the 8th day of August 1909. has violated the provisions of Chapter xxxviii of General Laws of Texas. page 258 et seq. Regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors,

---

No. 37827

State of Texas. In the County Court of Tarrant County, Texas,

Vs

Frank Papscar. September 23nd.,1909.

Application of W. C. Smith to have ~~a~~ license of Frank Papscar revoked on account of sale during August 1909 of intoxicating liquor to Robert Smith, a minor.

I find from the evidence that Frank Papascar,holding a license as a retail liquor dedler did sell,as alleged,to Robert Smith,who was a minor . I further find said Robert Smith has the appearance of a man over the age of 21 years;that there was good ground for belief on the part of Papscar that the said minor was of age,and that the sale was made in good faith.

It is claimed by applicant that the license should be revoked ~~on~~ merely because ~~the person~~ Robert Smith is in fact under the age of 21 years,tho he appeared to be an adult and the sale was made in good faith.,and defendant Papscar acted as a man of ordinary prudence would have acted under similar circumstances.

In the provisions of a liquor dealers bond referreing to sale to minors, the word"knowingly"is not used;but I find that throughout the new liquor law, known as the Fitzhugh-Robertson Bill,whenever the matter of selling to minors is referred to the word "knowingly" is uniformly ~~used~~. In Section 8 of the law, it is provided that when a person des reg to engage in the liquor business,he must first make an application for a permit to the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State, in which under oath he states that "he has not since May 1 1909 knowingly sold to a minor,and that "if granted the permit,he will not knowingly sell to a minor" Should he violate any of the provisions of this affidavit,his license can be revoked by the Comptroller or the County Judge. Section 15 of the law provides that "where the sale is made in good faith and with the belief that the minor is of age,and there is good grounds for such belief,this shall be a valid defense to any recovery on such bond.,and the provisions of this act shall apply to any suit by the State or any indivisual". It is admitted that a conviction in a criminal case where the liquor dealer is charged with selling to a minor could not be sustained,if the sale were made in good faith withe belief that the minor were of age, and good ground existed for such belief.

It would in my opinion be a strained and unwarranted construction of the lawto revoke a liquor dealers license for doing an act for which there would be no liability upon his bond,~~either by the~~ in a suit either by the State or any person aggreived;an act for which he could not be prosecuted criminally;and an act for which the Comptroller of Public Accounts admittedly could not revoke his license. Holding therefore that if a sale to a minor be made in good faith ,with the belief that the minor is of age,and there is good ground for such belief,there can be no forfeiture of the license,the application is this case is ~~refused~~. denied.
