Letter from the Sheriff

The Tarrant County Sheriff's Office has had a wonderful year and that's all been in part to the chiefs, captains, lieutenants, sergeants, corporals, detention officers, deputies and civilians that make up our agency. They have put in the hard work that it takes to keep an office of our size going and allowed us to follow our mission: protecting and serving the people of Tarrant County. I'm personally looking forward to 2019 and ready to take the new year on and knock out our goals. Some of which include a new initiative in our Criminal Investigations Division that will focus on child abuse cases and getting our team members more training opportunities. I look forward to sharing our progress towards these goals with everyone as we move through 2019. God bless during this season of good tidings and may Santa be kind to you!

Always at your service,
Sheriff Bill E. Waybourn

Never Forgotten

Thank you for your service, Deputy Rosenbalm.

December 4th, marked the 35th anniversary of Deputy Clark M. Rosenbalm's death in the line of duty. On the night of December 4th, 1983, Rosenbalm stopped to investigate two cars that were on the side of Old Decatur Road. He interrupted what turned out to be a drug deal. His sacrifice has never been forgotten.

"Clark Rosenbalm was a man of peace and dignity. He believed in people, the code of Deputy Sheriff, and most of all the protection of the people."
— Quote from Rosenbalm's eulogy

Focusing on Child Abuse Investigations

TCSO's Criminal Investigations Division has a new initiative focusing on child abuse cases in Tarrant County. Two detectives are now allocated to focus full-time on child abuse investigations. Detective M. Weber, our newest addition to the unit, has a background investigating medical child abuse, Munchausen by Proxy.

Chaplain's Volunteers

On December 11th, our Chaplain's Office hosted a dinner that celebrated all of their volunteers. These volunteers spend hours of their own time working in our jail facilities directly with the inmates.

Cowboy Christmas

TCSO stopped by the Novacek's Cowboy Christmas. Jay Novacek, a former Dallas Cowboy, hosts a Christmas celebration with at-risk youth from Hope Farms every December.

A Christmas Carol

If you hear a Christmas carol or two while you're walking around downtown Fort Worth this season, don't be alarmed. Our Inmate Services & Chaplain's Office works with inmates to perform carols during this time of year!
