-28 has been set aside as Women at War Week, and is designed to be seven days of the most intensive bond selling on record. A guide book, "Minute Women at War," which has been prepared by the War Savings Staff outlines plans for making this sales effort an outstanding success. Your state chairman already has a copy, and it might be a good idea to consult her about it.

You women of the Daughters of the American Revolution, whose determination and devotion gave us Constitution Hall, have shown that you need only to set yourselves a goal to accomplish it. Convinced of the patriotism of lending your money to your Government, you will, I am confident, reach this new objective of $5,000,000 in War Bonds; and in so doing you will blaze a trail for other women's organizations to follow.

What Can I Do?

Salvaging of Scrap

"HROW Your Scrap into the Fight" is the title of L a recently issued sheet listing articles that will contribute to the scrap collection. Cast-off metal, rubber. hemp, fats and greases all share in the victory campaign. "Take your scrap to the nearest salvage depot," are the instructions. "If there isn't a salvage depot nearby-DON'T WAIT TO BE TOLD WHAT TO DO. Call your salvage committee . . ."

Scrap and How to Collect It is a publication of the American Industries Salvage Committee of New York approved by the Conservation Division of the War Production Board.

The big problem today in Donald M. Nelson's own words is the fact that "We are faced with a serious shortage of steel scrap, rubber, and other vital materials. That shortage must be filled."

The graphic little booklet shows what scrap is, where to find it and what to do with it, also how every little bit counts. It shows scrap campaigning as a continuing local job that must be done by local salvage committees with no one else to blame for any failure but the citizens themselves.

The employment of children in the collection of scrap is shown to be efficient and helpful to the children themselves. Instructions on Preparation of Scrap, The Work of the Scrap Dealer, and the Organization of the Conservation Division of the War Production Board are all separate chapters, graphically portrayed.

"Be a Victory planner in your home."

Save Fuel for Victory

Every American can help in the war effort by heating his home with less fuel this winter. Fuel oil, coal and gas are some of our most valuable resources. The demand for all of them has increased tremendously since Pearl Harbor and the problems of transporting them have become more and more acute. Fuel builds and feeds the tanks, planes and ships we send to fight the enemy. Essential manpower is required to produce fuel and vital space in trains and ships needed to transport it.

Americans who put Victory first know that war needs come first. They know that it is up to them to get along with less and to make the best possible use of what is available.

The Office of Price Administration recommends three steps which you can take to heat your home with less fuel this winter:

- 1. Make certain that your furnace or stove is operating at maximum efficiency. Have a competent service man check the heating system and make any necessary adjustments.
- stripping around windows and doors, storm windows need that this be remembered today.

and storm doors will all help keep the heat in, instead of letting it escape and go to waste.

3. Maintain lower room temperature. Protect health by dressing more warmly indoors.

Your government urges you to do everything you can to use less fuel in this crucial year of the war.—Office of Price Administration, Department of Information.

Inter-American Programs

Our Neighbors Down the Road is a 16 mm sound film on Seeing South America by Automobile, a pastime one will not indulge in shortly; the film, however, is available from the office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, 444 Madison Avenue, New York City. It will be sent from your nearest distributing agency for the use of clubs, groups, etc., not for individual use.

Jungle Quest for the Great Stone Heads, 3 reels, and Treasure Trove of Jade, 4 reels, are two particularly interesting archaeological pictures to be had from the

Other new and current films are Sky Dancers of Papantla, Argentine Soil, A Line from Yucatan, Sundays in the Valley of Mexico, Americans All, Mexico Builds a Democracy, The Day is New, Brazil Gets the News, Orchids, Guatemala Sketch Book, and South American

Simon Bolivar, the first of the American Patriot Series, may now be had from your National Defense office. It is the introduction to the many stories of great liberators in the fight for freedom on the American continent.

Monthly Allowances for Dependents of Soldiers

Monthly Allowances for the Dependents of Soldiers is the title of a booklet issued by the Adjutant General's office of the War Department for distribution to the families of soldiers.

These monthly allowances are provided by the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act of 1942, recently

The booklet answers the questions, Who is eligible? How much will be paid? Where should application be made? and many others. Copies are being sent by the War Department to all D.A.R. State Chairmen of National Defense. It is hoped that State Chairmen will make the information available to those who need it. and that Chapter Chairmen and others interested will address the Allowance and Allotment Branch, Adjutant General's Office, War Department, with requests for copies of this booklet.

Sen. Van Nuys, in addressing the American Bar Association in Washington in September, reminded his 2. Make your house heat-tight. Insulation, weather hearers that only in law is there freedom. There is great

Victory Volunteers

Boys Clubs of America, "Victory Volunteers," are deserving of interest and support. "Nothing is of greater importance," says the Annual Report message—"except actual participation in the armed forces—than that our future soldiers, sailors and citizens shall receive proper training."

A review of accomplishments leaves one convinced that here is a genuine service. A Four Point Program and Pledge shows how these indoor City Clubs complement the work of the great out-doors Boy Scouts.

Service Flag Bill Approved

A bill (S. 2442) directing the Secretary of War to approve a design for a service flag and a service button to be displayed and worn by persons who are in the immediate family of members of the armed forces of the United States was approved by the House Military Affairs Committee this week. The bill has already passed the Senate. Under the terms of the bill the Secretary of War would authorize the design, taking into consideration the various commercial flags that are now being sold to the families of service personnel. The bill provides that licenses must be obtained for the manufacture or sale of such service flags or buttons, and violators of this provision are subject to severe penalties. The committee, in its report, stated that it feels that the general public wants such a flag and included letters from the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy supporting the measure.—Army & Navy Register. 10-10-42.

Community Cooperation

From the Office of Civilian Defense in Washington comes an appeal for "help in developing the greatest demonstration of community teamwork that America has ever known." Surely that opportunity is here. Ours is an opportunity to build our national structure anew from the ground up and make our communities the result of eager unselfish cooperation in all services for national security, thereby a contribution to freedom everywhere.

FROM OFFICE OF CHIEF OF CHAPLAINS

Circular Letter 261

A Bit of History: October 1777—"The situation of the army frequently not admitting of the regular performance of divine service on Sundays, the chaplains of the army are forthwith to meet together and agree on some method of performing it at other times, which method they will make known to the Commander-in-Chief." (George Washington.)

SCRAP, MATERIAL AND HUMAN: The following lead-off article under the heading "The Chaplain's Message" is reproduced from "The Reception Center News," Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, of September 26, 1942:

"In 1937 it was my privilege to spend quite a little time in Germany. On Sunday, July 18, of that summer, I preached a sermon in one of the churches in the city of Berlin. This gave me opportunity to contact some very important German people. From them I learned that the four things so much needed by Adolph Hitler to prosecute his war effort were coal, iron, wheat, and oil. And that in order to get these he would eventually make the moves that he has made and is still making. At that time I noted that the people of Germany were saving scraps of string, of paper, of cloth, of wire, of iron, and that no tin cans were being destroyed. When emptied they were carefully collected, and all such articles were carefully placed at a designated spot where they were collected once or twice each week by a governmental agency. The people were being urged to save and collect their scrap as a patriotic duty, but in order to still further make certain that it would be done, definite penalties were provided for failure.

"This was two years before Hitler's forces invaded Poland and the present war in which we are engaged got under way. People to whom I reported these conditions upon my return thought that I was unduly alarmed in urging us to a more aggressive defense effort and economy program. Now the picture has quickly and radically changed. Our government is calling upon all Americans to save everything, to waste nothing, to collect rubber, paper, wire, tin cans, tooth paste tubes and iron that is more precious than silver and gold. This all has to do with material scrap.

"There is such a thing as human scrap too. It is just at this point that the Christian religion plays a most vital part. The Christian religion seeks to conserve human values so that they need not be scrap, and then, if in spite of all efforts, individuals deliberately or unwittingly waste their powers and become material for the human scrap heap, the Christian religion still holds out hope and offers power to transform human scrap into something beautiful and useful. While we are saving material things we should be exceedingly careful not to waste the most precious of all things—HUMAN RESOURCES."

In a letter addressed to Senator Van Nuys, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, on July 14, 1942, Attorney General Biddle commends S. 2643, a bill introduced by Senator Mead, and says the tribute to Mr. J. Edgar Hoover is particularly gratifying to him. The bill would authorize the President of the United States to present a medal of honor to Mr. J. Edgar Hoover in recognition of his work in connection with the apprehension of the saboteurs recently tried and punished.

The United States and Post-War World Organization

THE United States and post-war world organization is a subject very much in mind today and with many groups organized to bring about the particular kind of organization each desires.

What Are We Fighting For?

In facing this question we ask first of all, "What are we fighting for?" Definitions are necessary in order that steps taken in winning the war may not destroy the chances of an ultimately free and orderly world.

Some people are concerned with the machinery for world cooperation; others with political ideals on which they hope to organize the world.

Most universally recommended for its impartial and thorough presentation of the whole question of peace is the recent book by former President Hoover and former Ambassador Hugh Gibson, published by Doubleday, Doran and Company, Garden City, New York, and entitled "The Problems of Lasting Peace." Each type of peace plan, past, present, and future, is described, and pro and con arguments presented in behalf of each.

The October Congressional Digest

The Congressional Digest, 726 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C., presents the subject of future world organization as its Pro and Con subject for the month of October, 1942.

Following the plan of the Atlantic Charter issued August 14, 1941, signed by the President of the United States and by British Prime Minister Churchill, the twenty-six other nations comprising the United Nations adopted the United Nations' Declaration on January 1, 1942. There sprang up all over the United States discussions of post-war world organization for the maintenance of peace. Peace plans are being considered by a number of Government agencies including the Departments of State, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor; the Board of Economic Warfare and the National Resources Planning Board, the latter of which, under the directorship of Charles W. Eliot of Boston, is acting as the assembling agency and repository of all plans that are being offered in the United States and elsewhere throughout the world.

Policing to maintain order, and rehabilitation, are part of all plans before any permanent peace organization can be effected.

The Atlantic Charter, The United Nations' Declaration, and the President's Message to Congress on The Four Freedoms are all contained in the study. America's Treaty-making Powers as Defined by the Constitution is the title of one chapter. A review of the present day work of the League of Nations and its position in future plans presents much to think about, as does its back history. It is suggested that perhaps the United States may contribute to the reconstruction of the League of Nations on the basis of modernized diplomacy, changing it into a Council that "could be expected to build up the fabric of international law and steadily guide the movement of nations toward abolition of war."

The Pros

The Pros and Cons of the New Deal's Post-war Program are presented in a number of addresses. In a speech before the Free World Association in New York on May 8, 1942, Vice President Wallace viewed the principles upon which he believes a permanent peace must rest. On July 23, 1942 Honorable Cordell Hull, speaking officially for the United States, gave an exposition of peace aims; Special Assistant Secretary of State, Leo Pasvolsky, described to the Federal Council of Churches in Delaware, Ohio, on March 4, 1942 a program for the economic peace of the world.

On August 9, 1942, the anniversary of the signing of the Atlantic Charter, Elmer Davis, head of Office of War Information, issued an official interpretation of the "Four Freedoms." Mr. Davis begins by saying:

"Beyond the war lies the peace. Both sides have sketched the outlines of the new world toward which they strain. The leaders of the Axis countries have published their design for all to read. They promise a world in which the conquered peoples will live out their lives in the service of their masters.

"The United Nations, now engaged in a common cause, have also published their design, and have committed certain common aims to writing. They plan a world in which men stand straight and walk free, free not of all human trouble, but free of the fear of despotic power, free to develop as individuals, free to conduct and shape their affairs."

Dr. Najera, Mexican Ambassador to the United States, addressed the Academy of Political and Social Science in Philadelphia on April 10, 1942 on a post-war world built around a revised League of Nations.

Vera Micheles Dean, editor of the Foreign Policy Association's Bulletin, wrote in that publication on August 21, 1942, an analysis of the ideals of the United Nations as embraced in the Atlantic Charter and other acts.

The Foreign Policy Association conducted a One-Day Forum in New York City on October 3 for the purpose of presenting "an analysis of the position of our country in the world situation, especially in relation to our present and projected cooperation with the United Nations."

The pros and cons of other plans are presented—those regarding separate continental peace organizations; and those relating to a Federation of Nations.

The Cons

Against the New Deal's Program are quoted Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, Westbrook Pegler in the Washington Post of May 2, 1942, The Washington Times-Herald of June 7, 1942, the Moline (Illinois) Daily Dispatch of June 3, 1942. Gerald W. Johnson, editorial writer for the Baltimore Sun, predicted in an article in the Virginia Quarterly, Summer 1942, that the American people will be difficult to interest in any plan involving them in European affairs. Gertrude Stein is quoted; she traces the search for freedom through periods of revolution, English, American, and French; through industrial organization till over-organization carries people back to where "perhaps they will begin looking for liberty again and individually amusing themselves again and old-fashioned or dirt farming."

"One thing is sure," she says, "until there are rich again everybody will be poor and there will be more than ever of everybody who is even poorer.

"That is sure and certain."

The National Peace Conference

The National Peace Conference comprises many organizations. According to its letterhead it serves a threefold purpose: (1) as a council board at which its members exchange their views on American foreign policy and formulate and clarify policies and issues; (2) as a clearing house to receive, record, and publicize views of its affiliated organizations to the public and the government; (3) as a publisher and program servicing agency to provide its member organizations and the general public with objective, non-partisan information on world events, programs, policies, educational methods and procedures, and organizational techniques.

The National Peace Conference is featuring Armistice Day, November 11, as World Government Day and encouraging programs in behalf of World Government. Booklets by such well-known international-socialists as Norman Thomas, Pearl Buck, and Stuart Chase comprise the study kit being distributed by the Post-War World Council of which Norman Thomas is Executive Committee Chairman. The Post-War Council is in turn a member of the National Peace Conference.

The "Christian Science Monitor" Series

"The World We Want: An Introduction to the Future" is the title of a series of articles published daily from October 1 to November 4 by the Christian Science Monitor. The articles are published in notebook form for preservation and use in connection with a study guide, and include articles by "A Panel of Experts" and a wide range of subject matter. The series with back numbers and a study guide may be had by sending $1.00 to The Christian Science Monitor, Boston, Massachusetts.

It will be helpful in studying World Government programs to list organizations and their specific programs, to note magazine articles and clip the daily papers. Those of us who are determined to maintain and extend the American ideals of life, need to know the plans being formulated for "the new social order" and the world of tomorrow.

THE FOREIGN-BORN WHITE POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES

Interpreter Releases, Vol. XIX, No. 47, September 28, 1942 issues a study on The Foreign-Born White Population of the United States—Its Distribution according to Country of Birth and State of Residence, according to Bureau of Census figures for the years 1930 and 1940. In 1930 the foreign-born in the United States numbered 13,983,405 and in 1940 11,419,138. What has happened since 1940 with the refugee influx, from this war, is not included in the study.

Comparison is made between numbers in each state of the United States between the years 1930 and 1940. It is also made according to European country of birth; Western Hemisphere country of birth, Asiatic and other countries, both in numbers and in percentages. It is a valuable documentation for a study of this subject.

The Release of October 19 deals with the Foreign-Born and Their American-Born Children—Their Distribution According to Mother Tongue.

Releases of September 16 deal with the subject of Deserting Foreign Seamen, Measures Adopted to Prevent Their Desertion and a Recent Court Decision Dealing with their Deportation; also one on Work Permits, Visitors and Students No Longer Required to Secure Permission. A Release of September 9 treats on Mass Relocation and Resettlement of Aliens.

Mimo D. Guzman, a Filipino, formerly in the U.S. Navy and dishonorably discharged, and later in the Coast Guard from which he deserted and was dishonorably discharged, has been apprehended by the agents of the FBI on the charge of violation of the Selective Service Act and failure to notify his local board of change of address, as required under the Alien Registration Act.

Under the name of Dr. A. Takis, Guzman was influential in the organization of the "Pacific Movement of the Eastern World" dedicated to the purpose to "aid Japan when Japan attacks the West Coast." The membership of the group was said to be 100,000. A long criminal record is revealed and Guzman is at present arraigned before the United States Commissioner in New York City.

The Inter-Allied Review, called A Monthly Summary of Documents on the Allied Struggle for Freedom, is published by the Inter-Allied Information Center, 610 Fifth Avenue, New York City. On its mast head it states that it "is officially supported by the Governments of Australia, Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Great Britain, Greece, Yugoslavia, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, and Poland, by the French National Committee in London and by the France Forever Committee in the United States."

Alien Programs—Department of Justice

ATTORNEY GENERAL FRANCIS BIDDLE has announced recently adopted programs to revoke the naturalization of all former leaders and officials of the German-American Bund, and to change the status of the 600,000 unnaturalized Italians now registered as alien enemies.

The order relative to unnaturalized Italians goes into effect at midnight Sunday, October 18. Italians now designated as alien enemies, not including those interned or on parole, will, as ordinary aliens, be relieved of the necessity of carrying certificates of identification at all times, of securing travel permits, and permission before changing place of residence or employment. Restrictions are also removed as to possession of cameras, shortwave radios and other prescribed articles. All aliens, however, will continue to be subject to the requirements of the Alien Registration Act.

It is pointed out that, of the 599,111 Italian aliens in the United States, the largest nationality classification of alien enemies, only 653 have been brought before the Alien Enemy Boards; 232 of these have been ordered interned, 265 are placed on parole, and 156 have been released or disposed of through other channels.

On the other hand, more strenuous measures have been taken to control Nazi activity in the United States. Instructions have been issued to initiate proceedings against naturalized citizens whose Bund activities indicate that their oaths of allegiance were taken fraudulently; their naturalization will be revoked and they will be reclassified as alien enemies, instead of United States citizens. The American Civil Liberties Union, to which one's individual freedom to do as he pleases seems ever more important than the preservation of freedom for the many, are protesting all revocation of citizenship.

In view of the large amount of litigation, and the established un-American character of the Bund, consolidation of cases in each judicial district is desired.

The avowed policy of the Bund is noted as "to resist integration of Germans into the American system; to retain the complete loyalty of its members to Germany; and to establish in the United States a branch of the German Reich."

The release goes on to say what the D.A.R. have frequently said in protesting that the Communist Party is not an American political party. "The aims and purposes of the Bund are wholly inconsistent with American citizenship. Loyalty to one excludes loyalty to the other. It therefore follows that those Germans who became naturalized American citizens and at the same time turned actively to the affairs of the Bund are guilty of fraud. Their oaths of allegiance were not honestly taken."

". . . I shall order them interned for the duration of the war."

The denaturalization law requires the government to petition the court for the revocation of each given individual's certificate of naturalization. Evidence of disloyalty accompanies each petition. Even here the defendant is allowed sixty days in which to file an answer to the charges and after the court renders its decision the defendant may appeal. If he fails to contest the government's petition, his citizenship is revoked by default.

Approximately 500 cases are pending; many former members or officials of the Bund have already been sentenced. The F.B.I. has compiled hundreds of records which simplify the work of these trials.

Accompanying the release of the Department of Justice is a background history of the German-American Bund traced through the Teutonia Society of 1924, the Friends of the New Germany of 1933, and the German-American Bund of 1936.

The "leadership principle," membership requirements and objectives of National Socialism are expounded by quotations from national leaders. Defiance of the Alien Registration Act and of the Selective Service Act is recorded, and the final dissolution of the Bund noted, even though it continues to live through cultural societies, and to be known to be far from dead. Many prominent leaders are shown to have been convicted.

Italians seeking citizenship were advised, in a program sponsored by the Office of War Information, that the law requires an extra period of at least ninety days to investigate applications before granting citizenship, and were reminded also that all aliens are required to notify the Alien Registration Division in Philadelphia whenever they change their address.

The participation of Italians in war bond purchases and war services are said to have won the friendship and confidence of the government.

According to the press, copies of Attorney General Biddle's Columbus Day speech, in which the Italian situation is covered, have been dropped over Italy, apparently being used as psychological propaganda in widening the breach between Hitler and Mussolini. It is expected to have a "tremendous effect."

That there will be no relaxation in surveillance is attested to by the recent arrest in New York City of a naturalized Italian charged with wartime sedition.

Alien Enemy Hearing Board

Of the 5,737 aliens of German, Italian, or Japanese nationality apprehended by the FBI as of July 25, 770 have been released, 2,060 paroled to the Immigration and Naturalization Service and 2,907 or approximately 52 per cent were ordered interned for the duration of the war.

Of this number 432 are Italians, 1,935 Germans, and 3,370 Japanese.

Certificates of Identification

Mr. Earl G. Harrison, recently appointed Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, reports, as of July 17, 1942, that 934,100 German, Italian, and Japanese aliens in the United States have received Certificates of Identification, in accordance with the President's proclamation of January 14 requiring all aliens of enemy nationality, fourteen years of age or over, to apply at post offices throughout the United States.

This registration was accomplished by Mr. Harrison during the month of February with the same efficiency that the entire alien registration and fingerprinting of 1940 had been accomplished. Constructive programs for meeting the problems revealed are following.

Of the "enemy aliens" given identification cards 23,096 are of doubtful nationality. Persons from conquered territory who are claimed as nationals of the Axis are being permitted to change their registration as facts are made clear.

Of those identified as nationals of the enemy 263,930 are Germans, 599,111 Italian and 47,963 Japanese aliens. In taking his new office Mr. Harrison says:

"The functions of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in war time are closely linked with the internal security of our nation. As Commissioner, I will do my job with fairness to all but with all the firmness necessary.

"In the first place, and most important of all, we cannot take chances. In the second place we cannot succumb to any historical distrust of the disloyal minority in any manner that would leave needless scars on the loyalty or faith of millions.

"Finally, we cannot afford, on the positive side to forget the vast potential contribution of the foreign-born citizen, either of today or tomorrow, not only to our economy but to our morale."

On July 17 the President proclaimed that a state of war exists, as of June 5, 1942, between the United States and Hungary, Rumania, and Bulgaria. He therefore directs that "all natives, citizens, denizens, or subjects of Hungary, Rumania, and Bulgaria are enjoined to preserve the peace towards the United States and to refrain from crime against the public safety, and from violating the laws of the United States and of the States and Territories thereof; and to refrain from actual hostility or giving information, aid, or comfort to the enemies of the United States or interfering by word or deed with the defense of the United States or the political processes and public opinions thereof; and to comply strictly with the regulations which may be from time to time promulgated by the President."

Penalty is provided and authority placed for the carrying out of this order wherever there is evidence of disloyalty. A distinction is made between these possibly innocent victims of the war and the nationals of the true aggressors. In this case their own conduct is the deciding factor.

Enemy Aliens

November-December, 1942

In issuing instructions for the new procedure relative to changing the registration of aliens of nationalities now under Axis domination, Commissioner Earl G. Harrison says that all applications for change will be carefully scrutinized, and investigated before changes are permitted on the original registration card. Those who are approved will be removed from the alien enemy category and will no longer be subject to travel and conduct restrictions.

Mr. Harrison particularly stresses:

"I wish to direct particular attention to the fact that this new procedure contemplates the removal of aliens from the category of alien enemies only on the basis of definite proof that the applicants were not in fact Germans, Italians or Japanese at the time of registering.

"It does not provide for the exemption of aliens from the alien enemy category merely on the grounds of loyalty or friendliness to the United States."

Conspiracy To Commit Sabotage

Proposed legislation is being drafted to provide severe penalties for conspiracy to commit sabotage and for harboring or assisting saboteurs. Wartime sabotage is punishable by a maximum sentence of thirty years and a $10,000 fine, one or both, but conspiracy to commit has but a two-year sentence or fine, or both.

Axis-Inspired "Neutral" News

The Committee for National Morale, 8 West 40th Street, New York City, of which Major George Fielding Eliot, the well-known commentator and columnist, is President, publishes a list of so-called "neutral" news sources which are suspected of Axis control. The appalling quantity of Axis-planted stories which reach this country from dubious neutral sources constitute about 40 per cent of our information on Axis activities, it is said.

The Committee warns that special bureaus are maintained by the German, Japanese and Italian high commands "for the sole purpose of planting false news and misleading intelligence abroad."

Among the newspapers and press agencies listed as owned, controlled, or influenced by Germany, Italy, and Japan are 6 papers in Argentina, 6 in Brazil, 2 in Chile, 7 in German-occupied Paris, 14 in Vichy France, 25 in Japanese occupied areas, 3 in Peru, 20 in Spain, 4 in Sweden, 4 in Turkey.

The Stockholm "Aftonbladet" is given particular mention as a so-called "neutral" publication, frequently quoted in the American press, which in reality checks as having a strong Anti-American, pro-Axis bias.

WAR RELIEF AGENCIES

Attention has frequently been called to the value of The Department of State Bulletin, government publication on Foreign Policy and State Department actions.

Among the many articles of general interest to be found in the August 1 number is one on the Coordination of Relief Activities.

The Report submitted on July 27 to the President by the Honorable Joseph E. Davies, Chairman of the President's Committee on War Relief Agencies gives a very clear picture of conditions as they have existed.

Active foreign relief agencies have been reduced in number from 700 in early 1941 to 300. Of these the organizations registered with the State Department collected $71,000,000 between December 7, 1941 and May, 1942, averaging administrative costs of about 10 per cent. Organizations not registered with the State Department collected $25,000,000 at a cost of 30 per cent or more. Domestic relief agencies have multiplied and duplicated each other's efforts.

The Report states that "the public is subject to solicitation from far too many agencies representing an excessive amount of duplication," and that leadership "is overly occupied and its effectiveness seriously diminished and dissipated."

The Secretary of State therefore suggests central supervision over both domestic and foreign relief agencies.

The War Relief Control Board

On July 24 the President signed an Executive order (9205) "Establishing the President's War Relief Control Board and Defining its Functions and Duties."

The provisions of the order are presented and paragraph seven states:

"For the purpose of effectively carrying out the provisions of this Order, the Board may require that all war relief and welfare policies plans, programs, procedures and methods of voluntary agencies be coordinated and integrated with those of the several Federal departments, establishments and agencies and the American Red Cross; and all these organizations shall furnish from time to time such information as the Board may consider necessary for such purposes."

On July 30, 1942, the President's War Relief Control Board prescribed certain regulations governing solicitation and collection of funds and contributions for war relief and welfare. The text is to be found in the Federal Register of August 1, 1942, page 5946.

The State Department has mimeographed a thirty-four page tabulation of relief contributions in belligerent countries and of monies contributed to relief of refugees driven out of these countries.—This Department of State Press Release of July 31, 1942 may be had upon request.

A BILL to control the entry into, and departure from, the United States became Public Law No. 114 on June 21, 1941; one amending the expatriation provision, introduced by Mr. Dickstein, Chairman of the U. S. House of Representatives Committee on Immigration and Naturalization is Public Law 272 since October 16, 1941

H. R. 6215 introduced by Mr. May, Chairman of the U. S. House of Representatives Military Affairs Committee, on December 15, 1941, was passed by the House, by the Senate, and signed by the President on December 17. This bill moved quickly, following Pearl Harbor, to extend the Selective Service Act so that "it shall be the duty of every male citizen of the United States, and of every other male person residing in the United States, who, on the day or days fixed for the first or any subsequent registration, is between the ages of eighteen and sixty-five, to present himself for and submit to registration. . . ."

"Provided, That any citizen or subject of a neutral country shall be relieved from liability for training and service under this Act if . . . but any person who makes such application shall thereafter be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States: Provided further, That no citizen or subject of any country who has been or who may hereafter be proclaimed by the President to be an alien enemy of the United States shall be inducted for training and service under this Act unless he is acceptable to the land or naval forces."

Section 9 provides that "the periods of service or training and service under section 3 (b) of such Act of men who are detained under this section shall be terminated not later than six months after the termination of the war which authorized their detention, unless such men voluntarily extend their periods of service or training and service."

American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born

The American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born seeks to stop the cancellation of citizenship obtained by fraud, and opposes such action as instituted recently by the Department of Justice.

The Committee claims that the act should be punished, but that the person who swore allegiance falsely, and for the purpose of undermining the very Government he swore to protect, should still be permitted to keep his citizenship, even though a member of the now well understood German-American Bund. This American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born is afraid of undermining the morale among the foreign born if for any reason their security in American Citizenship is in jeopardy. No consideration is given to the obligations of citizenship, which these people have taken upon themselves and of their own free will. Their falsely gained citizenship should be taken from them.

THE CHRISTIAN'S DUTY IN THIS WAR

There is a close connection between God and Country, for the highest form of patriotism is motivated by Piety. Piety is True Godliness, one of the Seven Gifts of the Holy Spirit received in Holy Confirmation. Godliness flows from the Gift of Holy Fear, or reverence of God; Godliness is Holy Fear in action.

Christian Love, or Charity, is not an emotion; it is action, it is good deeds done for God's sake.

So, we see, it is a Christian's duty to serve his Country for the love of God.

In times of peace we are apt to take our Country and its blessings for granted: we do not consciously do much about it, although we may, and generally do, show our love for it by paying our taxes, obeying its laws, and voting.

In times of war patriotism wells to the top of consciousness, and we rise to defend its principles, if they be God's principles.

But this war is bigger than the United States of America. It is bigger than the world. It is bigger than humanity. It is as big as the Kingdom of God. It is not being fought simply for the principles embedded in the wonderful Constitution of the United States of America. It is not being fought simply for the freedom of men as articulated by the President's Four Freedoms. It is not being fought simply for the restoration of Justice. It is not being fought simply that some sort of peace may be patched up between nations, so we can get on with our commerce and culture. Of course any and all these things are worth fighting for, and men should fight for them.

But this war is being fought because the Kingdom of God has been invaded. Not many people are conscious of that. Maybe not many people care. It may be that many on our own side are fighting only for earthly values. Nevertheless, if the forces of evil prevail Christ's Cross will be thrown down, and the consciousness of many more men will be closed to the Kingdom of God. This war is against God, and those whom we appose are the godless and heathen and those whose leaders have involved with the godless. Hitler did not make the godless, but the godless made Hitler.

Alas, those who fight with Hitler are not the only godless; for the prevailing philosophy of life right here in America has been increasingly godless, and our ideals and pursuits have consequently become almost wholly materialistic. We think in terms of things, not souls. We Americans, and many, many men of other of the United Nations, must win a fight against self before we shall be worthy of victory. It would be self-righteous and detrimental to blink that fact. We must purify and revitalize our souls. We must return to God and His standards.

The weapons we must use against self and our enemies must be spiritual weapons. Tanks, planes, gins, and battleships alone won't win the only peace worth having, the Peace of God.

We must use the weapon of Repentance against self: repentance for our godlessness, our materialism, our greediness, our craving for material security. We must become godly by definitely worshipping God and consciously working for God's sake. There is very little repentance in the land. We must use the weapon of Prayer against our enemies. That will conquer them. There is very little praying in the land. But if there were, God does not held the prayers of the godless. So we must begin with repentance of self.

So, the Christian's first duty in this war is to conquer self. Then he can serve our Country and our Cause as a true soldier of Christ. None of us have to wear a uniform to do that. We shall need a lot of prayer to end this war to the glory of God and the salvation of souls. You and I ought seriously to question ourselves as to how much repentance and prayer we are putting in. Have we even gotten started?—"World War Chaplain."

April 21 Great in History

BY JEFF D. RAY

One hundred and eight years and a worthy career as an Ameriago today there occurred the most can citizen. brilliant, significant and far-reaching event ever witnessed on Texas soil-the battle of San Jacinto. Here, under the leadership of Sam occurred on this notable Texas Houston, a handful of Texas Mexican army.

Let nobody accuse me of Texas brag if I state the simple historical fact that Texans are so conscious of the meaning of that event they have erected on the battleground the tallest monument on American soil, not excepting the Washington Monument. If anybody thinks I am extravagant in the use of adjectives in my first sentence, let him analyze the situation. When he discovers that a few poorly equipped Texans, untrained in military tactics, met and overcame a well-trained, well-equipped army of five times their number, led by Mexico's president, he will agree that my term "most brilliant" is not an extravaganza.

Republic Born. If he will consider that that day arked the birth of a nation-for April 21, 1836, was the real natal day of the Republic of Texas-he will agree that my term "most significant" is not out of place. If he will consider what Texas. whether as an independent republic or as one of the states of the Union, has meant in stabilizing and developing the great Southwest, to say nothing of its influence throughout the entire country and to the ends of the earth. he will admit that I am justified in saying that it is the "most farreaching event that ever occurred on Texas soil."

But the war with Mexico is or should be a thing 108 years past. It is no part of good citizenship to celebrate San Jacinto Day by gloating over our victory. It should be a day solemnly dedicated to the task of cultivating toward the Republic of Mexico, and toward individual Mexicans in Texas, the spirit of the good neighbor. Let us be done with all that "greaser" talk. Let us convince the Mexican that we regard him as a fellow citizen and are glad to give him opportunity and encouragement to make for himself a happy home

Birthday of Princess.

But I can not close this article without mentioning another event of far-reaching possibilities that day. On April 21, 1926, was born pioneers met and overcame the Princess Elizabeth, heir apparent to the British throne, If you don't think the birth of this girl, who at any moment might become queen of the British Empire, is a significant and far-reaching event, it shows that you have forgotten your history. Men of my age can remember when her great-grandmother so efficiently ruled that great empire. Some say Victoria was not a great queen, but that she was wise in the men she chose as co-laborers. Account for it as you may, everybody will admit that England never had a ruler whose reign contributed more to all that is best and noblest in Britain. Now this 18-year-old girl, if she lives, is destined sooner or later to take the place of that remarkable woman. I join my Texas fellow citizens in congratulating the young lady on her birthday. Personally I pray, and I am sure multitudes of Americans join me, that if in God's providence she comes to the British throne she may come to it with all that purity of life and unflinching devotion to righteousness that characterized her noble great-grandmother. Here's to you, Princess Elizabeth!

DAR Adds Three Projects To National War Program

BY PAULINE NAYLOR.

Expansion of their already ambitious war service program by three projects was announced last week by the national Daughters of the American Revolution.

A radio distribution system for will be loud speakers covering one of the largest Army hospitals and two portable X-ray systems for the Navy comprise the new projects, details of which were brought to Fort Worth's three DAR chapters by Mrs. Frederick B. Ingram, Dallas, state regent, who attended the national board meeting at which the projects were authorized.

The hospital radio system, indorsed as a "greatly needed therapy, not supplied by the government," by Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the U. S. Army, will be installed in the Mayo General Army Hospital, Galesburg, Ill. Construction already has been started on the $60.000 radio system, according to $60,000 radio system, according to announcement from Mrs. Julius Y. Talmadge, president general, from DAR headquarters in Washington, D. C. It will provide headphones for every patient in the 2,500-bed hospital. There will be a selection board for each head set, with choice of five stations by pressing buttons.

The headphones system will also be connected with the hospital's main speaker system. There also the entire hospital for general education and educational pur-poses, in addition to the individual selective radios.

Installations also have been ordered rushed on the two Navy projects, according to the report from the president-general. One will provide mobile X-ray units for six new hospital ships, two of which are to be completed this month. These X-ray units may be moved to any part of a ship, and are so constructed that they may be taken ashore. They also may be used in isolated places, on small Pacific islands, in jungles and on landing beaches, for exami-nations. Each unit will cost $15,-000, and the first two are reported ready to go into new Navy hospital ships due to put to sea before the end of February.

Still another type of X-ray unit will be provided for Navy hospital ships by the third DAR project. This is a smaller, portable unit, which can be taken to patients in hospital ships, so they need not suffer effects of being moved for examinations under adverse conditions.

"The portable X-rays cost $900

each, and each of the seven Navy hospital ships now in use will receive one, as will each of the six new hospital ships, now built, or building.

Mrs. Talmadge's announcement of the project concluded:

"The three new projects will provide equipment which is needed badly, and for which the government has made no provision. The surgeons general of the Army and Navy told us of the need and we are glad to be able to help. The DAR raised more than $350, 000 for the mobile units, donated to the Red Cross blood plasma service, and we will continue to contribute to projects which will help soldiers and sailors wounded and sick and in need of care during their convolucement ing their convalescence.

"Every member will be asked to do her part!"
Mrs. Ingram who presented the president-general's message locally, visted the Mary Isham Keith and Constitution Week, in honor of the men who laid the foundations of American government, will be observed in Fort Worth from Sept. 12 to 16, according to a proclamation by Mayor I. N. McCrary.

"In this critical hour of the Nation's existence, at a time when we are in the midst of the bloodiest conflict since the dawn of the republic, and when we are facing a crisis of surpassing importance," Mayor McCrary says, "it is entirely fitting that we should pause and pay tribute to the valor, genius and foresight of the great Americans who gave us constitutional government and the blessings of liberty."

The suggestion has been made that all citizens of Fort Worth reread the Constitution, which takes

THIS is the day for your lesson on the U. S. Constitution. A lady from the Daughters of the American Revolution, Miss Phie C. Bostick of the Mary Isham Keith DAR chapter, came in with a proclamation by Mayor McCrary proclaiming Constitution Week, starting next Sunday. The three local DAR groups including the Six Worth chapters, DAR groups including the Six Flags and Fort Worth chapters, always see that the citizenship is reminded of the sacred document about this time of year.

The Constitution

The Constitution really is a sacred document, and every citizen ought to get a copy of it now and then and go off in a quiet corner and read and think about it. As the Mayor said in his proclamation: "It is fitting that we pause and pay tribute to the valor, genius and foresight of the great Americans who gave us constitutional government and the blessings of liberty."

THE makers of the Constitution were attacking a mighty big and serious problem when they assembled in Philadelphia in 1787. Congress had set May 14 as the date, and Independence Hall as the place for the job.

There were 55 delegates. Eight of them had signed the Declaration of Independence. One of them, John Dickinson of Delaware, had refused to sign the Declaration, but his patriotism in the dark days of the Revolution had atoned for that, but his patriotism in the dark days of the Revolution had atoned for that.

There was snow-haired Ben Franklin, ripe in wisdom and honored by many learned societies of Europe. Alexander Hamilton of New York, and Gouverneur Morris of Pennsylvania, also Governor Edmund Randolph and James Madison of Virginia and the brilliant Charles Pinckney of South Carolina, were there. George Washington had been persuaded to come and was escorted into Philadelphia by the city's Light Horse Troop while the church bells rang.

The weather was bad and the roads were worse, so it was May 25 before a quorum was assembled. Washington was unanimously elected President of the convention. The group decided to write an entirely new constitution instead of trying to make over the old Articles of Confederation.

There was bickering and argument, and friction between the men from the big states and those from the small ones.

Madison framed a "Virginia plan," and small state men came back with a "New Jersey plan."

The convention deadlocked time after time, and many members threatened to go home. Hamilton believed the people were "tired of an excess of democracy." He wanted state governors to be appointed by the central government.

On June 28, the venerable Ben Franklin moved that "we have prayers every morning."

On March 3, 1789, the guns of the New York Battery boomed a parting salute to the old Confederacy and ushered in the new Union. On April 30, George Washington was escorted through the cheering citizens to Union. On April 30, George Washington was escorted through throngs of cheering citizens to Federal Hall at Broad and Wall streets in New York, and was inaugurated the first President of the United States.
